Political Figures Face Counts After Action By Grand Jury

ALEXANDRIA, La., June 8.—(AP)—The rampant Rapides parish grand jury, which last fall bucked the district attorney to return indictments against 25 political figures, today indicted 34 persons including the mayor of Alexandria, sheriff and the entire former police jury.

Ninety-four true bills were brought in, on charges ranging from selling whisky on election day to embezzlement, bribery, perjury, extortion, illegal expenditure of public funds, attempting to evade income taxes and offering to buy votes.

The jury, in its statement to the district court, said the list of indictments today was only a partial report of its work done, while the 66 true bills returned against the 25 indicted December 1, today's batch brings the total to 170 in eight month's investigation into Louisiana political affairs.

Dr. S. J. Phillips, former head of the Central Louisiana hospital in Pineville, and eight members of the hospital board of administrators were indicted on embezzlement charges. The administrators named were John M. Sowers, C. H. Richard, Mrs. Mamie Hyams, Dr. Z. J. Franchez, Ben F. Eubanks, C. A. Riddle, Mrs. John C. Blackman and Roy Jones.

Many of those indicted today, including Dr. Phillips, Mayor V. V. Lamkin and Sheriff U. T. Downs, were named in the true bills December 1,

ASSEMBLY HEADS FOR BUSY PERIOD

Legislature Faces Task Of Adopting Appropriation Measure

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—(AP)—The legislature goes to work Monday setting the amounts each government department must spend under the new mandate of economy.

Moreover, if it follows Governor Sam H. Jones' instructions to develop speed, it must push that hitherto untouched job well toward completion within the week.

The governor set Thursday for delivery of his program to the floor of both houses, ready for incorporation into the law of the state. That means the legislative assembly line has four days at most in which to carry his proposals through the piecework of committee meetings and the testing processes of public hearings.

The appropriations for government departments will be based on the present machinery and probably will have to be revised if proposed consolidation and simplification of departments is carried out, it was learned authoritatively.

Legislative advisors to the governor said today a complete set of appropriations was being prepared by the bureau of government research, one of the expert bodies called in by Governor Jones to help his reorganization.

The governor said Saturday night

SPECTACULAR FIGHT OVER ENGLISH TOWN

A SOUTHEAST ENGLISH TOWN, June 8.—(AP)—A lone German raiding plane and a British ground crew engaged in a spectacular duel in the glare of searchlights late tonight while thousands of townspeople looked on. The plane escaped seaward.

Searchlights picked out the Nazi craft which roared in at an altitude of only 500 feet. Then the ground defenses blazed away.

Machine gun bullets spurted skyward. The German answered with a stream of tracer bullets directed at the searchlights.

Anti-aircraft guns joined the defense with numerous bursts, and the plane skimmed away toward the French coast, firing its machine guns at a height of 100 feet. No casualties were reported.

A second plane dropped red parachute flares at sea.

Okay Defense Tax Bill Increasing Firm Levy, Lowering Income Lists

House Ways And Means Committee Acts Favorably On Huge Measure

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee approved today a $1,006,000,000 defense tax bill, boosting individual, corporation and excise taxes and increasing the number of small income taxpayers by more than 2,000,000.

At the same time, the committee ordered studies with a view to legislation at the next session of congress imposing an excess profits tax to prevent "new war millionaires" and also to provide special amortization for national defense industries.

Reports circulated in informed quarters at the capitol today that an additional $1,000,000,000 appropriation for the army would be asked if the Germans should break through to Paris before adjournment of congress.

Representative Snyder, Democrat, Pennsylvania, the chairman of the house military appropriations subcommittee, said he thought an additional appropriation would be advisable if the French army should collapse.

Snyder said that on the basis of Hitler's past performances in Poland, Norway, Holland and Belgium, it was felt that if he conquers France, the next objective would be England.

"Then the next step would be toward Brazil," Snyder said.

"Therefore, if we are thinking in terms of western hemisphere defense, we will have to have an additional $1,000,000,000 as soon as it appears the drive toward Paris might succeed."

President Roosevelt already has requested approximately $4,600,000,000 in defense outlays at this session. At the White House, it was emphasized that no request for additional funds was in prospect at present.

Stephen Early, press secretary, said in a statement that "the president will not at this time ask the congress for additional funds in any amount for the furtherance of the national defense program."

Defense preparations proceeded apace during the day. Developments included:

1. Approximately 100 heavily-armed attack planes, especially designed to harass enemy troops from low altitudes, were earmarked by the war department for possible fighting in France, under the administration's "trade-in" arrangement for army and navy planes.

The craft are Northrop single-motor attack planes, which the army air corps relegated to non-combatant utility roles last year primarily because of their limited range of action. They will be turned back to the manufacturer who, in turn, will be free to sell them to the allies.

2. Plans for extending federal loans to industry for plant expansion under the national defense program were discussed by President Roosevelt and Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator.

After the White House conference Jones said that many inquiries and requests for loans had been received, but none had actually been granted so far. All applications are being routed through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

3. The federal communications commission called attention of ship operators to the fact that the communications act forbids "superfluous, unnecessary or unidentified communications" between ship radio stations and other ships or shore stations. It said any violations would be "vigorously prosecuted." The commission already had forbidden amateur radio operators to communicate with foreign countries, and had prohibited amateur use of mobile transmitters capable of sending long distances.

4. In a statement, General John J. Pershing, who commanded American forces in the World war, urged that the United States send the allies unlimited quantities of airplanes and arms. He also appealed for contributions to the Red Cross.

MONROE C. OF C. BACKS SALES TAX AS AID TO STATE

Better Than Other Proposed Legislation, Chamber Points Out

The Monroe Chamber of Commerce board of directors Friday adopted a resolution petitioning Governor Sam H. Jones and legislative members to continue the sales tax in lieu of present proposed tax measures designed to produce revenue which will be lost to the state under the proposed repeal of the sales levy, it was announced yesterday.

C. C. Boardman, president of the Chamber of Commerce, added that the chambers of Monroe and of West Monroe earnestly request all citizens who believe in the principles of the sales tax to communicate at once their sentiments to their representatives and senators in the legislature and especially to Governor Jones.

Supplementary resolutions were made to the effect that an effort will be made to mobilize sentiment over the state in favor of this program, it was announced.

It was brought out at the meeting that voters of Louisiana expressed a four to one majority against repeal of the sales tax in a recent statewide election. While this vote might be interpreted as a vote against the former state administration it cannot be denied that it was an expression of sentiment in favor of this tax, it was pointed out.

One of the taxes proposed is the

N. O. DOCK BOARD RULES TO CHANGE

Governor Jones Announces Plan To Take It 'Out Of Politics'

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—(AP)—Governor Sam H. Jones today announced a plan to "take the New Orleans dock board out of politics" by making it self-perpetuating instead of appointive by the governor.

After a conference with members of a committee he chose to investigate the agency he said legislation would be proposed to limit service of board members to one term and provide that each vacancy would be filled by vote of the remaining members. Terms would overlap.

The governor disclosed also that a subcommittee of the investigating group at the conference today recommended that he fill as soon as possible vacancies in the present board.

He announced no immediate action, however, except that a series of public hearings will be held on problems relating to the port.

There are no vacancies on the board, but the appointments of four present members have not been confirmed by the senate. They could be replaced at any time by the governor and their terms would end automatically in any case at the end of the present session.

They are William H. Hickerson, Jr., I. B. Rennyson, B. C. Brown and L. J. Vaccaro, all appointed to their present terms by former Governor Earl K. Long.

WARNING IS GIVEN ITALY WILL BOMB ENGLAND'S CITIES

Paper Tells What Will Happen If Fascists Enter Into War

EDITOR CLOSE TO DUCE, EDITORIAL MOUTHPIECE

Nation Will Retaliate Five For One, Gayda's Sheet Says

(By Associated Press)

ROME, June 8.—A pointed warning that five English cities would be bombed for every Italian city attacked by allied bombers in the event Italy enters the war was published today by the Rome newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia just which foreign observers were expressing belief Italy would enter the conflict next week.

Il Giornale d'Italia's editor is virginio Gayda, long recognized as Premier Mussolini's editorial mouthpiece.

Reports have circulated here that the British and French plan to bombard Italian centers if this nation entered the war against them.

To these reports, the authoritative newspaper said:

"For every Italian city bombed five English cities would suffer the same treatment."

Bombardment of Rome would be the signal for "similar but greater bombardment of London," the newspaper added.

However, Rome was considered here to be fairly safe from attack, with the Italians prepared to make it an open city by removing government offices, troops and aircraft.

Some observers heard that an Italian attack on their first secret objective would come in the early hours next Monday but a source considered reliable indicated it probably would be later, possibly Thursday or Friday night.

Although only Mussolini and possibly his axis partner, Adolf Hitler, are supposed to know the date of the expected entry into the war, confidence that Italy has closed her last week as a non-belligerent nation in this war was based on impressions in Italian circles as well as war preparations which appear to be complete.

The imminence of an Italian move was indicated further by foreign reports that Italian ships are being kept in neutral ports.

Government - controlled newspapers substantiated the reports by publishing them.

A competent source said Italian ships would fail to make their sailings from Italian ports as scheduled during the coming week.

Italian air service to South America was placed on a basis of one round trip each month instead of each week, presumably as a war precaution. Departures are to be secret.

Italians took great notice of what newspapers described as "the growing agitation for American intervention" in the war. But Fascists in government circles as well as newspapers continued to scout the idea that the United States would be able to give Britain and France effective aid in time.

Il Giornale d'Italia sought to explain the declaration of its editor that United States entry into the war would give European powers the right to intervene in American affairs.

The newspaper declared the article was not a "provocation or threat" toward the United States, explaining it meant to say that American intervention in Europe would "create a precedent which would justify the turning of European powers against America either at the present or in possible future conflicts."

In the midst of the war talk, Vatican authorities said Vatican City would be closed to the public as a precaution

France Teaches Technique Of Defense

By Kirke L. Simpson
(For the Associated Press)

France is doing more than fight a desperate battle for her own life and the allied cause. Hour by hour, she is teaching the world new precepts of defensive war that could shape destiny even more profoundly than the "blitzkrieg" battle technique of her German foe.

That French stand, whether it saves France or not, has already riveted the attention of arming America. In contrast to the fundamental German conception of blasting efficiency in attack, France, in her extremity, has fashioned a defensive technique that has wrung words of admiration even from her foe.

In the eyes of American military experts, the battle of the Weygand line must necessarily outweigh in significance all that preceded it in Poland, in Denmark, in the low countries and in northwestern France as the Nazi war machine rolled swiftly on its triumphant way.

Whatever the weapons of sea, land or air on which America relies, they will be for defense, not for attack. That is a definitely limiting factor. It is one thing, as the war in Europe has grimly proved time and again, to map and implement a strategy of attack and achieve the vitally essential element of surprise. It is quite another to concede the initiative in advance to a foe, and await attack.

Yet that is the heavy responsibility imposed upon American national defense planners, with the whole western hemisphere to guard. It springs from a fundamental national philosophy which no administration in Washington would dare ignore.

Any American president who moved to attack another nation, even if he acted under the convictoin that an attack was immediately impending by that nation upon the United States or upon some Pan-American neighbor, would certainly risk impeachment. The war making power is specifically reserved to congress. The president may use his authority as commander-in-chief only to repel attack, not to attack.

That removes for America the possibility of resort to undeclared war to create opportunity for surprise attack. It also circumscribes the making of national defense policy, and imposes limitations on the organization, training and disposition of the army, navy and air force.

American rearmament is keyed necessarily to lessons already revealed in the European conflict. German blitzkrieg technique has accented tremendously the vital importance of a huge expansion of air power and the industry to produce and maintain it. Success of Nazi "panzer" armored le-

Losses Heavy As They Push French Back On Whole Front

ALLIED NAVAL BOMBERS STRIKE AT BERLIN FACTORIES

Berlin suffered its first explosive bombardment of the war Friday night when allied naval bombers attacked factories in the suburbs, the French ministry of marine announced yesterday. Germans denied it. Here is the heart of the German capital over which many scouting allied planes have flown since the beginning of the conflict, but until Friday they dropped only leaflets containing propoganda.

The French said the withdrawal was from the Aumale-Noyon line. On the east flank Nazi soldiers established a small bridgehead on the Aisne river in the Soissons sector and there, the French counter attacked incessantly.

In the fourth night of the great offensive the battle flamed again from

Manufacturing Booms In Expansion Over War

Making Of Peaceful Gadgets Turned Into Fighting Machines

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 8.—Shifting from the manufacture of peaceful gadgets to fighting machines, America's industry has embarked on large-scale plant expansion and adaptation of factories to war needs, a nation-wide survey showed today.

Projects under construction and in prospect to handle home defense and increased allied purchases will result in expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars for materials, workers and machines, the survey indicated.

Prodded by allied buying, actual war industry expansion has been most spectacular in airplane and motor manufacturing. Some plants have tripled capacity in the past year or so. Others are pushing new expansion, either started or on the drafting boards.

Gathering momentum to the cadence of the Nazi blitzkrieg in the low countries and France, war orders are spilling into munitions, textiles, tanks, automotive equipment, guns, explosives, chemicals and have forced a start on the greatest war plant expansion in the United States since 1914-18.

Considering the administration's $5,000,000,000 defense program and the race to lend material aid to the allies, financial circles regard the current expansion as merely in the opening stage.

Waldo G. Bowman, editor of the "Engineering News-Record," estimated Washington's defense plans alone would call for construction outlay of about $500,000,000, including air bases.

Much more may be spent, he said, for industrial plants, either with private capital or government loans. Investment bankers insist there is plenty of private capital available for fac-

LOUISIANA LEGION FAVORS FDR PLAN

Urges Passage Of Universal Draft For Industry And Manpower

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—(AP)—Louisiana department American Legion delegates endorsed President Roosevelt's national defense program, urged passage of a universal draft for industry as well as for manpower in event of war and advocated fullest cooperation with the federal bureau of investigation to combat sabotage and espionage within the United States at today's session.

The legionnaires, attending their 22nd annual state convention, topped second-day activities with a downtown parade, and a banquet and dance, after passing 15 resolutions concerning national defense.

Governor Sam Jones was scheduled to arrive by private plane at 11 a.m. Sunday to greet the closing-day meeting after which he was to depart for Atlanta, Ga., to attend a conference of governors on national defense, according to Roland Cocreham, his secretary.

The resolution approving President Roosevelt's defense program, declared "adequate preparedness does not only command respect from other nations but bids for peace and non-aggression on their part and at the same time would prove of inestimable ad-

BERLIN BOMBED BY ALLIED SHIPS

Factories In Suburbs Object Of Attack By Naval Seaplanes

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—Berlin, repeatedly scouted by allied planes and showered with propaganda leaflets since the start of the war, suffered its first bombardment last night when a squadron of naval bombers attacked factories in the suburbs, the French ministry of marine announced today.

(A German spokesman said there was "absolutely no truth" in the announcement adding, "we have been out with spyglasses all day looking for damage. There have been no air raid alarms in Berlin and no rumors of such bombings.")

The brief French communique said: "A squadron of navy aviation bombarded on the night of June 7 certain factories in the outskirts of Berlin. All planes returned to their bases."

A spokesman for the French ministry of marine said no additional details could be given but that he not "think" the bombers were American-made.

It is known that some American-made dive bombers have been transferred from the French fleet to land duties, however.

French reprisal raids already have been made on Frankfort and Munich since the German bombing which caused almost 1,000 casualties in Paris last Monday.

The French today also denied officially German reports that the French channel ports of Cherbourg and Le Havre have been "destroyed" by Nazi bombers. Actually, only a few bombs were dropped on those cities, the French said.

LAKE CHARLES SLAYER IS SENTENCED TO HANG

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 8.—(AP)—Finnon Burks, convicted of the St. Valentine's Day "hitchhike" slaying of Joseph Calloway in a rice field near here, was sentenced today to be hanged. Judge Mark C. Pickrel passed sentence after denying a plea for a new trial.

Burk's alleged companion, Mrs. Toni Jo Henry, was sentenced to be hanged for complicity in the slaying of the Houston, Tex., salesman after a separate trial. Before sentence today Burks told the court that he had not killed Calloway. "She confessed she killed him," he said.

WAR AT A GLANCE

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Under assault by million Nazis and 3000 tanks French withdraw on 60-mile line from Aumale on west to Noyon at center of battlefront after inflicting tremendous losses; battle rages on 110-mile shortened front; on west Nazi tanks plunge to Forges-les-Eaux in 20-mile push. French admiralty says Berlin factories bombed.

BERLIN—High command communique, devoid of details, says Nazi army pushing on to Paris on schedule; spokesman denies Berlin bombed.

ROME—Observers say Italy will enter war either next Monday or by following Friday, attacking secret objective; Italian war preparations complete; Gayda says five English cities will be bombed for each Italian city attacked.

LONDON—Carinthia, largest merchant ship victim of war, sunk by U-boat torpedo; British fliers back French with bombing raids.

BUCHAREST—Five classes of reservists called to arms, adding 100,000 to nearly 2,000,000 Rumanians under arms.

BERN—Swiss fliers shoot down Messerschmitt, force Nazi bomber to land; two Swiss pilots killed in plane shot down by German fliers.

WASHINGTON—Reports circulated that Roosevelt will ask another billion for defense if Germans break through to Paris.

INDICT SHREVEPORTER FOR SLAYING PARTNER

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—(AP)—Willie Dromgoole, 45, today was indicted by the Caddo parish grand jury for murder in connection with the shotgun slaying of Frank Rudeseal, his partner.

The indictment charged Dromgoole with shooting Rudeseal, an oil drilling contractor at Dromgoole's home on the Dixie road 10 miles north of Shreveport last April 7.

Nation Will Retaliate Five For One, Gayda's Sheet Says

(By Associated Press)

ROME, June 8.—A pointed warning that five English cities would be bombed for every Italian city attacked by allied bombers in the event Italy enters the war was published today by the Rome newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia just which foreign observers were expressing belief Italy would enter the conflict next week.

Il Giornale d'Italia's editor is virginio Gayda, long recognized as Premier Mussolini's editorial mouthpiece.

Reports have circulated here that the British and French plan to bombard Italian centers if this nation entered the war against them.

To these reports, the authoritative newspaper said:

"For every Italian city bombed five English cities would suffer the same treatment."

Bombardment of Rome would be the signal for "similar but greater bombardment of London," the newspaper added.

However, Rome was considered here to be fairly safe from attack, with the Italians prepared to make it an open city by removing government offices, troops and aircraft.

Some observers heard that an Italian attack on their first secret objective would come in the early hours next Monday but a source considered reliable indicated it probably would be later, possibly Thursday or Friday night.

Although only Mussolini and possibly his axis partner, Adolf Hitler, are supposed to know the date of the expected entry into the war, confidence that Italy has closed her last week as a non-belligerent nation in this war was based on impressions in Italian circles as well as war preparations which appear to be complete.

The imminence of an Italian move was indicated further by foreign reports that Italian ships are being kept in neutral ports.

Government-controlled newspapers substantiated the reports by publishing them.

A competent source said Italian ships would fail to make their sailings from Italian ports as scheduled during the coming week.

Italian air service to South America was placed on a basis of one round trip each month instead of each week, presumably as a war precaution. Departures are to be secret.

Italians took great notice of what newspapers described as "the growing agitation for American intervention" in the war. But Fascists in government circles as well as newspapers continued to scout the idea that the United States would be able to give Britain and France effective aid in time.

Il Giornale d'Italia sought to explain the declaration of its editor that United States entry into the war would give European powers the right to intervene in American affairs.

The newspaper declared the article was not a "provocation or threat" toward the United States, explaining it meant to say that American intervention in Europe would "create a precedent which would justify the turning of European powers against America either at the present or in possible future conflicts."

In the midst of the war talk, Vatican authorities said Vatican City would be closed to the public as a precaution

France Teaches Technique Of Defense

(For the Associated Press)

France is doing more than fight a desperate battle for her own life and the allied cause. Hour by hour, she is teaching the world new precepts of defensive war that could shape destiny even more profoundly than the "blitzkrieg" battle technique of her German foe.

That French stand, whether it saves France or not, has already riveted the attention of arming America. In contrast to the fundamental German conception of blaeting efficiency in attack, France, in her extremity, has fashioned a defensive technique that has wrung words of admiration even from her foe.

In the eyes of American military experts, the battle of the Weygand line must necessarily outweigh in significance all that preceded it in Poland, in Denmark, in the low countries and in northwestern France as the Nazi war machine rolled swiftly on its triumphant way.

Whatever the weapons of sea, land or air on which America relies, they will be for defense, not for attack. That is a definitely limiting factor. It is one thing, as the war in Europe has grimly proved time and again, to map and implement a strategy of attack and achieve the vitally essential element of surprise. It is quite another to concede the initiative in advance to a foe, and await attack.

Yet that is the heavy responsibility imposed upon American national defense planners, with the whole western hemisphere to guard. It springs from a fundamental national philosophy which no administration in Washington would dare ignore.

Any American president who moved to attack another nation, even if he acted under the convictoin that an attack was immediately impending by that nation upon the United States or upon some Pan-American neighbor, would certainly risk impeachment. The war making power is specifically reserved to congress. The president may use his authority as commander-in-chief only to repel attack, not to attack.

That removes for America the possibility of resort to undeclared war to create opportunity for surprise attack. It also circumscribes the making of national defense policy, and imposes limitations on the organization, training and disposition of the army, navy and air force.

American rearmament is keyed necessarily to lessons already revealed in the European conflict. German blitzkrieg technique has accented tremendously the vital importance of a huge expansion of air power and the industry to produce and maintain it. Success of Nazi "panzer" armored le-

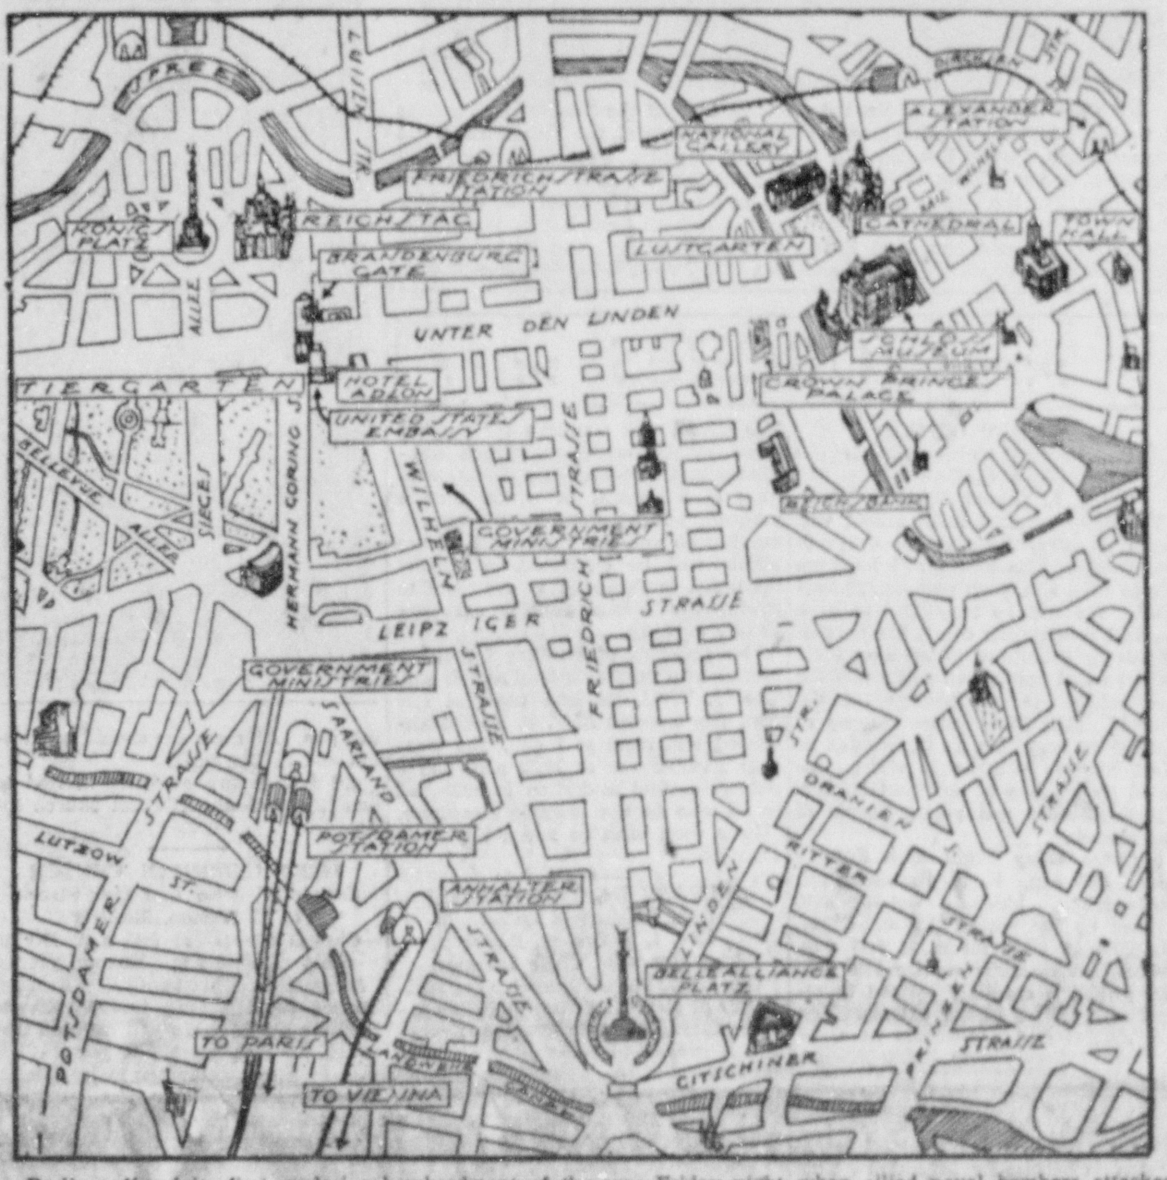
Losses Heavy As They Push French Back On Whole Front

ALLIED NAVAL BOMBERS STRIKE AT BERLIN FACTORIES



Berlin suffered its first explosive bombardment of the war Friday night when allied naval bombers attacked factories in the suburbs, the French ministry of marine announced yesterday. Germans denied it. Here is the heart of the German capital over which many scouting allied planes have flown since the beginning of the conflict, but until Friday they dropped only leaflets containing propoganda.

Manufacturing Booms In Expansion Over War

Making Of Peaceful Gadgets Turned Into Fighting Machines

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 8.—Shifting from the manufacture of peaceful gadgets to fighting machines, America's industry has embarked on large-scale plant expansion and adaptation of factories to war needs, a nation-wide survey showed today.

Projects under construction and in prospect to handle home defense and increased allied purchases will result in expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars for materials, workers and machines, the survey indicated.

Prodded by allied buying, actual war industry expansion has been most spectacular in airplane and motor manufacturing. Some plants have tripled capacity in the past year or so. Others are pushing new expansion, either started or on the drafting boards.

Gathering momentum to the cadence of the Nazi blitzkrieg in the low countries and France, war orders are spilling into munitions, textiles, tanks, automotive equipment, guns, explosives, chemicals and have forced a start on the greatest war plant expansion in the United States since 1914-18.

Considering the administration's $5,000,000,000 defense program and the race to lend material aid to the allies, financial circles regard the current expansion as merely in the opening stage.

Waldo G. Bowman, editor of the "Engineering News-Record," estimated Washington's defense plans alone would call for construction outlay of about $500,000,000, including air bases.

Much more may be spent, he said, for industrial plants, either with private capital or government loans. Investment bankers insist there is plenty of private capital available for fac-

LAKE CHARLES SLAYER IS SENTENCED TO HANG

LAKE CHARLES, La., June 8.—(AP)—Finnon Burks, convicted of the St. Valentine's Day "hitchhike" slaying of Joseph Calloway in a rice field near here, was sentenced today to be hanged. Judge Mark C. Pickrel passed sentence after denying a plea for a new trial.

Burk's alleged companion, Mrs. Toni Jo Henry, was sentenced to be hanged for complicity in the slaying of the Houston, Tex., salesman after a separate trial. Before sentence today Burks told the court that he had not killed Calloway. "She confessed she killed him," he said.

LOUISIANA LEGION FAVORS FDR PLAN

Urges Passage Of Universal Draft For Industry And Manpower

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—(AP)—Louisiana department American Legion delegates endorsed President Roosevelt's national defense program, urged passage of a universal draft for industry as well as for manpower in event of war and advocated fullest cooperation with the federal bureau of investigation to combat sabotage and espionage within the United States at today's session.

The legionnaires, attending their 22nd annual state convention, topped second-day activities with a downtown parade, and a banquet and dance, after passing 15 resolutions concerning national defense.

Governor Sam Jones was scheduled to arrive by private plane at 11 a.m. Sunday to greet the closing-day meeting after which he was to depart for Atlanta, Ga., to attend a conference of governors on national defense, according to Roland Cocreham, his secretary.

The resolution approving President Roosevelt's defense program, declared "adequate preparedness does not only command respect from other nations but bids for peace and non-aggression on their part and at the same time would prove of inestimable ad-

WAR AT A GLANCE

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Under assault by million Nazis and 3,000 tanks French withdraw on 60-mile line from Aumale on west to Noyon at center of battlefront after inflicting tremendous losses; battle rages on 110-mile shortened front; on west Nazi tanks plunge to Forges-les-Eaux in 20-mile push; French admiralty says Berlin factories bombed.

BERLIN—High command communique, devoid of details, says Nazi army pushing on to Paris on schedule; spokesman denies Berlin bombed.

ROME—Observers say Italy will enter war either next Monday or by following Friday, attacking secret objective; Italian war preparations complete; Gayda says five English cities will be bombed for each Italian city attacked.

LONDON—Carinthia, largest merchant ship victim of war, sunk by U-boat torpedo; British fliers back French with bombing raids.

BUCHAREST—Five classes of reservists called to arms, adding 100,000 to nearly 2,000,000 Rumanians under arms.

BERN—Swiss fliers shoot down Messerschmitt, force Nazi bomber to land; two Swiss pilots killed in plane shot down by German fliers.

WASHINGTON—Reports circulated that Roosevelt will ask another billion for defense if Germans break through to Paris.

Massive Nazi Offensive Contains 1,000,000 Men, 3,500 Tanks

OUTNUMBERED POILUS RETIRE AS MANEUVER

Fighting Re-echoes All Up And Down Entire 110-Mile Front

(By Associated Press)

The most massive German offensive of the war and perhaps the greatest of all history, employing 1,000,000 charging infantrymen and 3,500 tanks, pushed the fighting defenders of France back along a 60-mile front Saturday night and reached at one spot to within 48 miles of Paris.

The great death-dealing squadrons of tanks, though suffering stupendous losses, pointed the way for the gray-green wave of German infantry, so densely packed that each man laid a steady hand on the shoulder of the next ahead.

Outnumbered, the French made what was officially described as a "retirement maneuver," pitting all their fire-power against the Nazis and wreaking terrible destruction upon it while backing into supporting points in the deep-spread Weygand line.

A French military spokesman said the main line still held and the enemy losses were "enormous," but still the 60 divisions of German infantry and seven armored divisions thrust in.

Fighting re-echoed all up and down a 110-mile front from the sea to the Aisne, reaching a peak of unleashed fury in the center, where an estimated 500,900 men are being used by the Nazis in the push against the Oise valley alone—the route toward Paris.

The French said the withdrawal was from the Aumale-Noyon line. In the west, 200 to 300 German tanks crossed the Bresle river and plunged nearly 20 miles south to Forges-Les-Eaux, but the French counter-attacked and said they were pounding the tanks to bits while the river blocked the German infantry.

On the east flank, Nazi soldiers established a small bridgehead on the Aisne river in the Soissons sector and there, the French counter-attacked incessantly.

In the fourth night of the great offensive the battle flamed again from

BERLIN BOMBED BY ALLIED SHIPS

Factories In Suburbs Object Of Attack By Naval Seaplanes

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—Berlin, repeatedly scouted by allied planes and showered with propaganda leaflets since the start of the war, suffered its first bombardment last night when a squadron of naval bombers attacked factories in the suburbs, the French ministry of marine announced today.

(A German spokesman said there was "absolutely no truth" in the announcement adding, "we have been out with spyglasses all day looking for damage. There have been no air raid alarms in Berlin and no rumors of such bombings.")

The brief French communique said: "A squadron of navy aviation bombarded on the night of June 7 certain factories in the outskirts of Berlin. All planes returned to their bases."

A spokesman for the French ministry of marine said no additional details could be given but that he not "think" the bombers were American-made.

It is known that some American-made dive bombers have been transferred from the French fleet to land duties, however.

French reprisal raids already have been made on Frankfort and Munich since the German bombing which caused almost 1,000 casualties in Paris last Monday.

The French today also denied officially German reports that the French channel ports of Cherbourg and Le Havre have been "destroyed" by Nazi bombers. Actually, only a few bombs were dropped on those cities, the French declared.

INDICT SHREVEPORTER FOR SLAYING PARTNER

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—(AP)—Willie Dromgoole, 45, today was indicted by the Caddo parish grand jury for murder, in connection with the shotgun slaying of Frank Rudeseal, his partner.

The indictment charged Dromgoole with shooting Rudeseal, an oil drilling contractor, at Dromgoole's home on the Dixie road 10 miles north of Shreveport last April 7.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
Cypress And Crosley Streets
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

The daily vacation Bible school will begin Monday, June 10, to continue two weeks. The hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day except Saturday. We will be very glad to have the full cooperation of all the parents of this neighborhood in sending their children and helping us make this the best school in the history of the church. Miss Mary Alice Nourse of Shreveport and Mrs. L. O. Waldon of West Monroe will be in charge assisted by a group of our local Sunday school teachers and young people of the church.

Services today begin with Sunday school 9:45 a.m. S. W. Hamilton, superintendent. Morning worship and sermon by the pastor 11 a.m. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:45 p.m. Evening evangelistic service 7:45 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend all services of the church. You will always find a welcome here.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

"Can Christianity Weather This Storm?" will be the pastor's subject this morning. People are asking all sorts of questions in these unsettled and stormy days. Oh that they would go to God's word for the answer and be willing to take what God has to say about things! Read the 27th chapter of the Acts and note the last sentence: "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land." "Why doesn't God stop this war?" is a question that is frequently asked. Dr. George W. Truett gives a good answer: "For the simple reason that He didn't start it." Can your faith trust God in the dark? If not there is something wrong with your faith, not wrong with God.

All regular services, including the monthly meeting of the deacons Sunday afternoon at 3, will be held at the usual time. Come to all services and come praying for the power of God to rest upon preacher and people.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
West Monroe, La.
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Professor Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr,
Educational Director

The main feature of the program of this church at the present time is a vacation Bible school. The average attendance during the past week has been 205. A great company of church workers are teaching these children. The school will continue for another week, closing with appropriate commencement exercises next Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time a program will be given in the church auditorium and the hand-work of the pupils will be exhibited. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the commencement exercises Friday evening.

The program of services for today begins with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. The B. T. U. workers meet at 6:30 p.m. The General B. T. U. and Brotherhood will meet at 7 p.m. The worship services are at 10:50 a.m. and 8 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all who do not worship elsewhere. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH
812 Mississippi Street
Rev. T. J. Brooks, Pastor
Max Braswell, Choir Director

Our revival meeting, under the leadership of Rev. E. E. Smith, will continue through Friday evening. Everyone is invited to be with us to worship and receive the blessings of the Lord which are ours if we diligently seek them. The subject for Reverend Smith's message this morning will be "Justification by Faith," with text taken from Romans 5:1. For the evening service the subject will be "God's Greatest Gift" with text taken from John 3:16. The morning services through the week will begin at 9 o'clock; evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

We urge our people to attend the Sunday school which begins at 9:45 this morning. It is the pastor's desire to have a record attendance. Visitors are welcome at all times to come and worship with us.

RIDGE AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH
Ridge Avenue, West Monroe
A. T. Mitchell, Pastor

Morning service: Sunday school 9:45, L. L. Overton, superintendent; 11 a.m., sermon by Rev. Allen O. Buckley of Bernice, La.

Evening service: Music program at 7:45. Sermon 8:15 by the pastor. The subject of the sermon will be "Christ Seeking the Lost."

W. M. U. Monday 2:30, Mrs. G. D. Jones, president. Prayer meeting and business meeting Thursday 7:45 p.m.

The Ridge avenue church is the youngest church in Monroe and we urge our Christian friends of the other churches to remember this baby church in prayer. We are striving to set up all the organizations and programs of a southern Baptist convention church and at the same time launch a building program and our task will be great for the next few months.

We named this church before its birth "The Friendly Church." We desire every person regardless of their station or rank in life to come and feel comfortable and welcome.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH
3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
C. Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The vacation Bible school has been a great success already and with one more week to go, about 150 pupils have been enrolled, including directors. All the people are thrilled with the work and many more will enroll next week. The time for the meeting is 8:30 to 11 a.m. All children of this vicinity between the ages of four and 15 years are welcome. No charges or fees are collected but a free-will offering is taken each day and will be given to missions. The commencement program will be Friday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. All parents and friends will be invited. A picnic will be given one day next week for all the children who will be regular in attendance.

Sunday school will begin at 9:30 and close at 10:40 a.m. A fine program is planned for all groups. Bring your friends and be on time. The adult and young people 17 years old and up will meet in the auditorium of the Lida Benton school. All the younger children will meet at the church.

The preaching services today at 10:50 a.m. Rev. Roy Joiner will preach in the absence of the pastor, who will supply the pulpit for the Farmerville Baptist church. Rev. J. B. Wetzel also will preach for the Good Hope church in the absence of Rev. Joiner. Let all the people of the Lord rally to the call of worship and make this a great day. These pastors will be present in their own pulpits for the evening worship.

Our revival meeting will be held June 30 through July 14. Rev. A. S. Newman will be the preacher for the occasion. Let us make ready for a truly great revival. The recipe is found II Chronicles 7:14. The training union meets at the church today at 6:30 p.m. All members should be present and in the work.

All friends are cordially invited to worship at Central Baptist church today.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Corner St. John And Oak Streets
R. T. Watson, Minister

Church school at 9:45 a.m. Divine worship at 10:50 a.m. Sermon theme, "Aggressive Christianity." Evening service at 7:45 p.m. Sermon theme, "A New Earth." We will have an unusual treat in store for you in the way of a musical program by guests. There will be a 30-minute program of music, followed by the sermon.

Our cooling system keeps the building comfortable for your convenience. Bring a friend and come to church Sunday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
Auburn Ave. And North Second St.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 9, 1940.

The golden text is: "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee." (Jeremiah 32.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Known unto God are all his works, from the beginning of the world." (Acts 15.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Nothing can be novel to eternal Mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas." (Page 519.)

THE CHURCH OF GOD IN CHRIST OF FAITH TABERNACLE
124 Short Coleman Street
West Monroe
Elder L. R. S. McNeil, Pastor

Sunday school in all department, 10 a.m. Morning worship, 11:45 a.m. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, June 9, "Faith and Divine Trust in God Will Subdue This Present War Among the Nations." Bible class, 6:45 p.m. Mrs. Ethel Stewart, teacher. Evening service, 8 p.m. Pastor will speak on "The Signs of the Time." Revival continued until the fourth Sunday. All are invited each night.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH
Harrison And D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Bible class at 10 a.m. Morning service at 10:45 a.m. The Rev. Luther W. Roehrs, pastor of Gage Park Lutheran church of Chicago, Ill., will deliver the sermon.

We extend a cordial welcome to everyone to worship with us on this Lord's day. The Lord's supper will be celebrated after the morning service.

GRACE CHURCH
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the third Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. This service is for the communion of the people. Church school will assemble at 9:30 a.m., and morning prayer and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday is the festival of St. Barnabas. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Beginning Sunday, June 16, the following order of services on Sunday will be: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m. and a second service at 9:30 a.m. These will be the only services on Sunday during the summer months. The church school will recess until the middle of September. Meditation. St. Barnabas. St. Barnabas believed in people—even people whom nobody else trusted. His faith saved the careers of two men without whom we should not have had much of our New Testament. Saul of Tarsus, the scourge of Christians, comes back from Damascus to Jerusalem calling himself a follower of Jesus. The Christians there could not believe their former persecutor was now really on their side; his profession of faith seemed the tactics of a spy. Only St. Barnabas was ready to believe him, and to risk his own reputation by sponsoring the unpopular suspect. Suppose he hadn't! Much later, when St. Paul himself was distrusting some one, feeling that John Mark's turning back from the first missionary journey, made him unfit to be taken on the second St. Barnabas again took the side of the unpopular person. He parted company with St. Paul to save Mark for the cause. Suppose he hadn't! (Forward Movement.)

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Jackson At Wood
A. M. Freeman, Pastor

Dr. Pierce Cline of Centenary college will be our guest speaker at the morning hour. This is laymen's day, an annual event in world-wide Methodism. The evening hour will be in charge of the choir, who will present a special musical program.

The young people will meet in the annex for the Epworth league at 6:45. The Society of Christian Service will meet in circles on Tuesday. The board of Christian education meets Wednesday evening at 7:45 at the church.

Rev. Ernest Holloway has kindly exchanged his radio week with us. He will be heard through the coming week. Rev. Freeman will begin his radio talks next Sunday and continue through the following week.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
J. M. Alford, Pastor

We had a good day last Sunday, the beginning of the second half of the conference year's work. A large number participated in the Communion of the Lord's Supper. The Sunday school attendance went above the hundred mark again, and with a contest for new members during the month of June it is expected that we will record an all-time high by the first of July. There is an increased interest of the Epworth leagues and our young people are busy planning for a representative number to attend the summer camps. All the usual services of the church will be held today with Sunday school opening at 9:45 a.m. and followed by the 11 o'clock worship service at which time the pastor will deliver a message on "Christ Our Burden-Bearer"; with songs interspersed suitable to the sermon. An evangelistic subject will be presented at the evening service which opens at 7:30 p.m. The two Epworth leagues will hold their regular service at 6:30 o'clock. Again we urge all our members to come regularly to all the services and help us to carry on in a great way. We cordially invite our friends to come and worship with us. The Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon, with all three circles, for Bible study.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Frank Anderson was a "bell hop" in a Toledo, O., hotel. One day while the boy was in his room two Indianapolis attorneys knocked at his door. Without try to find out who his visitors were he ordered them to "git away from that door." However they did not "git" until they had informed the lad that a deceased aunt of his had left him $25,000 in her will.

Christ is seeking entrance into every life not only to impart the "good news" of salvation, but to take up His abiding place in the heart.

Isn't it strange that men will not welcome Him in?

The day's public worship begins with Sunday school promptly at 9:45 a.m. At 11 o'clock, Rev. H. A. Wood, the evangelist, will deliver a message of great importance and worth the souls of his hearers. Dr. Wood's messages are very unusual. They are forceful and convincing. His love for humanity, years of experience in the evangelistic field, his trust and confidence in God account for his success in this work.

Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Mrs. Annie Truitt, leader. Evening service at 7:45. Gospel singing by the audience and a gospel message by the evangelist will feature this service. The public is invited to attend the services daily at 10 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. through June 16.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

An appeal is made to the people of our faith for funds with which to rebuild the auditorium at Montreat. Will you respond? Envelopes were passed out last Sabbath for your convenience. A small coin in an envelope daily will amount to a reasonable amount. June 23 is the Sabbath we are asking these gifts to be handed in.

"What Is Wrong With the Church?" is the theme of our morning message. Will you hear us as we think about the weakness of the church? Will you hear us as we offer suggestions looking to the removal of our weakness?

"Our Real Handicaps" is the subject about which we shall think at the evening worship.

SWAM FOR MILES BEFORE RESCUE

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—How a British marine swam eight of the 21 miles between Calaid and Dover and was just "getting into my stride" when he was picked up by a small ship ferrying soldiers home from Flanders was told today by Gilbert Rowe, of the Queen Victoria rifles, one of the few surviving defenders of Calais.

Rowe said the marine seemed quite fresh when pulled aboard the ship.

"His first remark was 'sure you have enough room for me?'"

ODD FELLOWS NAME HINCKLEY AS LEADER

Officers of the Ouachita Lodge No. 2, Odd Fellows, were elected Friday night at the regular meeting. W. E. Hinckley was named noble grand; Hope V. Tarver, vice-grand and George Leeth Jr., recording secretary.

It was decided that the local lodge sponsor a junior lodge. A meeting was called for Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Boy Scout building on the fair grounds. All parents interested who have boys between 14 and 18 are requested to attend. Two members of the state board of control are expected to be present, to discuss the requirements and qualifications for membership and the institution of such a group here.

Guest at the meeting was Henry Castle, grand master.

HOME GUARD GROUP SUBJECT OF TALK

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—An American Legion proposal to organize World war veterans into home guard units was reported to have figured today in a conference of legion and war department officials.

The department said that at the suggestion of National Commander Raymond J. Kelley of Detroit, the legion officials offered to Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson "the organization's facilities and support in the present program of strengthening the national defense."

ALL-WELDED SHIP TAKES TO WATER

Slides Down Ways Into Pascagoula River In Mississippi

PASCAGOULA, Miss., June 8.—(AP)—The 18,000-ton cargo ship Exchequer, the first American-built all-welded steel ship, slid down the ways into the Pascagoula river today before 12,000 cheering spectators including high officials of the United States maritime commission.

The $2,600,000 vessel, first of eight being built at the Ingalls Shipbuilding corporation plant here, was christened by Mrs. Max O'Rell Truitt of Washington, wife of a member of the maritime commission and daughter of Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

Representative William Colmer, a resident of Pascagoula, delivered the launching address. The ship slid down the ways after thick steel plates holding her had been burned through.

The eight new ships are being constructed for the maritime commission, for delivery to the American Export lines of New York.

LEGION TO MARK FLAG DAY HERE

Observance In Cooperation With Guard First In 12 Years In City

The 40 and 8 of the American Legion and the National Guard will cooperate in leading an observance of Flag Day in Monroe Friday. The National Guard will play a regular retreat at 5:30 p.m. This will be the first observance of a day of honor to the "great emblem of democracy" held in this city since the Elks last observed it some 12 years ago.

The committee in charge of the Flag day arrangements is composed of Isador Liebreich, chairman; C. B. Braun, Ed Apperson, Charles Mitchell, Warren Taylor, Rev. Ernest D. Holloway, chaplain of the Monroe Legion post; Cecil Atkins and Captain Raymond Spence of the National Guards.

"In this day of 'total war' it is most fitting that the people of Monroe and the United States take time off and pay honor to that flag of the American nation," it was stated by Mr. Liebreich. He added:

"It has always been the aim and purpose of the American Legion to promote patriotism in America and to uphold the principles for which this democracy stands."

The program in full for the day follows:

Drill by Tallulah Drum and Bugle corp; military retreat, Battery G., 204th C. A., Captain Raymond Spence, commanding; address, Murray Hudson, past commander, "Flag Day and Courtesies to the Flag"; music, Ouachita parish high school band; benediction, Rev. E. D. Holloway.

The program will be held at the Legion home, beginning at 5:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Cypress And Crosley Streets
West Monroe
E. L. Tanner, Pastor

The daily vacation Bible school will begin Monday, June 10, to continue two weeks. The hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day except Saturday. We will be very glad to have the full cooperation of all the parents of this neighborhood in sending their children and helping us make this the best school in the history of the church. Miss Mary Alice Nourse of Shreveport and Mrs. L. O. Waldon of West Monroe will be in charge assisted by a group of our local Sunday school teachers and young people of the church.

Services today begin with Sunday school 9:45 a.m. S. W. Hamilton, superintendent. Morning worship and sermon by the pastor 11 a.m. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:45 p.m. Evening evangelistic service 7:45 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend all services of the church. You will always find a welcome here.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

St. John And Grammont Streets
L. T. Hastings, Pastor
D. C. Black, Pastor's Associate

"Can Christianity Weather This Storm?" will be the pastor's subject this morning. People are asking all sorts of questions in these unsettled and stormy days. Oh that they would go to God's word for the answer and be willing to take what God has to say about things! Read the 27th chapter of the Acts and note the last sentence: "And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land." "Why doesn't God stop this war?" is a question that is frequently asked. Dr. George W. Truett gives a good answer: "For the simple reason that He didn't start it." Can your faith trust God in the dark? If not there is something wrong with your faith, not wrong with God.

All regular services, including the monthly meeting of the deacons Sunday afternoon at 3, will be held at the usual time. Come to all services and come praying for the power of God to rest upon preacher and people.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe, La.
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Professor Dallas Goss, Music Director
Educational Director

The main feature of the program of this church at the present time is a vacation Bible school. The average attendance during the past week has been 205. A great company of church workers are teaching these children. The school will continue for another week, closing with appropriate commencement exercises next Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at which time a program will be given in the church auditorium and the hand-work of the pupils will be exhibited. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend the commencement exercises Friday evening.

The program of services for today begins with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. The B. T. U. workers meet at 6:30 p.m. The General B. T. U. and Brotherhood will meet at 7 p.m. The worship services are at 10:50 a.m. and 8 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all who do not worship elsewhere. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

812 Mississippi Street
Rev. I. J. Brooks, Pastor
Max Braswell, Choir Director

Our revival meeting, under the leadership of Rev. E. E. Smith, will continue through Friday evening. Everyone is invited to be with us to worship and receive the blessings of the Lord which are ours if we diligently seek them. The subject for Reverend Smith's message this morning will be "Justification by Faith," with text taken from Romans 5:1. For the evening service the subject will be "God's Greatest Gift" with text taken from John 3:16. The morning services through the week will begin at 9 o'clock; evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

We urge our people to attend the Sunday school which begins at 9:45 this morning. It is the pastor's desire to have a record attendance. Visitors are welcome at all times to come and worship with us.

RIDGE AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Ridge Avenue, West Monroe
A. T. Mitchell, Pastor

Morning service: Sunday school 9:45. L. L. Overton, superintendent; 11 a.m., sermon by Rev. Allen O. Buckley of Bernice, La.

Evening service: Music program at 7:45. Sermon 8:15 by the pastor. The subject of the sermon will be "Christ Seeking the Lost."

W. M. U. Monday 2:30, Mrs. G. D. Jones, president. Prayer meeting and business meeting Thursday 7:45 p.m.

The Ridge avenue church is the youngest church in Monroe and we urge our Christian friends of the other churches to remember this baby church in prayer. We are striving to set up all the organizations and programs of a southern Baptist convention church and at the same time launch a building program and our task will be great for the next few months.

We named this church before its birth "The Friendly Church." We desire every person regardless of their station or rank in life to come and feel comfortable and welcome.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

3400 Lee Avenue
D. D. Cantrell, Pastor
C. Dale Cobb, Choir Director

The vacation Bible school has been a great success already and with one more week to go, about 150 pupils have been enrolled, including directors. All the people are thrilled with the work and many more will enroll next week. The time for the meeting is 8:30 to 11 a.m. All children of this vicinity between the ages of four and 15 years are welcome. No charges or fees are collected but a free-will offering is taken each day and will be given to missions. The commencement program will be Friday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m. All parents and friends will be invited. A picnic will be given one day next week for all the children who will be regular in attendance.

Sunday school will begin at 9:30 and close at 10:40 a.m. A fine program is planned for all groups. Bring your friends and be on time. The adult and young people 17 years old and up will meet in the auditorium of the Lida Benton school. All the younger children will meet at the church.

The preaching services today at 10:50 a.m. Rev. Roy Joiner will preach in the absence of the pastor, who will supply the pulpit for the Farmerville Baptist church. Rev. J. B. Wetzel also will preach for the Good Hope church in the absence of Rev. Joiner. Let all the people of the Lord rally to the call of worship and make this a great day. These pastors will be present in their own pulpits for the evening worship.

Our revival meeting will be held June 30 through July 14. Rev. A. S. Newman will be the preacher for the occasion. Let us make ready for a truly great revival. The recipe is found II Chronicles 7:14. The training union meets at the church today at 6:30 p.m. All members should be present and in the work.

All friends are cordially invited to worship at Central Baptist church today.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

R. T. Watson, Minister

Church school at 9:45 a.m. Divine worship at 10:50 a.m. Sermon theme, "Aggressive Christianity." Evening service at 7:45 p.m. Sermon theme, "A New Earth." We will have an unusual treat in store for you in the way of a musical program by guests. There will be a 30-minute program of music, followed by the sermon.

Our cooling system keeps the building comfortable for your convenience. Bring a friend and come to church Sunday.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Auburn Ave. And North Second St.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, June 9, 1940.

The golden text is: "Ah Lord God! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee." (Jeremiah 32.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Known unto God are all his works, from the beginning of the world." (Acts 15.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Nothing can be novel to eternal Mind, the author of all things, who from all eternity knoweth His own ideas." (Page 519.)

THE CHURCH OF GOD IN CHRIST OF FAITH TABERNACLE

124 Short Coleman Street
West Monroe
Elder L. R. S. McNeil, Pastor

Sunday school in all department, 10 a.m. Morning worship, 11:45 a.m. Preaching by the pastor. Subject, June 9, "Faith and Divine Trust in God Will Subdue This Present War Among the Nations." Bible class, 6:45 p.m. Mrs. Ethel Stewart, teacher. Evening service, 8 p.m. Pastor will speak on "The Signs of the Time." Revival continued until the fourth Sunday. All are invited each night.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Harrison And D'Arbonne Streets
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Sunday school 9:30 a.m. Bible class at 10 a.m. Morning service at 10:45 a.m. The Rev. Luther W. Roehrs, pastor of Gage Park Lutheran church of Chicago, Ill., will deliver the sermon.

We extend a cordial welcome to everyone to worship with us on this Lord's day. The Lord's supper will be celebrated after the morning service.

GRACE CHURCH

Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the third Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. This service is for the communion of the people. Church school will assemble at 9:30 a.m., and morning prayer and sermon at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday is the festival of St. Barnabas. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Beginning Sunday, June 16, the following order of services on Sunday will be: The Holy Eucharist at 7:30 a.m and a second service at 9:30 a.m. These will be the only services on Sunday during the summer months. The church school will recess until the middle of September. Meditation. St. Barnabas. St. Barnabas believed in people—even people whom nobody else trusted. His faith saved the careers of two men without whom we should not have had much of our New Testament. Saul of Tarsus, the scourge of Christians, comes back from Damascus to Jerusalem calling himself a follower of Jesus. The Christians there could not believe their former persecutor was now really on their side; his profession of faith seemed the tactics of a spy. Only St. Barnabas was ready to believe him, and to risk his own reputation by sponsoring the unpopular suspect. Suppose he hadn't! Much later, when St. Paul himself was distrusting some one, feeling that John Mark's turning back from the first missionary journey, made him unfit to be taken on the second St. Barnabas again took the side of the unpopular person. He parted company with St. Paul to save Mark for the cause. Suppose he hadn't! (Forward Movement.)

The church is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Come in, rest, pray, give thanks, meditate. You are welcome.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Jackson At Wood
A. M. Freeman, Pastor

Dr. Pierce Cline of Centenary college will be our guest speaker at the morning hour. This is laymen's day, an annual event in world-wide Methodism. The evening hour will be in charge of the choir, who will present a special musical program.

The young people will meet in the annex for the Epworth league at 6:45. The Society of Christian Service will meet in circles on Tuesday. The board of Christian education meets Wednesday evening at 7:45 at the church.

Rev. Ernest Holloway has kindly exchanged his radio week with us. He will be heard through the coming week. Rev. Freeman will begin his radio talks next Sunday and continue through the following week.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

J. M. Alford, Pastor

We had a good day last Sunday, the beginning of the second half of the conference year's work. A large number participated in the Communion of the Lord's Supper. The Sunday school attendance went above the hundred mark again, and with a contest for new members during the month of June it is expected that we will record an all-time high by the first of July. There is an increased interest of the Epworth leagues and our young people are busy planning for a representative number to attend the summer camps. All the usual services of the church will be held today with Sunday school opening at 9:45 a.m. and followed by the 11 o'clock worship service at which time the pastor will deliver a message on "Christ Our Burden-Bearer"; with songs interspersed suitable to the sermon. An evangelistic subject will be presented at the evening service which opens at 7:30 p.m. The two Epworth leagues will hold their regular service at 6:30 o'clock. Again we urge all our members to come regularly to all the services and help us to carry on in a great way. We cordially invite our friends to come and worship with us. The Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday afternoon, with all three circles, for Bible study.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Frank Anderson was a "bell hop" in a Toledo, O., hotel. One day while the boy was in his room two Indianapolis attorneys knocked at his door. Without try to find out who his visitors were he ordered them to "git away from that door." However they did not "git" until they had informed the lad that a deceased aunt of his had left him $25,000 in her will.

Christ is seeking entrance into every life not only to impart the "good news" of salvation, but to take up His abiding place in the heart.

Isn't it strange that men will not welcome Him in?

The day's public worship begins with Sunday school promptly at 9:45 a.m. At 11 o'clock, Rev. H. A. Wood, the evangelist, will deliver a message of great importance and worth the souls of his hearers. Dr. Wood's messages are very unusual. They are forceful and convincing. His love for humanity, years of experience in the evangelistic field, his trust and confidence in God account for his success in this work.

Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m., Mrs. Annie Truitt, leader. Evening service at 7:45. Gospel singing by the audience and a gospel message by the evangelist will feature this service. The public is invited to attend the services daily at 10 a.m. and 7:45 p.m., through June 16.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Thomas Avenue At Richmond Street
G. M. And Ina Lee Akin, Pastors

We offer to the public our weekend program: Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. Mr. S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Preaching at 11 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. by the pastor. Young people's meetings at 6:45 p.m. Leaders, Mr. O. L. Hoskins, Mrs. Alameda Brown, Mrs. Lynn Boyd and Mrs. T. J. Gardner. Week-day services: W. F. M. S. will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. A. J. Brown on Lee avenue. Mrs. Ruth Hoskins will be in charge. Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. Rev. W. W. Lantrip will be in charge. Worship with us.

WAR RELIEF FUND HITS $7,031,814

Many Chapters More Than Double Quotas; Collect $4,060 Here

The war relief fund of the American Red Cross totaled over $7,031,814 Saturday, E. C. Gibson, chairman of the Ouachita parish chapter, stated on receipt of notice from Washington. Many chapters have more than doubled their quota, it was announced.

The Ouachita parish unit Saturday reported a total of $4,060 raised towards its doubled quota of $8,000.

The American Federation of Labor, through its president, William Green, contributed $1,000, the report from Washington said. In a letter to Chairman Norman H. Davis, he wrote:

"The noble work of the Red Cross, and the heavy demands which are being made upon it at this time for service and help, appeals to our sympathy and our support."

Nineteen chapters of the Red Cross were reported to have reached or exceeded the double quotas assigned them, according to the report. Many clubs over the nation have sent their unsolicited donations. A resolution pledging support of the 2,000,000 farm members of the American Farm Bureau federation was adopted at Chicago Friday, the notice of which was released by National Chairman Davis.

CAMP KI-RO-LI TO OPEN TODAY

Registration Of Approximately 150 Scouts Reported By Executive

Scout Camp Ki-Ro-Li opens today for the first week of encampment with a reported registration of approximately 150 boys. George Simpson, assistant regional director of the Boy Scouts of America, will be a visitor at Camp Ki-Ro-Li Tuesday and part of Wednesday, Olan H. Black, parish scout executive, announced.

The annual Camp-O-Ral was held yesterday with representatives from all troops of this section of the state. Competition was held on the patrol basis as has been the practice during the past two years. All equipment and supplies and a judge as well were furnished by each patrol.

Competition was held in the following events: First aid, judging a route, knot tieing, signaling, fire by friction, water boiling, chopping and bugling. All patrols were judged on a standard rating and 80 per cent score.

Army Recruiting Office Increases Its Personnel

Major And Lieutenant Join Staff Here As Defense Program Expands

Major Frank P. Robison, C. A. S. C., of Shreveport, and First Lieutenant Forrest M. Terral, medical corps reserves, have been added to the recruiting office personnel of the Monroe office as the office has been reopened permanently, it was announced yesterday by Sergeant Harold B. McNemar, local recruiting agent of the United States army.

Lieutenant Terral will be the medical examiner while Major Robison is learning the duties of recruiting officer for regular army reserves and the regular army. Uncle Sam is offering attractive enlistment opportunities in line with the national defense program and the additions to the Monroe office are in connection with the expanded personnel throughout the nation.

Sergeant McNemar announced that the following young men of Monroe and vicinity, a total of 23, have been enlisted in the army for infantry and field artillery with station at Fort Benning, Ga., during the past week:

Andrew H. Adair, Wilmot, Ark.; Cecil M. Baele, West Monroe; Robert C. Bynum, Jr., West Monroe; Alton F. Brown, Rayville; Homer E. Chadwick, Rayville; Ernest E. Clower, Monroe; Oliver H. Donaldson, Jr., Hodge; Edmon Fontenot, Bastrop; Guy L. Farmer, Wyatt; James E. Foust, Monroe; Frank L. Heflin, Oak Grove; Irvin Lee Hogan, Rayville; Charles L. Kennedy, Chatham; Arnet O. Littleton, Downsville; Bracey E. Moseley, Forrest; Dempsey F. Mullins, Monroe; J. C. Pinckard, West Monroe; Horace W. O'Quinn, Grayson; Harold W. Roane, Ruston; Willie R. Tannehill, Mangham; William L. Ulmer, Winnsboro, and Harold E. Williamson, Simsboro.

Generally speaking, to be acceptable for enlistment in the regular army, applicants must meet the following requirements:

They must be between the ages of 18 and 35, for orignal enlistments, single and without dependents, and those under 21 must have the written consent of their parents or guardians; they must be at least five feet four inches in height, and weigh not less than 115 pounds; they must be of good moral character, as evidenced by written testimonials from reputable citizens of their respective communities; they must be in good health and free from any incapacitating or disfiguring deformities. They must be citizens of the United States by birth or naturalization at the time of enlistment; they must be able to pass the required mental and physical tests as prescrbeid by army regulations.

To meet requirements for regular army reserves:

Single or married men who have been honorably discharged from the regular army after one year or more of continuous service, and who are less than 36 years of age and physically qualified, and they are eligible to reenlist in the regular army reserves in the highest grade which they held during their army service. Married men with dependents are not barred from enlisting in the regular army reserves.

The soldier knows that he is following an honorable career, rich in tradition and glory. He enjoys the feeling of security and well being which results from an assured and ready income. If he chooses to remain in the service and retire after 30 years, he can face the prospect of old age with confidence, knowing that his needs have been well provided for. The means are provided whereby he may improve his technical training and general education.

If he wishes to see the distant lands where our overseas garrisons are located, he will sooner or later have the opportunity on full pay and with travel expenses paid by his government. If he wishes to return to civil life at the end of an enlistment, his army training will be of value to him. With his training and the discharge that testified to good character and faithful service, his earning capacity and ability to secure a job will be increased. He may also expect to return to civil life a much stronger and more capable man, physically and mentally. With his honorable discharge he will be eligible for enlistment in the regular army reserves and thus become "a modern minute man," provided he is under 36 years of age. Enlisted men of any grade may compete for commission or for appointment to the United States Military academy at West Point, provided they are within the prescribed age limits.

Sergeant McNemar announced an unlimited number of vacancies for 83rd field artillery and eighth infantry located at Fort Benning, Ga., to be filled as rapidly as possible.

The Monroe office is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and until 3 p.m. on Saturdays. The quota for the month of June is unlimited and the applicant doesn't have to be placed on a long waiting list before vacancies are available for him.

At each large post religious services are conducted by an ordained clergyman who is a chaplain in the army. He is in close contact with members of the command at all times, and looks after not only spiritual welfare, but any private difficulties that may arise.

DEFENSE OFFICES ARE AIR-COOLED

Lie Back Of Gleaming Marble Halls Of Reserve Board's Home

By W. B. Ragsdale

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The new national defense commission is housed in air-conditioned comfort in the most peaceful atmosphere in the capital.

Its offices lie back of the gleaming marble walls of the federal reserve board's new home on Constitution avenue. The building is set far back from the street, behind grassy lawns and bubbling fountains.

The interior, even on the hottest days, is cool, the furnishings rich with walnut and mahogany. Offices rise tier upon tier above a marble center court.

Commission officials have taken possession of such quarters as were available. William S. Knudsen, the production director, is the only one with a corner office. Sidney Hillman, the labor-employment chieftain, has taken headquarters just across the hall. Around the corner is Edward S. Stettinius who wrestles with raw material problems. And across the hall from Stettinius are the adjoining offices of Miss Harriet Elliott, the student of consumer prices, and Raph T. Budd, the transportation expert.

Chester Davis, whose puzzle is dovetailing agriculture into the defense picture, kept his regular quarters as a member of the federal reserve board. Leon Henderson will do his price-studying over in his old offices at the securities and exchange commission, several blocks away.

Only the commission members and those who work most closely with them will be housed in the reserve building. For the time, other employes will be established in the war department building, across Constitution avenue.

Both Stettinius and Knudsen, upon whom fall the brunt of the present first-line work, labor early and long. They often clear away a series of conferences before the rest of Washington has wiped the sleep out of its eyes.

They do not quite match the 6 o'clock reputation of Vice-President Garner, but they are usually getting squared away and well into their work by 8. Conferences with army officers, with navy officers, with business men dovetail throughout the long day and into the evening. Rarely do they escape a 12-hour day.

Sales By U. S. Rise 10-Fold Since Beginning Of Conflict

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—To feed its munitions industry Italy has increased its monthly purchases of United States scrap steel more than ten-fold since the second month of the European war while Japan's buying has dropped off markedly.

From a low point in October, 1939, when Italy bought only 7,000 tons, purchases have gained month by month to 74,000 tons in April—last month for which commerce department figures are available.

The United States has no restrictions on export of scrap steel, although many proposals for embargoes have been made in congress. Despite gains to Italy, Great Britain and Canada, moreover, United States exports of scrap steel in the first four months of 1940 totaled only 850,000 tons, as compared with 1,065,000 tons in the same months of 1939.

Japan formerly bought more than half the steel scrap exported, but cut its purchases from 662,000 tons in the first four months of 1939 to 291,000 in the similar period this year.

Yes, We Can Help!

The wringing of hands never did anybody any good.

Confronted with the desolation of all northern Europe, many people in the United States have been reduced to a shellshocked state in which they are able to do nothing but wring their hands and utter feeble cries.

It is true that the United States has been caught in a position where it can do nothing about the military campaign now racking France and threatening Britain, even if it wanted to. In respect to that we are helpless. We shall not always be helpless, but for the moment we are.

But this does not mean that we can do nothing. We can be of definite help, without compromising neutrality, without risking a life. We can help to relieve the suffering, clothe the naked, feed the starving.

So calloused have we become during the past few years, so used to the bombing and starving and dying, in Ethiopia, in China, in Finland, in Manchuria, Poland and Spain, that we do not react, do not respond as we once did.

But we must fight this coarsening of our sensibilities. No less tragic than the men who are dying on the battlefronts, in some ways more tragic, are the refugees. In France, there is now one refugee for every seven inhabitants. That is the estimate of a worker for the American Friends' Service committee, the Quaker organization which has done such splendid service for relief in many lands.

Try to imagine it! Suppose that the United States, in addition to its present relief and defense burdens, had 18,570,000 refugees suddenly placed in its care. That would be in the same proportion as the burden the French are now bearing. They have had a half million Spanish refugees for more than a year. They received 2,000,000 from Alsace-Lorraine at the very beginning of the war. And now the tide of misery from Belgium and Holland and their own eastern border has come rolling in.

This burden they must bear even while they fight for their lives with their backs against Paris. Surely America, whatever it eventually does about the war itself, cannot be deaf to the cry of these millions of miserable waifs, stripped of everything but life itself, and that ebbing away in the face of unspeakable privations.

The Red Cross, the Friends' Service committee, the Norwegian relief and scores of other organizations are doing the best they can. The response to the Red Cross' appeal for $20,000,000 is nothing to be proud of in its initial stages. This appeal must not fail.

Whatever else we lose in the grim coming years, let it never be said of us that we lost our hearts!

U. S. SURPLUS NEEDED

The war in Belgium and northern France had not been raging long before the French people realized that they had a refugee problem on their hands which would strain all their resources. From the north came thousands of helpless human beings, stripped of all possessions, homeless, dazed by the shock of totalitarian war. Five million people have been driven from their homes. It is estimated that two million more were caught inside the line in Flanders.

The French are doing what they can to house and feed the refugees. As the first wave of humanity flowed into Paris, it was moved on toward the south and safety. But the problems of housing, transportation and feeding have become acute. It is hard, at this distance, to grasp the seriousness of the situation for the French people and the French government.

But one fact is clear. There is a surplus of foodstuffs in this country. Normal channels of trade are being cut off one by one. What this nation has in abundance is desperately needed abroad. The efforts of the Red Cross and other groups organized for relief will not begin to solve the European refugee problem.

Somehow, by one method or another, the American surplus should be put at the disposal of the innocent victims of aggression. Whether one believes in intervention, isolation or all "methods short of war," the validity of the pleas made in the name of the chief sufferers of the German campaign must be admitted.

MOFFAT TO CANADA

The appointment of Jay Pierrepont Moffat as minister to Canada will cause satisfaction on both sides of the border.

Coming after the lamentable experiment of sending to Canada James H. R. Cromwell, an amateur who made only a brief dilettante dab at the job and then forsook it, the naming of Moffat is especially gratifying.

Whatever developments come with the war and in its aftermath, the relations between the United States and Canada are certain to become closer and more important to both countries. We cannot afford to have less than our best available representation at Ottawa. In Mr. Moffat there is every reason to hope that we have called it to service.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Reports that Mexico City police are hunting an American named George Mink in connection with the recent attack on Leon Trotsky were of peculiar interest to investigators for the Dies committee.

The Dies committee has a fat dossier on Mink, and would like to make it fatter. Its investigators have been hunting him for several months; during the winter Chief Investigator J. B. Matthews made a hurry-up trip to New Orleans for him, missing him by just one hour.

Testimony before the committee has described Mink as one of the chief overseas agents for the Russian GPU (or NKVD, as it is now called). He is accused of having gone to Spain during the revolution, with the mission of purging the Loyalist army of anti-Communist leaders, previously, the evidence ascribes to him a leading part in extending Communist influence in the American merchant fleet.

Mink helped organize the Marine Workers' Industrial union, predecessor of the National Maritime union, and for a time was its national chairman. After this, he is alleged to have traveled extensively in South and Central America on party business. One witness asserted that as long as three years ago Mink was assigned to "take care of" Trotsky.

Dies And President Working Together

One of the most ironically touching developments in Washington is the rapprochement between Mr. Dies and F. D. R. As recently as last fall, they were very much at swords points, now they are working in something resembling harmony, gunning for fifth columnists.

It must be reported that it is the White House which has changed its attitude rather than the Red-hunting Texan, and the change clearly was forced by the pressure of events.

Dies has been denouncing the fifth column since long before the nickname was popularized, and has been crying for F. B. I. help in ferreting out its secrets. For a long time he got nothing but the cold shoulder from the administration. Now the New Deal is beginning to realize that Mr. Dies has, as they say, got something there.

Bus Driver Decision May Cost Millions

Supreme court decision that the Wage and Hour administration, rather than the Interstate Commerce commission, has jurisdiction over the 200,000 bus and truck drivers in the country may prove pretty costly to the drivers' bosses.

The Wage-Hour people had held that 42 hours was the legal workweek for the drivers, I. C. C. had said it was 60. Decision means that companies which followed the I. C. C. ruling are liable for over-time wages running a long way back; some of the companies' lawyers have figured the total bill will be somewhere between $2,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Notable are two other things about the decision: (1) it was strictly a "New Deal judges" five-to-four ruling, and (2) the Wage-Hour administration's interpretive bulletins are formally adjudged to have more legal weight than even the Wage-Hour people themselves supposed they had.

The war news has many Republican politicians pretty downcast, but not the Taft strategists. They figure candidate Taft is emerging more and more as the logical G. O. P. contender (a point on which various New Dealers privately agree with them) and their most recent survey says he will get 141 first-ballot votes from the 11 Ohio valley-middle western states. From this area, they add, on the first ballot, Dewey will get 93 votes and Vandenberg 46, with the rest scattering.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 8—Dear Staff: The other day, Linda Darnell celebrated the first anniversary of her arrival in Hollywood. Consider what's happened to this girl in one year, and you'll admit her story makes the Cinderella legend read like an ode to failure.

In May 1939, Linda was a typical, 16-year-old high school student in Dallas, Tex., perhaps prettier than most but certainly no more assured than they of success.

In May, 1940, she's famous; one of the most admired young ladies in America. She earns a weekly salary larger than most bank officials, she receives stacks of fan letters weekly, and she rubs elbows on terms of equality with famous idols of the show world—the real-life originals of the fan photos that used to decorate her room back in Texas. She owns a fine car, has made her first trip to New York, and has been fitted with beautiful clothes by the country's most noted designers.

What a year! What a symbol to things that can happen in Hollywood! Linda must find it difficult to recall the green, star-gazing school kid who wore her name way back yonder in '39.

As long as the movies can work such fantastic miracles, this city will continue to be the Mecca of Miss America, and the czars of filmdom can dismiss their worries about the source of raw material. Linda's success story is a challenge to millions of high school girls—and among those millions a few are sure to duplicate Miss Darnell's dream-come-true.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss: Yeah, we know, we know. It's all those gorgeous young gals knocking at studio doors that keep us happy in our jobs, even though you refuse to give us our rightful salary increases.

Speaking of fan letters (as you were about Linda's) your own mail stenos report heavy inquiries about Dennis Morgan. He'll be the next romantic idol if this fem interest continues. Lotsa kicks in the mails too, about the Shriley Temple-20th Century-Fox break. The people say they're not tired of Shirley—they're just tired of Shirley in poor pictures.

You received a membership card from the "Society for Prevention of Putting Parsley on People's Plates in Public Places" today. It's sponsored by the Grand Forks, N. D., Lions club and proceeds go to welfare work among the blind and needy, so please send check. . . . Tizzie Lish of radio has signed to do some shorts for MGM. . . . Rumors linking Judy Garland and Band Leader Dave Rose (swell guy) grow stronger, but friends insist they're just friends.

No wonder Patricia Morison can't lose weight despite doctors' prescribed diets—she eats what they order at meals, then sneaks two and three hunks of chocolate cake when they're not watching. . . . Anatol Litvak is star-gazing into Mona Maris' eyes. . . . Last night a big producer (we'd better not mention his name) told us you hit the nail on the head with your prediction of industrial high-salary slashes. He won't start a new picture now because he thinks production will be cut 50 per cent within three months!

Want a laugh? Radio's Andrews sisters, whose warblings are a delight, are making a picture for Universal. They rented a certain Westwood cottage because of its swell view of the city. Well sir, two days later found workmen erecting a billboard on the adjoining lot, completely shutting off the view. But did the girls' irate protests turn to embarrassment when a poster was pasted up. The billboard advertises their appearance in a Culver City nite club!

When Jean Hersholt goes east as guest of honor on Denmark day at the NY fair, he'll speak about the Raebild National park in Denmark. Twenty-nine years ago, Hersholt, William Knudsen (the General Motors biggie) and other Danish-Americans subscribed money to create this park, and on every Fourth of July since Americans and Danes have held celebrations there. This will be the first Fourth since 1911 without celebration.

Nice gal, Joan Crawford. She phoned all the way from NY to help a little Hawaiian dancer get a job here. . . . Is it true, when Lana Turner walks down the street she's greeted with: "Hello, Miss Turner—nice sweater we're having?" . . . Speaking of Lana, her ex-boyfriend-lawyer, Greg Bautzer, is finding plenty of solace in Dorothy Lamour. . . . Ummmm—man! MGM is cooking up plans for a film co-starring Marlene Dietrich and Clark Gable. . . . Ellen Drew, hailed by Paramount as a great bet early last year, then forgotten, is in line for a new build-up.

Funny story about Bing Crosby, Boss. He's an honorary member of the Lakeside caddies' golf team and plays with them when he has time. The other Monday, Bing posted $30 as a prize for the various club teams to play for. Lakeside won—and the crooner got back three dollars of his own prize money!

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The book, "Polish Profile," by the Princess Virgilia Sapieha, who was Virgia Peterson of New York, is a sharp breakaway from the usual tales of American expatriates. While the fact that the princess was bombed out of her Polish castle might be expected to produce a different sort of story, the book would have been different under any circumstances.

Virgilia Peterson, Vassar graduate, daughter of a distinguished New York physician, knew the score in feudal Europe before she went there. She was a merry, friendly all-around American girl, with a full appreciation of her own country, and lived in her mediaeval Polish castle because, as she clearly sets forth, she loved her husband. She remained an American, yielding only a pro forma bow to mediaevalism, and the book that followed the bombs is a unique story of two worlds.

So far as I know, it is the only calm, clear-eyed chronicle of an inside view of feudal Europe by an American. We have, of course, a library of books by American travelers and expatriates, and we have books by expatriates who put their American heritage in moth balls before they sailed, but none by any transplanted American remaining American, and capable of an intelligent critique of the two civilizations. Events of today make this book timely and it is, essentially, a book of fascinating interest.

Barbara Hutton is moving to regain her citizenship, as are several others of the international haute monde. Regardless of the outcome of this war, editorial writers will lose their perennial dull-day topic. When matters close at hand might be too hot to handle, the runaway American heiress marrying a busted duke was a good old stand-by. That's all over now, and I have no doubt that we made too much of a fuss over it any way. At any rate, this world tragedy makes such matters seem trivial, and this country can afford to be magnanimous and take back any wayward son or daughter who really believes in it.

There is nothing trivial, though, about that matter of belief. A friend was telling me the other day about a matron who had lived abroad a great deal and who, returning to France two years ago, said, "You know, after all, I find America rather gauche." When she landed here last week, she said, "Thank God I'm here!" Welcome home, old girl. Let's forget the past.

It didn't take bombs to clear the expatriated cognoscenti and this and that out of the Dome and the Rotonde in Paris, where they had been wearing velvet jackets, cadging drinks, making gestures with their thumbs, and snooting America for the last few years. Various errant trends of the French franc did that, at the start of the depression.

With them have come sound and certified artists and writers, Ernest Hemingway among the latter.

They have been busy rediscovering America. Some of them are noting a big up-surge in the arts over here. There is much talk of an artistic renaissance. Some of the boys have been amazed to discover what had been going on over here while they were away.

There's a lot of grim business ahead for this rediscovered America. Incidentally, there are a lot of us who are discovering our country all over again. In this corner, we think this renewed belief is possibly quite as important as military preparedness. Your typewriter gets the string-halt when you try to tap it out, but a view of the end-product of this unique experiment in civilization, away down the fairway, somehow seems to chase any mood of defeat. People who share a fervor of belief, somehow find a way to pool their efforts, under any new urgency.

Under any less Apoclayptic circumstances, one might be moved to take a swing at the late Henry James and the late Berry Wall, and James Hazen Hyde and sundry others who, like the friend of my friend, found this country too "gauche" to get on with. But that's water over the wheel. We're working up what might be called a strong family feeling over here and rejoice more over the one who strayed and was found than over the ninety-and-nine.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

AVOID GOSSIP ABOUT CHILDREN

Young people make mistakes without knowing it. They have urges and promptings that they do not understand. In consequence they do things they do not understand but which grown people, having come that way, understand perfectly.

When this situation develops the decent thing for the elderly people to do is to watch or plan for an opportunity, and to say a word in season. This requires tact and honest friendliness so that the youngsters do not take it for crabby interference. It is far more creditable to the grown-up to do it this way than is the whispered gossip passed along from Dan to Beersheba that blasts the youngster's reputation.

The young people believe their actions are unnoticed. They do not know that they carry their secrets like placards on their faces, in their speech, in their very walk. They do not know that they cannot go a block out of their way to meet a certain person without everybody on four blocks knowing it and talking about it.

Youngsters Are Innocent

Children do not konw that there are no secrets. They and their parents are usually the last to know that the whole neighborhood is afire with gossip about their doings.

If some elderly person who sees a child heading into trouble would make it his business to let the child know in friendly fashion that his thoughts and actions are public property, it would save a deal of grief and hard feeling.

Much of the indiscretion of youth is innocent in intent and deed. The threat that lies in the situation is hidden from them. Instead of being so sure that they are bent on evil why not slip into the affair with a word of understanding and caution and explanation. That attitude will not discredit a grown-up person as the whispered gossip does.

Speak Gently And With Tact

The schoolgirl who goes down Main street to linger in the smiles of the young man in the fruit shop means no harm. She is following the instincts of her nature, the feelings prompted by her stage of growth. There isn't an unworthy thought in her mind. She is making a mistake quite natural at her age. If she seems to be making a habit of the mistake, get a personal word with her and tactfully indicate the better way.

Don't go to the girl's mother first. Say what you have to say to the girl, and be more than gentle, wiser than wise, when you try this. If you do not succeed and the mistake persists, then speak to the girl's mother. You will need all the understanding and grace you can command for this undertaking, but if it becomes your duty don't shirk it.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

Text: Haggai 1:2-12.

Haggai was one of the so-called minor prophets, who prophesied after the Jews had returned from the Babylonian exile, about 520 B. C. The minor prophets were not necessarily lesser figures than the major prophets, nor is their teaching any the less noteworthy. The distinction between major and minor seems to reflect in some measure the extent of the records that have come down to us.

It is quite possible that some of these minor prophets were in their own time quite as important figures as the major prophets. Certainly the quality of these minor prophecies makes us regret that we do not have more extensive records of what these great preachers in ancient Israel had to say.

Haggai, as we have indicated, prophesied in Israel in a time of restoration and rebuilding. Great projects and many problems unquestionably confronted the Jews as they returned from their long exile in Babylon. Homes had to be rebuilt; towns and cities had to be restored. In all this rebuilding it was easy to set aside something that could be done later, and there were those who said that it was not a propitious time for building the house of God.

How modern all this seems! How frequently in various communities this problem has arisen of whether churches or schools shall have the proper place, or even the pre-eminence! People say, "We ought to have a better church," or "We ought to have a better school building, but we can't afford it," or "The time is not right for action." Yet, how often in modern times it is those who speak in this way who have been most zealous in caring for their own comfort and in spending upon themselves!

This was precisely the situation that Haggai faced in ancient Israel. These people who were saying that it wasn't the time to build the Lord's house were dwelling in their own ceiled and well-built houses.

Haggai asks them very plainly and properly whether this is wise building. He represents Jehovah as saying to the people that this is not the way of real prosperity. "Go up," says Jehovah, "to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house of the Lord."

It is only in cooperation with God that there can be in any society true and permanent building. Man must work with the forces of God in nature, but he must also work with the God of grace and righteousness and truth.

It is possible for men to be very busy about the affairs of the world, to be doing everything that seems necessary for building up wealth and prosperity, and yet to be neglecting the very things upon which truth, happiness and human welfare depend.

Consider the communities that have given the proper place to religion and worship. Almost invariably, they have been prosperous communities. The Puritans in New England came to a region of the country, much of which was barren with rock and great stretches of which were in marshes.

Yet, with what permanency they built as they built faith and the recognition of spiritual values into their communities! It was this spirit of devotion that enabled them to make the best of all they had. And this is the story of what has happened again and again in communities where men and women have given the primary place to religion. "Seed ye first the Kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added."

JOBS for JUNE GRADUATES

Want To Be A Radio Actor? Here's How To Start Off

By Earle McGill
(Casting Director, Columbia Broadcasting System)

There are two simple rules I give any youngster aspiring to a radio acting career.

First, learn your business. Second, know the markets for your wares. Both are more complex than they sound.

McGill

Your business is acting, so learn how to act. As in any other business, you need training. Where should you get it?

If possible, I advise an American university. In the past few years many universities have built up magnificent courses in the theater, where any young actor can receive training from talented directors.

The University of Iowa, for example has a stage which rivals any New York stage, excepting Radio City Music hall.

Many of these large universities operate radio stations, too. An even larger number have courses in radio. So, if you are lucky, your first acting training may be of two varieties—stage and radio.

The acting profession used to offer a valuable rough-and-tumble training for the youngster in the stock companies almost every fair-sized city boasted. Today stock is almost dead, and summer stock is still too scattered and casual to provide an adequate substitute.

Little theaters are valuable, however. The young actor should interest himself in a good little theater group.

I believe that whether you seek a career on the stage, radio, or in the films, the theater is your best preliminary training. There you feel an audience; you learn how to play to it.

You learn ensemble work, integrating your portrayal with the rest of the cast. You learn the million and one general tricks of the stage.

After that, it's not too hard to pick up the specialized techniques you need for radio and films.

By now, we'll say you're an adequate actor. So you study the markets for your talents.

One serious defect among youngsters coming to New York for a radio career is their complete lack of knowledge of the structural set-up of radio. They don't understand that a network is concerned with producing only that percentage of programs which are on a sustaining basis. Commercial programs are produced by the advertising agency handling a manufacturer's product.

They go to the networks and ask for jobs, without bothering to cover the many advertising agencies producing radio programs.

If you have gone to a network for an acting job, here is the process you will be following. I give general auditions for new actors twice a week at Columbia. In three hours of auditions a week I hear 14 to 16 newcomers—both youngsters and experienced stage actors who want to break into radio. The actor uses his own material, and I sit in the control room as he reads before the microphone.

In the material you use, there's one simple hazard to avoid—don't try too much. Several weeks ago a young ingenue auditioned before me, and swung with bewildering speed from a portrayal of an 80-year-old woman to a dramatic bit from "Anna Christie." Both of them were obviously beyond her range.

Next: Civil Service Opportunities.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

Manchukuo's Railroads Strengthen War Base

JAPANESE money and militarism are building Nippon's puppet state, Manchukuo, into a powerful war base. Construction of a vast network of railroads, shown on the Manchukuoan stamp above, has been underway since Japan assumed control of Manchuria eight years ago. More than 4000 kilometers of railroad lines have been built, increasing Manchukuo's rail mileage to 10,000 kilometers.

Most of Japan's dreams of a continental empire depend upon these railroads. Numerous feeder lines penetrate undeveloped agricultural and mining areas, to bring raw materials to the rapidly growing industrial centers. Four principal cities — Darien, Mukden, Hsinking and Harbin—are linked by double-tracked lines.

More and more Japanese industries are being moved to Manchukuo, closer to raw materials and markets. Technicians and skilled workers are imported.

Yes, We Can Help!

The wringing of hands never did anybody any good.

Confronted with the desolation of all northern Europe, many people in the United States have been reduced to a shellshocked state in which they are able to do nothing but wring their hands and utter feeble cries.

It is true that the United States has been caught in a position where it can do nothing about the military campaign now racking France and threatening Britain, even if it wanted to. In respect to that we are helpless. We shall not always be helpless, but for the moment we are.

But this does not mean that we can do nothing. We can be of definite help, without compromising neutrality, without risking a life. We can help to relieve the suffering, clothe the naked, feed the starving.

So calloused have we become during the past few years, so used to the bombing and starving and dying, in Ethiopia, in China, in Finland, in Manchuria, Poland and Spain, that we do not react, do not respond as we once did.

But we must fight this coarsening of our sensibilities. No less tragic than the men who are dying on the battlefronts, in some ways more tragic, are the refugees. In France, there is now one refugee for every seven inhabitants. That is the estimate of a worker for the American Friends' Service committee, the Quaker organization which has done such splendid service for relief in many lands.

Try to imagine it! Suppose that the United States, in addition to its present relief and defense burdens, had 18,570,000 refugees suddenly placed in its care. That would be in the same proportion as the burden the French are now bearing. They have had a half million Spanish refugees for more than a year. They received 2,000,000 from Alsace-Lorraine at the very beginning of the war. And now the tide of misery from Belgium and Holland and their own eastern border has come rolling in.

This burden they must bear even while they fight for their lives with their backs against Paris. Surely America, whatever it eventually does about the war itself, cannot be deaf to the cry of these millions of miserable waifs, stripped of everything but life itself, and that ebbing away in the face of unspeakable privations.

The Red Cross, the Friends' Service committee, the Norwegian relief and scores of other organizations are doing the best they can. The response to the Red Cross' appeal for $20,000,000 is nothing to be proud of in its initial stages. This appeal must not fail.

Whatever else we lose in the grim coming years, let it never be said of us that we lost our hearts!

U. S. SURPLUS NEEDED

The war in Belgium and northern France had not been raging long before the French people realized that they had a refugee problem on their hands which would strain all their resources. From the north came thousands of helpless human beings, stripped of all possessions, homeless, dazed by the shock of totalitarian war. Five million people have been driven from their homes. It is estimated that two million more were caught inside the line in Flanders.

The French are doing what they can to house and feed the refugees. As the first wave of humanity flowed into Paris, it was moved on toward the south and safety. But the problems of housing, transportation and feeding have become acute. It is hard, at this distance, to grasp the seriousness of the situation for the French people and the French government.

But one fact is clear. There is a surplus of foodstuffs in this country. Normal channels of trade are being cut off one by one. What this nation has in abundance is desperately needed abroad. The efforts of the Red Cross and other groups organized for relief will not begin to solve the European refugee problem.

Somehow, by one method or another, the American surplus should be put at the disposal of the innocent victims of aggression. Whether one believes in intervention, isolation or all "methods short of war," the validity of the pleas made in the name of the chief sufferers of the German campaign must be admitted.

MOFFAT TO CANADA

The appointment of Jay Pierrepont Moffat as minister to Canada will cause satisfaction on both sides of the border.

Coming after the lamentable experiment of sending to Canada James H. R. Cromwell, an amateur who made only a brief dilettante dab at the job and then forsook it, the naming of Moffat is especially gratifying.

Whatever developments come with the war and in its aftermath, the relations between the United States and Canada are certain to become closer and more important to both countries. We cannot afford to have less than our best available representation at Ottawa. In Mr. Moffat there is every reason to hope that we have called it to service.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Reports that Mexico City police are hunting an American named George Mink in connection with the recent attack on Leon Trotsky were of peculiar interest to investigators for the Dies committee.

The Dies committee has a fat dossier on Mink, and would like to make it fatter. Its investigators have been hunting him for several months; during the winter Chief Investigator J. B. Matthews made a hurry-up trip to New Orleans for him, missing him by just one hour.

Testimony before the committee has described Mink as one of the chief overseas agents for the Russian GPU (or NKVD, is it is now called). He is accused of having gone to Spain during the revolution, with the mission of purging the Loyalist army of anti-Communist leaders; previously, the evidence ascribes to him a leading part in extending Communist influence in the American merchant fleet.

Mink helped organize the Marine Workers' Industrial union, predecessor of the National Maritime union, and for a time was its national chairman. After this, he is alleged to have traveled extensively in South and Central America on party business. One witness asserted that as long as three years ago Mink was assigned to "take care of" Trotsky.

Dies And President Working Together

One of the most ironically touching developments in Washington is the rapprochement between Mr. Dies and F. D. R. As recently as last fall, they were very much at swords points; now they are working in something resembling harmony, gunning for fifth columnists.

It must be reported that it is the White House which has changed its attitude rather than the Red-hunting Texan; and the change clearly was forced by the pressure of events.

Dies has been denouncing the fifth column since long before the nickname was popularized, and has been crying for F. B. I. help in ferreting out its secrets. For a long time he got nothing but the cold shoulder from the administration. Now the New Deal is beginning to realize that Mr. Dies has, as they say, got something there.

Bus Driver Decision May Cost Millions

Supreme court decision that the Wage and Hour administration, rather than the Interstate Commerce commission, has jurisdiction over the 200,000 bus and truck drivers in the country may prove pretty costly to the drivers' bosses.

The Wage-Hour people had held that 42 hours was the legal workweek for the drivers; I. C. C. had said it was 60. Decision means that companies which followed the I. C. C. ruling are liable for over-time wages running a long way back; some of the companies' lawyers have figured the total bill will be somewhere between $2,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Notable are two other things about the decision: (1) it was strictly a "New Deal judges" five-to-four ruling, and (2) the Wage-Hour administration's interpretive bulletins are formally adjudged to have more legal weight than even the Wage-Hour people themselves supposed they had.

The war news has many Republican politicians pretty downcast, but not the Taft strategists. They figure candidate Taft is emerging more and more as the logical G. O. P. contender (a point on which various New Dealers privately agree with them) and their most recent survey says he will get 141 first-ballot votes from the 11 Ohio valley-middle western states. From this area, they add, on the first ballot, Dewey will get 93 votes and Vandenberg 46, with the rest scattering.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—Dear Staff: The other day, Linda Darnell celebrated the first anniversary of her arrival in Hollywood. Consider what's happened to this girl in one year, and you'll admit her story makes the Cinderella legend read like an ode to failure.

In May 1939, Linda was a typical, 16-year-old high school student in Dallas, Tex., perhaps prettier than most but certainly no more assured than they of success.

In May, 1940, she's famous; one of the most admired young ladies in America. She earns a weekly salary larger than most bank officials, she receives stacks of fan letters weekly, and she rubs elbows on terms of equality with famous idols of the show world—the real-life originals of the fan photos that used to decorate her room back in Texas. She owns a fine car, has made her first trip to New York, and has been fitted with beautiful clothes by the country's most noted designers.

What a year! What a symbol to things that can happen in Hollywood! Linda must find it difficult to recall the green, star-gazing school kid who wore her name way back yonder in '39.

As long as the movies can work such fantastic miracles, this city will continue to be the Mecca of Miss America, and the czars of filmdom can dismiss their worries about the source of raw material. Linda's success story is a challenge to millions of high school girls—and among those millions a few are sure to duplicate Miss Darnell's dream-come-true.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss: Yeah, we know, we know. It's all those gorgeous young gals knocking at studio doors that keep us happy in our jobs, even though you refuse to give us our rightful salary increases.

Speaking of fan letters (as you were about Linda's) your own mail stenos report heavy inquiries about Dennis Morgan. He'll be the next romantic idol if this fem interest continues. Lotsa kicks in the mails too, about the Shriley Temple-20th Century-Fox break. The people say they're not tired of Shirley—they're just tired of Shirley in poor pictures.

You received a membership card from the "Society for Prevention of Putting Parsley on People's Plates in Public Places" today. It's sponsored by the Grand Forks, N. D., Lions club and proceeds go to welfare work among the blind and needy, so please send check. . . . Tizzie Lish of radio has signed to do some shorts for MGM. . . . Rumors linking Judy Garland and Band Leader Dave Rose (swell guy) grow stronger, but friends insist they're just friends.

No wonder Patricia Morison can't lose weight despite doctors' prescribed diets—she eats what they order at meals, then sneaks two and three hunks of chocolate cake when they're not watching. . . . Anatol Litvak is star-gazing into Mona Maris' eyes. . . . Last night a big producer (we'd better not mention his name) told us you hit the nail on the head with your prediction of industrial high-salary slashes. He won't start a new picture now because he thinks production will be cut 50 per cent within three months!

Want a laugh? Radio's Andrews sisters, whose warblings are a delight, are making a picture for Universal. They rented a certain Westwood cottage because of its swell view of the city. Well sir, two days later found workmen erecting a billboard on the adjoining lot, completely shutting off the view. But did the girls' irate protests turn to embarrassment when a poster was pasted up. The billboard advertises their appearance in a Culver City nite club!

When Jean Hersholt goes east as guest of honor on Denmark day at the NY fair, he'll speak about the Raebild National park in Denmark. Twenty-nine years ago, Hersholt, William Knudsen (the General Motors biggie) and other Danish-Americans subscribed money to create this park, and on every Fourth of July since Americans and Danes have held celebrations there. This will be the first Fourth since 1911 without celebration.

Nice gal, Joan Crawford. She phoned all the way from NY to help a little Hawaiian dancer get a job here. . . . Is it true, when Lana Turner walks down the street she's greeted with: "Hello, Miss Turner—nice sweater we're having?" . . . Speaking of Lana, her ex-boyfriend-lawyer, Greg Bautzer, is finding plenty of solace in Dorothy Lamour. . . . Ummmm—man! MGM is cooking up plans for a film co-starring Marlene Dietrich and Clark Gable. . . . Ellen Drew, hailed by Paramount as a great bet early last year, then forgotten, is in line for a new build-up.

Funny story about Bing Crosby, Boss. He's an honorary member of the Lakeside caddies' golf team and plays with them when he has time. The other Monday, Bing posted $30 as a prize for the various club teams to play for. Lakeside won—and the crooner got back three dollars of his own prize money!

Human Side Of The News

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The book, "Polish Profile," by the Princess Virgilia Sapieha, who was Virgia Peterson of New York, is a sharp breakaway from the usual tales of American expatriates. While the fact that the princess was bombed out of her Polish castle might be expected to produce a different sort of story, the book would have been different under any circumstances.

Virgilia Peterson, Vassar graduate, daughter of a distinguished New York physician, knew the score in feudal Europe before she went there. She was a merry, friendly all-around American girl, with a full appreciation of her own country, and lived in her mediaeval Polish castle because, as she clearly sets forth, she loved her husband. She remained an American, yielding only a pro forma bow to mediaevalism, and the book that followed the bombs is a unique story of two worlds.

So far as I know, it is the only calm, clear-eyed chronicle of an inside view of feudal Europe by an American. We have, of course, a library of books by American travelers and expatriates, and we have books by expatriates who put their American heritage in moth balls before they sailed, but none by any transplanted American remaining American, and capable of an intelligent critique of the two civilizations. Events of today make this book timely and it is, essentially, a book of fascinating interest.

Barbara Hutton is moving to regain her citizenship, as are several others of the international haute monde. Regardless of the outcome of this war, editorial writers will lose their perennial dull-day topic. When matters close at hand might be too hot to handle, the runaway American heiress marrying a busted duke was a good old stand-by. That's all over now, and I have no doubt that we made too much of a fuss over it any way. At any rate, this world tragedy makes such matters seem trivial, and this country can afford to be magnanimous and take back any wayward son or daughter who really believes in it.

There is nothing trivial, though, about that matter of belief. A friend was telling me the other day about a matron who had lived abroad a great deal and who, returning to France two years ago, said, "You know, after all, I find America rather gauche.' When she landed here last week, she said, "Thank God I'm here!" Welcome home, old girl. Let's forget the past.

It didn't take bombs to clear the expatriated cognoscenti and this and that out of the Dome and the Rotonde in Paris, where they had been wearing velvet jackets, cadging drinks, making gestures with their thumbs, and smooting America for the last few years. Various errant trends of the French franc did that, at the start of the depression.

With them have come sound and certified artists and writers, Ernest Hemingway among the latter.

They have been busy rediscovering America. Some of them are noting a big up-surge in the arts over here. There is much talk of an artistic renaissance. Some of the boys have been amazed to discover what had been going on over here while they were away.

There's a lot of grim business ahead for this rediscovered America. Incidentally, there are a lot of us who are discovering our country all over again. In this corner, we think this renewed belief is possibly quite as important as military preparedness. Your typewriter gets the string-halt when you try to tap it out, but a view of the end-product of this unique experiment in civilization, away down the fairway, somehow seems to chase any mood of defeat. People who share a fervor of belief, somehow find a way to pool their efforts, under any new urgency.

Under any less Apoclayptic circumstances, one might be moved to take a swing at the late Henry James and the late Berry Wall, and James Hazen Hyde and sundry others who, like the friend of my friend, found this country too "gauche" to get on with. But that's water over the wheel. We're working up what might be called a strong family feeling over here and rejoice more over the one who strayed and was found than over the ninety-and-nine.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

AVOID GOSSIP ABOUT CHILDREN

Young people make mistakes without knowing it. They have urges and promptings that they do not understand. In consequence they do things they do not understand but which grown people, having come that way, understand perfectly.

When this situation develops the decent thing for the elderly people to do is to watch or plan for an opportunity, and to say a word in season. This requires tact and honest friendliness so that the youngsters do not take it for crabby interference. It is far more creditable to the grown-up to do it this way than is the whispered gossip passed along from Dan to Beersheba that blasts the youngster's reputation.

The young people believe their actions are unnoticed. They do not know that they carry their secrets like placards on their faces, in their speech, in their very walk. They do not know that they cannot go a block out of their way to meet a certain person without everybody on four blocks knowing it and talking about it.

Youngsters Are Innocent

Children do not konw that there are no secrets. They and their parents are usually the last to know that the whole neighborhood is afire with gossip about their doings.

If some elderly person who sees a child heading into trouble would make it his business to let the child know in friendly fashion that his thoughts and actions are public property, it would save a deal of grief and hard feeling.

Much of the indiscretion of youth is innocent in intent and deed. The threat that lies in the situation is hidden from them. Instead of being so sure that they are bent on evil why not slip into the affair with a word of understanding and caution and explanation. That attitude will not discredit a grown-up person as the whispered gossip does.

Speak Gently And With Tact

The schoolgirl who goes down Main street to linger in the smiles of the young man in the fruit shop means no harm. She is following the instincts of her nature, the feelings prompted by her stage of growth. There isn't an unworthy thought in her mind. She is making a mistake quite natural at her age. If she seems to be making a habit of the mistake, get a personal word with her and tactfully indicate the better way.

Don't go to the girl's mother first. Say what you have to say to the girl, and be more than gentle, wiser than wise, when you try this. If you do not succeed and the mistake persists, then speak to the girl's mother. You will need all the understanding and grace you can command for this undertaking, but if it becomes your duty don't shirk it.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

Text: Haggai 1:2-12.

Haggai was one of the so-called minor prophets, who prophesied after the Jews had returned from the Babylonian exile, about 520 B. C. The minor prophets were not necessarily lesser figures than the major prophets, nor is their teaching any the less noteworthy. The distinction between major and minor seems to reflect in some measure the extent of the records that have come down to us.

It is quite possible that some of these minor prophets were in their own time quite as important figures as the major prophets. Certainly the quality of these minor prophecies makes us regret that we do not have more extensive records of what these great preachers in ancient Israel had to say.

Haggai, as we have indicated, prophesied in Israel in a time of restoration and rebuilding. Great projects and many problems unquestionably confronted the Jews as they returned from their long exile in Babylon. Homes had to be rebuilt; towns and cities had to be restored. In all this rebuilding it was easy to set aside something that could be done later, and there were those who said that it was not a propitious time for building the house of God.

How modern all this seems! How frequently in various communities this problem has arisen of whether churches or schools shall have the proper place, or even the pre-eminence! People say, "We ought to have a better church," or "We ought to have a better school building, but we can't afford it," or "The time is not right for action." Yet, how often in modern times it is those who speak in this way who have been most zealous in caring for their own comfort and in spending upon themselves!

This was precisely the situation that Haggai faced in ancient Israel. These people who were saying that it wasn't the time to build the Lord's house were dwelling in their own ceiled and well-built houses.

Haggai asks them very plainly and properly whether this is wise building. He represents Jehovah as saying to the people that this is not the way of real prosperity. "Go up," says Jehovah, "to the mountain, and bring wood, and build the house of the Lord."

It is only in cooperation with God that there can be in any society true and permanent building. Man must work with the forces of God in nature, but he must also work with the God of grace and righteousness and truth.

It is possible for men to be very busy about the affairs of the world, to be doing everything that seems necessary for building up wealth and prosperity, and yet to be neglecting the very things upon which truth, happiness and human welfare depend.

Consider the communities that have given the proper place to religion and worship. Almost invariably, they have been prosperous communities. The Puritans in New England came to a region of the country, much of which was barren with rock and great stretches of which were in marshes.

Yet, with what permanency they built as they built faith and the recognition of spiritual values into their communities! It was this spirit of devotion that enabled them to make the best of all they had. And this is the story of what has happened again and again in communities where men and women have given the primary place to religion. "Seed ye first the Kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added."

JOBS for JUNE GRADUATES

Want To Be A Radio Actor? Here's How To Start Off

By Earle McGill
(Casting Director, Columbia Broadcasting System)

There are two simple rules I give any youngster aspiring to a radio acting career.

McGill

First, learn your business. Second, know the markets for your wares. Both are more complex than they sound.

Your business is acting, so learn how to act. As in any other business, you need training. Where should you get it?

If possible, I advise an American university. In the past few years many universities have built up magnificent courses in the theater, where any young actor can receive training from talented directors.

The University of Iowa, for example has a stage which rivals any New York stage, excepting Radio City Music hall.

Many of these large universities operate radio stations, too. An even larger number have courses in radio. So, if you are lucky, your first acting training may be of two varieties—stage and radio.

The acting profession used to offer a valuable rough-and-tumble training for the youngster in the stock companies almost every fair-sized city boasted. Today stock is almost dead, and summer stock is still too scattered and casual to provide an adequate substitute.

Little theaters are valuable, however. The young actor should interest himself in a good little theater group.

I believe that whether you seek a career on the stage, radio, or in the films, the theater is your best preliminary training. There you feel an audience; you learn how to play to it.

You learn ensemble work, integrating your portrayal with the rest of the cast. You learn the million and one general tricks of the stage.

After that, it's not too hard to pick up the specialized techniques you need for radio and films.

By now, we'll say you're an adequate actor. So you study the markets for your talents.

One serious defect among youngsters coming to New York for a radio career is their complete lack of knowledge of the structural set-up of radio. They don't understand that a network is concerned with producing only that percentage of programs which are on a sustaining basis. Commercial programs are produced by the advertising agency handling a manufacturer's product.

They go to the networks and ask for jobs, without bothering to cover the many advertising agencies producing radio programs.

If you have gone to a network for an acting job, here is the process you will be following. I give general auditions for new actors twice a week at Columbia. In three hours of auditions a week I hear 14 to 16 newcomers—both youngsters and experienced stage actors who want to break into radio. The actor uses his own material, and I sit in the control room as he reads before the microphone.

In the material you use, there's one simple hazard to avoid—don't try too much. Several weeks ago a young ingenue auditioned before me, and swung with bewildering speed from a portrayal of an 80-year-old woman to a dramatic bit from "Anna Christie." Both of them were obviously beyond her range.

Manchukuo's Railroads Strengthen War Base

JAPANESE money and militarism are building Nippon's puppet state, Manchukuo, into a powerful war base. Construction of a vast network of railroads, shown on the Manchukuoan stamp above, has been underway since Japan assumed control of Manchuria eight years ago. More than 4000 kilometers of railroad lines have been built, increasing Manchukuo's rail mileage to 10,000 kilometers.

Most of Japan's dreams of a continental empire depend upon these railroads. Numerous feeder lines penetrate undeveloped agricultural and mining areas, to bring raw materials to the rapidly growing industrial centers. Four principal cities — Darien, Mukden, Hsinking and Harbin—are linked by double-tracked lines.

More and more Japanese industries are being moved to Manchukuo, closer to raw materials and markets. Technicians and skilled workers are imported.

REVUE ENTRIES ARE ANNOUNCED

Young Men And Women Vie For Titles Sir And Miss Monroe

Contestants for the titles Sir Monroe and Miss Monroe to be awarded at the Bathing Beach revue at the Paramount theater Wednesday night were announced Saturday by the theater management after the deadline for filing applications.

The contestants and their sponsors follow:

Virginia Dozier, J. C. Penney company; Martha Grafton, Ferd Levi Stationery company; Connie Bawcom, Montgomery Ward; Rosalie Sherman, R and A. Jewelry company; June Parker, Surebest Bakery; Mary Jo Simpson, Watson and Aven Ice Cream company; Sara Ann Hunt, Co-operative Dairies; Beverly Buckner, Sears, Roebuck and company; Virginia Rawls, News-Star—World.

Harold Hill, Ware's Drug store; James Hewett, Turner Paint and Wallpaper store; Sam McInnis, Family Shoe store; Harvey Rester, Alvis hotel; Ginger Bubb, Krauss and Cahn; Hurlan Beauman, Sears, Roebuck and company; and Freddie Reagan.

The contest, one of a series being held over the cotton states to find the loveliest bathing beauty and the ideal southern athletic type will probably result in movie contracts for the winners.

Finals in the Bathing Beach revue will be held June 20 in Biloxi, Miss., with Sir Monroe and Miss Monroe competing with other contest winners for the cotton states.

Sir and Miss Monroe will receive a week's vacation on the gulf coast, which will be climaxed by the revue in Biloxi when judges will name Sir Dixie and Miss Dixie.

Winners at the Paramount theater Wednesday night will be judged according to the applause of members of the audience which will be recorded by an applause-o-meter, a scientific device which guarantees absolute fairness in determining the amount of applause each contestant earns.

DUKE OF WINDSOR NEAR ITALY'S LINE

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—The war office announced today that the Duke of Windsor is visiting French troops on the Italian border and will shortly return "to his headquarters."

A press notice issued by the ministry on information said:

"There is no foundation for the report that the Duke of Windsor has resigned his military appointment.

"He is paying a visit to French troops on the Italian border and will shortly return to the headquarters of the mission to which he is attached."

The announcement was taken to mean that the former king had exchanged his former job of liaison officer between the French and British forces for another "mission" the nature of which is not being announced.

MEXICAN DEPARTMENT CHECKING ALL ALIENS

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—(AP)—The interior department, on orders from President Lazaro Cardenas, began compiling today a list of foreign residents and travelers in all principal communities of Mexico.

The department said the action was taken because of the "situation created by the European war, which imposes on the national government the obligation to know exactly the number, whereabouts and activities of foreigners."

NEW DISEASE ATTACKS LOUISIANA SUGARCANE

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—(AP)—A new cane disease has spread over most of Louisiana's sugar section, a Louisiana State university plant pathologist said today, but he declared experiments already indicate a cure can be effected.

Dr. C. W. Edgerton, head of the university's botany department, said the chlorotic streak disease, which appeared on a small scale in isolated spots two years ago apparently is causing major losses in some regions by reducing stands and sowing early growth.

LIVE ELEPHANT TO GO TO G. O. P. CONVENTION

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP)—A Philadelphia miss, just 17, will be introduced at the Republican national convention here as the party's official 1940 mascot.

Her name is Josephine and she resides in the elephant quarters of the Quaker city zoo, where she was officially adopted yesterday by Samuel F. Pryor, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

SIX MORE CONTESTANTS IN BATHING BEACH REVUE

ROSALIE SHERMAN

CONNIE BAWCOM

MARTHA GRAFTON

JAMES HEWITT

SAM M'INNIS

GINGER BUBB

Here are six more entrants in the contest to select Miss Ideal Dixie and Sir Ideal Dixie in a bathing beach revue at the Paramount theater Wednesday night. The winners will receive a week's vacation on the gulf coast. Miss Sherman is sponsored by the R. and A. Jewelry company, Miss Bawcom by Montgomery Ward, Miss Grafton by Ferd Levi company, Hewitt by the Turner Paint and Wallpaper company, McInnis by the Family Shoe store and Bubb by Krauss and Cahn.

CHAPTER VII

Eagerly, Paul Wharton waited for Sherry to continue. "Yes, Sherry, go on."

But Sherry's sentence was never finished. At that moment a tall, thin chap, with a great mop of blond hair, stepped into the box.

"Sherry Bond!"

"Shep Grant! What are you doing here?" She jerked her hand free, grasped Grant's outstretched hand. Wharton looked up, making little effort to conceal his resentment. "My friend, Paul Wharton, Shep. This is Shep Grant. Sit down, Shep."

Wharton nodded. "I've met Grant."

"Swell colt you've got, Sherry," Grant was saying. "He's got everything. And can he run! And Madden—I couldn't have ridden Pepper Boy much better myself. I intended offering, but I couldn't make it in from Chicago in time."

"Since when have you been riding on the flat?" Wharton asked. "Thought you were the white-haired boy in steeplechasing."

"I do ride over the sticks," Shep Grant answered nonchalantly, his eyes never leaving Sherry's face, "but I'm light. Going to ride on the flat this season, too. But say, Sherry, about the derby—"

"Paul was just speaking of it," she said, tonelessly.

"Yeah? About Pepper Boy? Say—heard there were a couple of claims—did you lose him?"

She shook her head. "Paul says he was ready to save him."

"That so?" The intruder looked suspiciously at Wharton. The latter ignored his glance.

"Paul advised me twice not to start the colt in a claimer. When I did, he tried to claim him for me. He—and the other fellow—both lost on technicalities."

"Wait a minute!" Shep Grant sat forward on the seat. "Paul Wharton tried to claim your colt?"

She nodded.

"Let me get this straight," the rider looked from Wharton to Sherry. "He was going to let you buy him back, at the claiming price?"

Sherry looked at Wharton. "That was it, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

The blond chap whistled—softly. And grinned. Sherry saw Wharton's face turn fiery red. She looked at the second man. "Shep Grant, what's up?"

"Not a thing," he said with an exaggerated drawl, "not a little thing. But you ought to bone up on claiming rules, before you fall for bedtime tales."

Wharton was on his feet. He said in low tones: "You might explain that—and you might explain where you come in on this."

"I come in right here, fellow." Shep Grant got to his feet, faced Wharton. "Maybe that's business, Wharton—you're a whiz at business; but racing's something else again."

Sherry's voice rose insistently, "Please explain, Shep."

"Nothing special to explain," he turned to her. "But you should know that no horse claimed can start in the name of its former owner till 30 days have passed—and 14 days from today the Kentucky Derby is run. Seems as if Wharton was going to be in the derby—with Pepper Boy carrying his colors. Later, the colt might run in yours again."

He grinned, nodded his head at Wharton, started up the three steps leading out of the box.

"One minute, Grant."

Wharton's voice was low, but Sherry caught a razor-like sharpness in it. She saw Shep Grant turn swiftly around.

"You may know racing," Wharton's voice crackled, "but you've got a lot to learn about human nature. My colors are going to be in the derby, carried by Red Soldier, the only colt of real Derby caliber on this track—as you'll see when the handicap is run. He's going to spreadeagle that field. I don't need Sherry's colt—and if I did, I haven't sunk that low." He turned his shoulder, then spoke over it to the gentleman rider, "Good day, Grant."

Grant stood there for a moment, reddened from top of soft collar to edge of his fair hair, then quietly turned and left the box. Sherry, over Paul Wharton's shoulder, watched him move off in the aisle crowds.

"Paul," she asked, "is it true—what Shep said? That I couldn't buy the colt back in less than 30 days?"

"You could buy him back the next minute—but you couldn't race him until 30 days passed."

"I see." She glanced out toward the track, where a field was parading to the post. "Paul, then the colt couldn't—"

He broke in, sensing her question. "The colt would have run in your name, silly." He spoke the words lightly.

"How could he?" she asked, a cloud gathering in her face.

"Silly!" he repeated, as if to a child. "He'd have run in the name of Mrs. Paul Wharton, of course!"

"Oh, oh!" she repeated, eyes focused on his face. "How very sweet of you! Using my Pepper Boy as a sort of bribe—to get me to marry you!"

Paul Wharton caught her hand, leaned closer to her.

"The colt would be yours—and everything else I own."

"You might let go my hand," she said in a low, furious tone. "Of all the unsporting, lowdown tricks! Trying to steal my horse that way!"

"Steal? According to regulations—"

"Hush! I wouldn't have believed it of you!"

"Sherry, dear," Wharton's voice was husky, and he continued to hold her hand with firm grip. "You've got to listen to me—and to believe me. What I told you about claiming Pepper Boy is the truth. And—you don't belong in this racing game. I want to get you out of it. It'd be different if you weren't so young and so utterly beautiful—"

Sherry broke in scornfully, "Suppose you drop my hand—and let me out of here!" He released his grip, stepped back. She was searing him with her eyes, "Don't you ever speak to me again as long as you live!"

Hot tears burned Sherry's eyes as she hurried through the crowd to the big man standing at the rail.

Uncle Willie was in a tense mood. He lifted his scarred old field glasses, surveyed the track. The handicap horses were parading to the post. Though Sherry stood beside him on the lawn bench behind the rail, the big fellow spoke as if to himself:

"In the paddock, they say Red Soldier's a standout—yet he's not even favorite—maybe young Wharton's put- [illegible]

Young Men And Women Vie For Titles Sir And Miss Monroe

Contestants for the titles Sir Monroe and Miss Monroe to be awarded at the Bathing Beach revue at the Paramount theater Wednesday night were announced Saturday by the theater management after the deadline for filing applications.

The contestants and their sponsors follow:

Virginia Dozier, J. C. Penney company; Martha Grafton, Ferd Levi Stationery company; Connie Bawcom, Montgomery Ward; Rosalie Sherman, R. and A. Jewelry company; June Parker, Surebest Bakery; Mary Jo Simpson, Watson and Aven Ice Cream company; Sara Ann Hunt, Co-operative Dairies; Beverly Buckner, Sears, Roebuck and company; Virginia Rawls, News-Star—World.

Harold Hill, Ware's Drug store; James Hewett, Turner Paint and Wallpaper store; Sam McInnis, Family Shoe store; Harvey Rester, Alvis hotel; Ginger Bubb, Krauss and Cahn; Hurlan Beauman, Sears, Roebuck and company; and Freddie Reagan.

The contest, one of a series being held over the cotton states to find the loveliest bathing beauty and the ideal southern athletic type will probably result in movie contracts for the winners.

Finals in the Bathing Beach revue will be held June 20 in Biloxi, Miss., with Sir Monroe and Miss Monroe competing with other contest winners for the cotton states.

Sir and Miss Monroe will receive a week's vacation on the gulf coast, which will be climaxed by the revue in Biloxi when judges will name Sir Dixie and Miss Dixie.

Winners at the Paramount theater Wednesday night will be judged according to the applause of members of the audience which will be recorded by an applause-o-meter, a scientific device which guarantees absolute fairness in determining the amount of applause each contestant earns.

DUKE OF WINDSOR NEAR ITALY'S LINE

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—The war office announced today that the Duke of Windsor is visiting French troops on the Italian border and will shortly return "to his headquarters."

A press notice issued by the ministry on information said:

"There is no foundation for the report that the Duke of Windsor has resigned his military appointment.

"He is paying a visit to French troops on the Italian border and will shortly return to the headquarters of the mission to which he is attached."

The announcement was taken to mean that the former king had exchanged his former job of liaison officer between the French and British forces for another "mission" the nature of which is not being announced.

MEXICAN DEPARTMENT CHECKING ALL ALIENS

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—(AP)—The interior department, on orders from President Lazaro Cardenas, began compiling today a list of foreign residents and travelers in all principal communities of Mexico.

The department said the action was taken because of the "situation created by the European war, which imposes on the national government the obligation to know exactly the number, whereabouts and activities of foreigners."

NEW DISEASE ATTACKS LOUISIANA SUGARCANE

BATON ROUGE, La., June 8.—(AP)—A new cane disease has spread over most of Louisiana's sugar section, a Louisiana State university plant pathologist said today, but he declared experiments already indicate a cure can be effected.

Dr. C. W. Edgerton, head of the university's botany department, said the chlorotic streak disease, which appeared on a small scale in isolated spots two years ago apparently is causing major losses in some regions by reducing stands and sowing early growth.

LIVE ELEPHANT TO GO TO G. O. P. CONVENTION

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP)—A Philadelphia miss, just 17, will be introduced at the Republican national convention here as the party's official 1940 mascot.

Her name is Josephine and she resides in the elephant quarters of the Quaker city zoo, where she was officially adopted yesterday by Samuel F. Pryor, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

SIX MORE CONTESTANTS IN BATHING BEACH REVUE

ROSALIE SHERMAN

CONNIE BAWCOM

MARTHA GRAFTON

JAMES HEWITT

SAM M'INNIS

GINGER BUBB

Here are six more entrants in the contest to select Miss Ideal Dixie and Sir Ideal Dixie in a bathing beach revue at the Paramount theater Wednesday night. The winners will receive a week's vacation on the gulf coast. Miss Sherman is sponsored by the R. and A. Jewelry company, Miss Bawcom by Montgomery Ward, Miss Grafton by Ferd Levi company, Hewitt by the Turner Paint and Wallpaper company, McInnis by the Family Shoe store and Bubb by Krauss and Cahn.

CHAPTER VII

Eagerly, Paul Wharton waited for Sherry to continue. "Yes, Sherry, go on."

But Sherry's sentence was never finished. At that moment a tall, thin chap, with a great mop of blond hair, stepped into the box.

"Sherry Bond!"

"Shep Grant! What are you doing here?" She jerked her hand free, grasped Grant's outstretched hand. Wharton looked up, making little effort to conceal his resentment. "My friend, Paul Wharton, Shep. This is Shep Grant. Sit down, Shep."

Wharton nodded. "I've met Grant."

"Swell colt you've got, Sherry," Grant was saying. "He's got everything. And can he run! And Madden—I couldn't have ridden Pepper Boy much better myself. I intended offering, but I couldn't make it in from Chicago in time."

"Since when have you been riding on the flat?" Wharton asked. "Thought you were the white-haired boy in steeplechasing."

"I do ride over the sticks," Shep Grant answered nonchalantly, his eyes never leaving Sherry's face, "but I'm light. Going to ride on the flat this season, too. But say, Sherry, about the derby—"

"Paul was just speaking of it," she said, tonelessly.

"Yeah? About Pepper Boy? Say—heard there were a couple of claims—did you lose him?"

She shook her head. "Paul says he was ready to save him."

"That so?" The intruder looked suspiciously at Wharton. The latter ignored his glance.

"Paul advised me twice not to start the colt in a claimer. When I did, he tried to claim him for me. He—and the other fellow—both lost on technicalities."

"Wait a minute!" Shep Grant sat forward on the seat. "Paul Wharton tried to claim your colt?"

She nodded.

"Let me get this straight," the rider looked from Wharton to Sherry. "He was going to let you buy him back, at the claiming price?"

Sherry looked at Wharton. "That was it, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

The blond chap whistled—softly. And grinned. Sherry saw Wharton's face turn fiery red. She looked at the second man. "Shep Grant, what's up?"

"Not a thing," he said with an exaggerated drawl, "not a little thing. But you ought to bone up on claiming rules, before you fall for bedtime tales."

Wharton was on his feet. He said in low tones: "You might explain that—and you might explain where you come in on this."

"I come in right here, fellow," Shep Grant got to his feet, faced Wharton. "Maybe that's business, Wharton—you're a whiz at business; but racing's something else again."

Sherry's voice rose insistently, "Please explain, Shep."

"Nothing special to explain," he turned to her. "But you should know that no horse claimed can start in the name of its former owner till 30 days have passed—and 14 days from today the Kentucky Derby is run. Seems as if Wharton was going to be in the derby—with Pepper Boy carrying his colors. Later, the colt might run in yours again."

He grinned, nodded his head at Wharton, started up the three steps leading out of the box.

"One minute, Grant."

Wharton's voice was low, but Sherry caught a razor-like sharpness in it. She saw Shep Grant turn swiftly around.

"You may know racing," Wharton's voice crackled, "but you've got a lot to learn about human nature. My colors are going to be in the derby, carried by Red Soldier, the only colt of real Derby caliber on this track—as you'll see when the handicap is run. He's going to spreadeagle that field. I don't need Sherry's colt—and if I did, I haven't sunk that low." He turned his shoulder, then spoke over it to the gentleman rider, "Good day, Grant."

Grant stood there for a moment, reddened from top of soft collar to edge of his fair hair, then quietly turned and left the box. Sherry, over Paul Wharton's shoulder, watched him move off in the aisle crowds.

"Paul," she asked, "is it true—what Shep said? That I couldn't buy the colt back in less than 30 days?"

"You could buy him back the next minute—but you couldn't race him until 30 days passed."

"I see." She glanced out toward the track, where a field was parading to the post. "Paul, then the colt couldn't—"

He broke in, sensing her question, "The colt would have run in your name, silly." He spoke the words lightly.

"How could he?" she asked, a cloud gathering in her face.

"Silly!" he repeated, as if to a child. "He'd have run in the name of Mrs. Paul Wharton, of course!"

"Oh, oh!" she repeated, eyes focused on his face. "How very sweet of you! Using my Pepper Boy as a sort of bribe—to get me to marry you!"

Paul Wharton caught her hand, leaned closer to her.

"The colt would be yours—and everything else I own."

"You might let go my hand," she said in a low, furious tone. "Of all the unsporting, lowdown tricks! Trying to steal my horse that way!"

"Steal? According to regulations—"

"Hush! I wouldn't have believed it of you!"

"Sherry, dear," Wharton's voice was husky, and he continued to hold her hand with firm grip. "You've got to listen to me—and to believe me. What I told you about claiming Pepper Boy is the truth. And—you don't belong in this racing game. I want to get you out of it. It'd be different if you weren't so young and so utterly beautiful—"

Sherry broke in scornfully, "Suppose you drop my hand—and let me out of here!" He released his grip, stepped back. She was searing him with her eyes, "Don't you ever speak to me again as long as you live!"

Hot tears burned Sherry's eyes as she hurried through the crowd to the big man standing at the rail.

Uncle Willie was in a tense mood. He lifted his scarred old field glasses, surveyed the track. The handicap horses were parading to the post. Though Sherry stood beside him on the lawn bench behind the rail, the big fellow spoke as if to himself:

"In the paddock, they say Red Soldier's a standout—yet he's not even favorite—maybe young Wharton's putting over a good thing . . . wish I knew."

"He told me just a minute ago," Sherry said before she thought, "that Red Soldier would spreadeagle his field."

"He did, eh?" Uncle Bill lowered his glasses, asked in a flash: "How'd he say it—bragging or serious?"

"He—why—" Sherry tried to reconstruct the mood of the moment, "I guess it was bragging—in a way; but if his colt doesn't make good—well, he's laid himself wide open. And to a man who'll jeer plenty at him."

Willie Bond considered the matter for all of three seconds. Then went into action. "My dear, hold these glasses—hold my place—Business, my dear, business—be back in a moment."

The horses were at the post when he returned. Red Soldier, in the light green and cherry red blocks of the Wharton stable, was cutting up at the post—the starter was placing him outside.

"They're off!" the crowd yelled as the field sprang forward on the backstretch. Sherry saw the green and red shoot to the front—the jockey was cutting across to the rail—he had stolen the start—he was three lengths ahead!

Someone jammed up beside her on the bench; Uncle Willie. He exuded confidence. "Magnificent start—for Red Soldier," he exclaimed. "Just heard that—right after the race—Red Soldier will be cooled out, put in a van, and shipped to Churchill Downs—to prepare for the derby. Look at him! He's tow-roping the field—fancy!"

Sherry saw the colt 'way out in front, running into the far turn, open daylight between him and the field. Willie Bond was booming in her ear: "If that boy will just hold him snug till the last furlong—he's doing it—my word!—and he's still two lengths ahead and running easy. They're whipping, in the field behind him."

The rest of the race was a blur to Sherry. The horses swung into the stretch, a spot of green and cherry in front. Then she saw something yellow and black leap out from the pack of horses behind. Now two horses were fighting it out, down that short stretch.

Willie Bond seized Sherry's arm in vise-like grip. He was screaming in her ear: "Now's the time to make his run—come on, you rascal! Come on—don't let us down—turn him loose—let him run, you fool!"

The jockey on Red Soldier, as if he heard, lifted his reins, flung himself forward, began hand-riding his mount; pressing hands against the colt's neck—urging him on. A hundred feet from the wire the challenger came alongside—running fast. Then the bay leaped forward as if lashed from behind—in two mighty strides spurted a length ahead—swept under the wire—winner, going away!

"My word! What a colt!" Willie Bond exclaimed in awe. "The boy never touched him with a whip, either. And look!"—the time of the race was going up on the board—"he's equalled the track record!"

MACKENZIE KING REFERS TO U. S.

Canada's Attention Must Be On 'Old, New Friends,' He Says

OTTAWA, June 8.—(AP)—Prime minister W. L. MacKenzie King pointed Canada's attention today to "old and new friends" with a reference to the United States' possible help if a widening war [illegible] against the [illegible].

Speaking at a time when the world is expecting Italy to join Germany in the war, the prime minister said in a radio address Friday night:

"If new enemies appear, we may be sure that old and new friends will arise to help us. The worldwide significance of the conflict is being realized in every land.

"You know how earnestly and vigorously the president of the United States has spoken in the name of humanity. There has been mobilized in the cause of freedom the conscience of the civilized world, and tyranny will long remember the power of that conscience and the full effect of the world's condemnation upon the forces of evil."

MacKenzie King said attention hitherto had been centered on Germany as the sole enemy but added that the coming phase of the war "will witness operations in entirely new theatres of war" and "will most certainly be marked by conflict between nations that thus far have escaped or avoided hostilities."

Referring to a recent statement by Britain's prime minister Winston Churchill that the new world would carry on the fight if the worst should befall England and France, MacKenzie King declared Canada would rise to the challenge of new responsibilities in the war.

He disclosed that Canadian soldiers now are guarding strategic areas in Newfoundland, easternmost British possession in this hemisphere.

He said Canadian troops are serving in the British West Indies and the north Atlantic, but did not state whether by north Atlantic he meant any area other than Newfoundland.

"From the harbor of Dunkerque and from the citadel of Calais the bravest men in the world battled their way home to fight once more for liberty and goodness and mercy," he said.

"I speak the heart and mind of our country when I say that every fort in Canada will be another Calais and every harbor another Dunkerque before the men and women of our land allow the light and the life of their Christian faith to be extinguished by the powers of evil or yield their liberties to the tyranny of Nazi brutality."

HITLER AT CANADIAN MEMORIAL

SMALL DISTINCTIONS

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — (AP) — Monsieur Huguenin of the village of Tour-de-Peilz belongs to that fraternity whose mania is constructing the "world's-smallest-this-or-that." M. Huguenin, whose specialty is electrical engines, is busily competing with himself.

Last year he exhibited an electrical motor weighing sixteen grams (.564 ounce avoirdupois) housed in a match box. It was exhibited at the Swiss National exposition, billed as the world's smallest electrical engine—and there were no challengers.

This year M. Huguenin has constructed an electrical motor weighing only six grams (.212 ounce avoirdupois) which he has placed inside a pearl lent by a jeweler. He says that given time (he's only 45 now) he may do even better than that.

WANTA BE GLAMOUR GAL—HOW'S YOUR MUSCLE?

This job of being a glamour girl for the movies gets tougher and tougher, especially since the ticket-takers discovered that fans like to see glamour getting itself all mussed up.

When Marlene Dietrich and Una Merkel banged each other's faces on the barroom floor in that glamorized western, "Destry Rides Again," Universal had a potent selling campaign ready.

Then came a water fight between Brenda Joyce and Alice Faye in "Little Old New York," and a short glorious round by Margot Stevenson and Jane Wyman in "Flight Angels"—with goo added.

Lookit these scuffles . . .

All dressed up and some place to go, Brenda Joyce's hopes are soaked here by a water bucket and Alice Faye.

Plop! Gobs of cold cream, unkindly applied by Jane Wyman (it's her hand), makes Margot Stevenson heave an ash tray.

Face on the barroom floor is Marlene Dietrich's. Una Merkel has upper hand—you'll find it's in Marlene's hair.

During the first three months of 1940 795,162 new passenger cars were registered in the United States.

MACKENZIE KING REFERS TO U. S.

Canada's Attention Must Be On 'Old, New Friends,' He Says

OTTAWA, June 8.—(AP)—Prime minister W. L. MacKenzie King pointed Canada's attention today to "old and new friends"—with a reference to the United States—for possible help if a widening war ranges "new enemies" against the allies.

Speaking at a time when the world is expecting an Italian move to join Germany in the war, the prime minister said in a radio address Friday night:

"If new enemies oppose us, we may be sure that old and new friends will arise to help us. The world-wide significance of the conflict is being realized in every land.

"You know how earnestly and vigorously the president of the United States has spoken in the name of humanity. There has been mobilized in the cause of freedom the conscience of the civilized world, and tyranny will long remember the power of that conscience and the final effect of the world's condemnation upon the forces of evil."

MacKenzie King said attention hitherto had been centered on Germany as the sole enemy but added that the coming phase of the war "will witness operations in entirely new theaters of war" and "will most certainly be marked by conflict between nations that thus far have escaped or avoided hostilities."

Referring to a recent statement by Britain's prime minister Winston Churchill that the new world would carry on the fight if the worst should befall England and France, MacKenzie King declared Canada would rise to the challenge of new responsibilities in the war.

He disclosed that Canadian soldiers now are guarding strategic areas in Newfoundland, easternmost British possession in this hemisphere.

He said Canadian troops are serving in the British West Indies and the north Atlantic, but did not state whether by north Atlantic he meant any area other than Newfoundland.

"From the harbor of Dunkerque and from the citadel of Calais, the bravest men in the world battled their way home to fight once more for liberty and goodness and mercy," he said.

"I speak the heart and mind of our country when I say that every fort in Canada will be another Calais and every harbor another Dunkerque before the men and women of our land allow the light and the life of their Christian faith to be extinguished by the powers of evil or yield their liberties to the tyranny of Nazi brutality."

HITLER AT CANADIAN MEMORIAL

SMALL DISTINCTIONS

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — (AP) — Monsieur Huguenin of the village of Tour-de-Peilz belongs to that fraternity whose mania is constructing the "world's-smallest-this-or-that." M. Huguenin, whose specialty is electrical engines, is busily competing with himself.

Last year he exhibited an electrical motor weighing sixteen grams (.564 ounce avoirdupois) housed in a match box. It was exhibited at the Swiss National exposition, billed as the world's smallest electrical engine—and there were no challengers.

This year M. Huguenin has constructed an electrical motor weighing only six grams (.212 ounce avoirdupois) which he has placed inside a pearl lent by a jeweler. He says that given time (he's only 45 now) he may do even better than that.

WANTA BE GLAMOUR GAL—HOW'S YOUR MUSCLE?

This job of being a glamour girl for the movies gets tougher and tougher, especially since the ticket-takers discovered that fans like to see glamour getting itself all mussed up.

When Marlene Dietrich and Una Merkel banged each other's faces on the barroom floor in that glamorized western, "Destry Rides Again," Universal had a potent selling campaign ready.

Then came a water fight between Brenda Joyce and Alice Faye in "Little Old New York," and a short glorious round by Margot Stevenson and Jane Wyman in "Flight Angels"—with goo added.

Lookit these scuffles . . .

All dressed up and some place to go, Brenda Joyce's hopes are soaked here by a water bucket and Alice Faye.

Plop! Gobs of cold cream, unkindly applied by Jane Wyman (it's her hand), makes Margot Stevenson heave an ash tray.

Face on the barroom floor is Marlene Dietrich's. Una Merkel has upper hand—you'll find it's in Marlene's hair.

During the first three months of 1940 795,162 new passenger cars were registered in the United States.

A. B. CASH RITES SET FOR TODAY

West Monroe Resident Will Be Buried At 4 O'clock Sunday

A. B. Cash died Saturday morning at his home, 410 South Fifth street, in West Monroe.

Born in Pine Bluff, Ark., November 3, 1875, he married Miss Julia Wolle of that city and they moved to West Monroe in 1903, but later left the city. They returned in 1914 and have lived there since.

He was a member of the Painters' local union No. 901.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 4 p.m. Sunday, with Rev. E. L. Tanner officiating. Interment will be in the Hasley cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral home.

Active pallbearers will be Joe Varino, J. T. Roberts, J. W. McCarty, C. L. Ellington, C. A. Boyd and L. M. Lee.

Honorary pallbearers are all members of the Painters' union and Frank Davis, J. U. Joiner, L. B. Milner, Mr. Ventioner, Graham Edney, J. A. Newburn, C. S. Sanderford, Cecil Wilks, M. Browning, H. Averett and R. J. Zuberbier.

Mr. Cash is survived by his wife and seven children, J. L., R. W., W. L., and Clarence Cash, Miss Willie Mae Cash and Mrs. W. J. Grennan, all of West Monroe, and A. M. Cash, Shreveport; one sister, Mrs. John Bost, Pine Bluff, Ark., and one brother, James Cash, New Orleans.

INSTRUCTION ENDS

BUENOS AIRES, June 8.—(AP)—The government-sponsored instruction center for reserve officers was ordered dissolved today following a raid on an officers' banquet last night which police said was marked by pro-German demonstrations against Argentine neutrality.

TESTS ON CANCER PROVE PROMISING

New Attack By Science On Disease Is Outlined In Report

PASADENA, Calif., June 8.—(AP)—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, has disclosed a "promising" new attack by science upon cancer.

Dr. Millikan, giving his annual report of institute progress at the commencement exercises said:

"The cancer research program has had a remarkable chemical development—the further purification of a substance which, on injection into a tumor in an experimental animal, causes the tumor in many cases to shrivel up and disappear.

"The further study of this most promising attack on the cancer scourge is being carried out vigorously."

Among 300 research projects completed during the year, Dr. Millikan mentioned these:

"The study of the structure of proteins by X-ray and other physical methods has led to the development of a radical new theory of immunology which explains the formation of the antitoxins and their activity in protecting the body from disease.

"Long sought by the best chemists in the world because of possible medical value, a substance which is physiologically active has just been isolated from marihuana."

GAS-DISTILLATE AREA OPENED IN ARKANSAS

STAMPS, Ark., June 8.—(AP)—A new deep gas-distillate producing area for south Arkansas was opened today as Atlantic Refining company completed No. 1 Bodcaw Lumber Co., a wildcat in section 29-23-17, Lafayette county.

An hour after cleaning itself the well was flowing 13 barrels of 56.5-gravity white distillate through 14 64-inch tubing choke and a huge amount of gas. Production came from perforations made between 9,175-90 feet in porous oolitic lime. Bottom of hole is 9,207 feet.

DR. CLINE TO SPEAK

As special guest speaker in the pulpit of First Methodist church Sunday morning, Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary college, Shreveport, will feature the observance of Layman's day, an annual event in worldwide Methodism. Dr. Cline has appeared in Monroe on previous occasions, and is a popular figure at men's meetings. Mrs. Clyde Sanders and her chorus choir will present a program of special music at the evening hour. The public is invited.

GENERAL KILLED

HONGKONG, June 8.—(AP)—Japanese military dispatches reported today that Chinese General Sun Cheng had been killed in action in Hupeh province, where a bitter battle is progressing for possession of the Yangtze river treaty ports of Ichang and Shasi.

NAVAL STRENGTH IS HELD GREATER

Balance In Favor Of Allies More Than At Outbreak Of War

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—An official source stated today that "the balance of naval strength in favor of the Allies is now far greater than at the outbreak of war."

The statement said:

"Since the beginning of the war in addition to reinforcements of warships in all classes except battleships the navy has been strengthened by more than 50 armed merchant cruisers and more than 1,500 minor war vessels and auxiliary craft of which 58 have been lost.

"The French navy is a very powerful and rapidly growing force.

"The allied fleets have been reinforced by active cooperation of Polish, Norweigian and Duch naval forces.

"During the next few months the Royal navy will receive a further large increase in strength comprising every category of warship from battleships to motor torpedoboats and a very large number of auxiliary craft."

The statement listed the following losses: One of 15 capital ships; one of seven aircraft carriers; two of 62 cruisers; 20 of 185 destroyers; eight of 58 submarines; six of 108 minesweepers, sloops, patrol vessels and gunboats."

GERMANS ARE ENLISTED TO BACK UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Formation of the German-American Congress for Democracy, an organization of American citizens of German descent who believe in United States support for the Allies, was announced today by Dr. Frank Bohn.

Dr. Bohn, a Washington, D. C., writer and lecturer, is a son-in-law of Daniel C. Roper, former secretary of commerce.

"We hope to organize Germans on a national basis to support the government in its present and future efforts to combat Hitler," explained Dr. Bohn.

The five largest states in area, in order of size, are Texas, California, Montana, New Mexico and Arizona.

LAMOUR'S LONG LOCKS SNIPPED FOR PICTURE

HOLLYWOOD, June 8—(AP)—Dorothy Lamour has won a vacation from her sarong—but it cost her her long, coal-black hair.

BIG ARMY GUNS PROVED WORTHY

New, Surprising Task Accomplished By Heavy Weapons

In the interval between 1931 and 1940 the years in which the German Blitz-machine developed, some men both here and abroad [illegible] enough words to fill a large [illegible] encyclopedia.

Every German success forced some military man to admit an error of judgment, while others could crow "I told you so."

Cavalrymen went to bed to dream of their horses and woke up to find Hitler's motor legions cutting one of the world's most renowned horse-cavalry armies in Poland.

Ordinance experts decided upon the 37-millimeter anti-tank gun as standard for the United States and within one year were forced to consider the need for a heavier weapon.

Their first answer was the modernized French 75, the gun which they planted at the crossroads of Texas and Louisiana.

It also was the hurried answer of the French themselves, who at virtually the same moment rolled their 75s into action against the onrushing super-heavy tanks of the Germans in Flanders.

"DODGE TWO-TONE Is Year Ahead of Time"
—say Famous Style Experts

"There's no doubt now what car is out front in the 'Color Parade.' In my opinion, this new 'TWO-TONE' Dodge is at least a year ahead of time in Color Harmony and Design."—Sally Milgrim, Famous Fashion Originator and head of Milgrim, New York.

★ NOW ON DISPLAY!... Come in and See a Beautiful Car, and the Biggest "Value Package" in Town...at your Dodge Dealer's

YOU simply haven't seen "TWO-TONE" at its best until you see how Dodge has interpreted it.

It is utterly new...entirely unlike any color finish you've ever seen—on any car—at any price! And so attractive leading style experts call it a year-ahead achievement in color harmony!

But Dodge "TWO-TONE" was designed to be seen...not just read about! And that means you simply must get a "close-up" without delay.

Right now, at your Dodge Dealer's, there's a special display of these Dodge "Two-Tone" eyefuls.

Go see it! And don't forget that under its breath-taking beauty are the sturdiness and dependability for which Dodge has always been famous. And the Economy, too... the gas and oil savings that mean money in your pocket! The low upkeep! The high Dodge trade-in value that is traditional everywhere.

And remember, Dodge prices start at just a few dollars more than the smaller, low-priced cars. What's more, your present car may make the full down-payment—balance on easy budget terms. For an "eye-opening" appraisal, visit your Dodge dealer right away! Stop in today or tomorrow sure.

SALES ARE BLAZIN'!

New car buyers! Take a tip from motor-wise Detroit, automobile center of the world, where Dodge outsells all other cars*, except the three largest-selling lowest-priced makes. Detroit buyers know cars and their tribute to Dodge is convincing proof of Dodge value, dependability, economy and beauty! And Dodge sales are blazin' right across the country!

...SO YOUR DODGE DEALER NEEDS GOOD USED CARS NOW!

New Attack By Science On Disease Is Outlined In Report

PASADENA, Calif., June 8.—(AP)—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, has disclosed a "promising" new attack by science upon cancer.

Dr. Millikan, giving his annual report of institute progress at the commencement exercises said:

"The cancer research program has had a remarkable chemical development—the further purification of a substance which, on injection into a tumor in an experimental animal, causes the tumor in many cases to shrivel up and disappear.

"The further study of this most promising attack on the cancer scourge is being carried out vigorously."

Among 300 research projects completed during the year, Dr. Millikan mentioned these:

"The study of the structure of proteins by X-ray and other physical methods has led to the development of a radical new theory of immunology which explains the formation of the antitoxins and their activity in protecting the body from disease.

"Long sought by the best chemists in the world because of possible medical value, a substance which is physiologically active has just been isolated from marihuana."

GAS-DISTILLATE AREA OPENED IN ARKANSAS

STAMPS, Ark., June 8.—(AP)—A new deep gas-distillate producing area for south Arkansas was opened today as Atlantic Refining company completed No. 1 Bodcaw Lumber Co., a wildcat in section 29-23-17, Lafayette county.

An hour after cleaning itself the well was flowing 13 barrels of 56.5-gravity white distillate through 14/64-inch tubing choke and a huge amount of gas. Production came from perforations made between 9,175-90 feet in porous oolitic lime. Bottom of hole is 9,207 feet.

DR. CLINE TO SPEAK

As special guest speaker in the pulpit of First Methodist church Sunday morning, Dr. Pierce Cline, president of Centenary college, Shreveport, will feature the observance of Layman's day, an annual event in worldwide Methodism. Dr. Cline has appeared in Monroe on previous occasions, and is a popular figure at men's meetings. Mrs. Clyde Sanders and her chorus choir will present a program of special music at the evening hour. The public is invited.

GENERAL KILLED

HONGKONG, June 8.—(AP)—Japanese military dispatches reported today that Chinese General Sun Cheng had been killed in action in Hupeh province, where a bitter battle is progressing for possession of the Yangtze river treaty ports of Ichang and Shasi.

NAVAL STRENGTH IS HELD GREATER

Balance In Favor Of Allies More Than At Outbreak Of War

LONDON, June 8.—(AP)—An official source stated today that "the balance of naval strength in favor of the Allies is now far greater than at the outbreak of war."

The statement said:

"Since the beginning of the war in addition to reinforcements of warships in all classes except battleships the navy has been strengthened by more than 50 armed merchant cruisers and more than 1,500 minor war vessels and auxiliary craft of which 58 have been lost.

"The French navy is a very powerful and rapidly growing force.

"The allied fleets have been reinforced by active cooperation of Polish, Norweigian and Duch naval forces.

"During the next few months the Royal navy will receive a further large increase in strength comprising every category of warship from battleships to motor torpedoboats and a very large number of auxiliary craft."

The statement listed the following losses: One of 15 capital ships; one of seven aircraft carriers; two of 62 cruisers; 20 of 185 destroyers; eight of 58 submarines; six of 108 minesweepers, sloops, patrol vessels and gunboats."

GERMANS ARE ENLISTED TO BACK UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Formation of the German-American Congress for Democracy, an organization of American citizens of German descent who believe in United States support for the Allies, was announced today by Dr. Frank Bohn.

Dr. Bohn, a Washington, D. C., writer and lecturer, is a son-in-law of Daniel C. Roper, former secretary of commerce.

"We hope to organize Germans on a national basis to support the government in its present and future efforts to combat Hitler," explained Dr. Bohn.

LAMOUR'S LONG LOCKS SNIPPED FOR PICTURE

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—(AP)—Dorothy Lamour has won a vacation from her sarong—but it cost her her long, coal-black hair.

BIG ARMY GUNS PROVED WORTHY

New, Surprising Task Accomplished By Heavy Weapons

By E. C. Daniel

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—An alert reserve officer at the war games in the south last month saw 75-millimeter (3-inch) guns assigned a new and surprising task:

They were mounted at crossroads, ready to fire point blank at any enemy tank column that might clank into range.

The officer recalled that, only seven years earlier, he had been taught at Fort Benning, Ga., that a .50-caliber machine gun would penetrate the heaviest tank armor practicable for use.

In the interval between 1933 and 1940, the years in which the German Blitz-machine developed, some army men both here and abroad swallowed enough words to fill a large military encyclopedia.

Every German success forced some military man to admit an error of judgment; while others could crow "I told you so."

Cavalrymen went to bed to dream of their horses and woke up to find Hitler's motor legions routing one of the world's most renowned horse-cavalry armies in Poland.

Ordinance experts decided upon the 37-millimeter anti-tank gun as standard for the United States and within one year were forced to consider the need for a heavier weapon.

Their first answer was the modernized French 75, the gun which they planted at the crossroads of Texas and Louisiana.

It also was the hurried answer of the French themselves, who at virtually the same moment rolled their 75's into action against the onrushing super-heavy tanks of the Germans in Flanders.

There was positive evidence, it seemed, that American generals were alert to the lessons they were learning, without cost of men and munitions, from the war in Europe. And the lessons came fast.

One day an official war department spokesman said the army had planned only one mechanized division. There might be another, he added, but nothing had been decided.

The very next day President Roosevelt told congress that the "almost increditable events" of just two weeks in Europe demanded a billion more dollars of defense spending. Literally overnight, the possibility of not one, not two, but four mechanized divisions took shape.

What, now, do American generals think is needed to defend the United States?

Major General John K. Herr, chief of cavalry, has been quoted by Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, as recommending four mechanized cavalry divisions, totalling some 1,200 combat vehicles, plus an equal number of vehicles for infantry use.

That also is Lodge's recommendation. Four divisions would be approximately one-third the size of Germany's land armada, reported to number 12 divisions.

Numerous military authorities hold that the United States need not maintain an armed force as large as Germany's, because of the difficulty of transporting mechanized armies across America's protective oceans and the differences in home terrain between Europe and the United States.

Today, the United States has only one mechanized brigade. Scattered through the infantry are 19 tanks companies.

All told, on May 1, the army possessed 114 combat cars, 309 old-model light tanks (about 10 tons each), 10 new light tanks and 18 medium tanks (about 17 tons)—a total of 451 tanks, plus 485 scout cars.

(Combat cars, used by the cavalry, and light tanks, by the infantry, are essentially the same except that the tank has two gun turrets, the combat car one. Scout cars carry riflemen and machine gunners for reconnaissance duty and are not heavily armored.)

Under the president's first re-arming program, the army would have acquired 1,146 combat cars and tanks, light and medium, plus 1,346 scout cars. Assuming that the new billion-dollar plan would add 1,500 tanks, there would be more than enough to meet Senator Lodge's demand.

"Unfortunately," Lodge said, "we probably won't get that mechanization set-up until December, 1941." For tanks are practically hand-made at the Rock Island arsenal.

With an automobile industry that produces more than 80 per cent of the world's motor vehicles, the United States should, its experts believe, excel any nation in the productive capacity and quality of its tank manufacturers.

Lodge has proposed that "we ought to turn a standard model over to Ford or General Motors and tell them to stamp it out." Tanks would be produced in droves, though hardly like family sedans.

Since the Battle of Cambrai during the World war, it has been a military axiom that tanks must be employed in such droves to be effective. Germany has used them that way.

BUT CUPID LIKES AUGUST, TOO

That old line about June's being the month of weddings is correct, a new survey finds—but August isn't far behind. The survey, made by the publication, "Jewelers' Circular-Keystone," shows that 40,261 marriage licenses were issued in the 50 largest cities last June and 34,570 in August. The chart gives survey results.

PERSHING URGES HELP FOR ALLIES

America Has Vital Concern In Outcome, U. S. General Says

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing urged today that the United States send to the allies "unlimited quantities" of airplanes, artillery, small arms and ammunition as well as food, clothing and medical supplies.

Appealing in a statement for contributions to the Red Cross, the commander of the American World war army asserted that the allies were fighting "a war for civilization" and that they were "holding our front line."

"We have a vital concern in the outcome," he said.

In talking to reporters a short time previously, Pershing said he was heartily in favor of compulsory military service in this country. He added that if such a plan were adopted an immediate expansion of the army would be possible in case of a threatened invasion. He recalled that the training of recruits for World war duty had required many months.

Asserting in his statement that "there is no time to lose," Pershing continued:

"The allies need every encouragement it is possible for us to give."

that no agreement yet had been reached on several important appropriations items and that the legislative committee would continue to work on them during the week-end.

The house appropriations committee begins daily sessions Monday with all other business subordinated to the general spending schedules.

"It will take hard work," Governor Jones said, "but they still can get the bill out by Thursday."

Each legislator before he left for the week-end was handed a list of 120 bills passage of which the administration considers essential to the fulfilment of its promises. Yet house members ignored speaker Norman Bauer's pleas for a full day's work in the chamber and in committees Monday and adjourned not to meet until 8 p.m.

No major Jones measure has yet run the gauntlet of hearings to bring out opposition outside the legislature, but a full schedule of open committee meetings, both on administration and independent measures, is set for next week.

Expected to attract most attention is the session Thursday afternoon on a wholesale license tax amounting to a modified sales tax, which first was described by an administrationist as a Jones measure, then disclaimed by the governor.

It would set a graduated license based on sales, increasing present rates from four to thirty fold and amounting to a tax of slightly more than the present one per cent sales tax.

The governor is pledged to repeal of this, without cutting down public services, although the welfare fund stands to lose about $8,500,000 a year.

The administration's avowed replacement include increases in income and liquor taxes, a new processing tax on natural gas and increases in the collections from gasoline and other motor fuels.

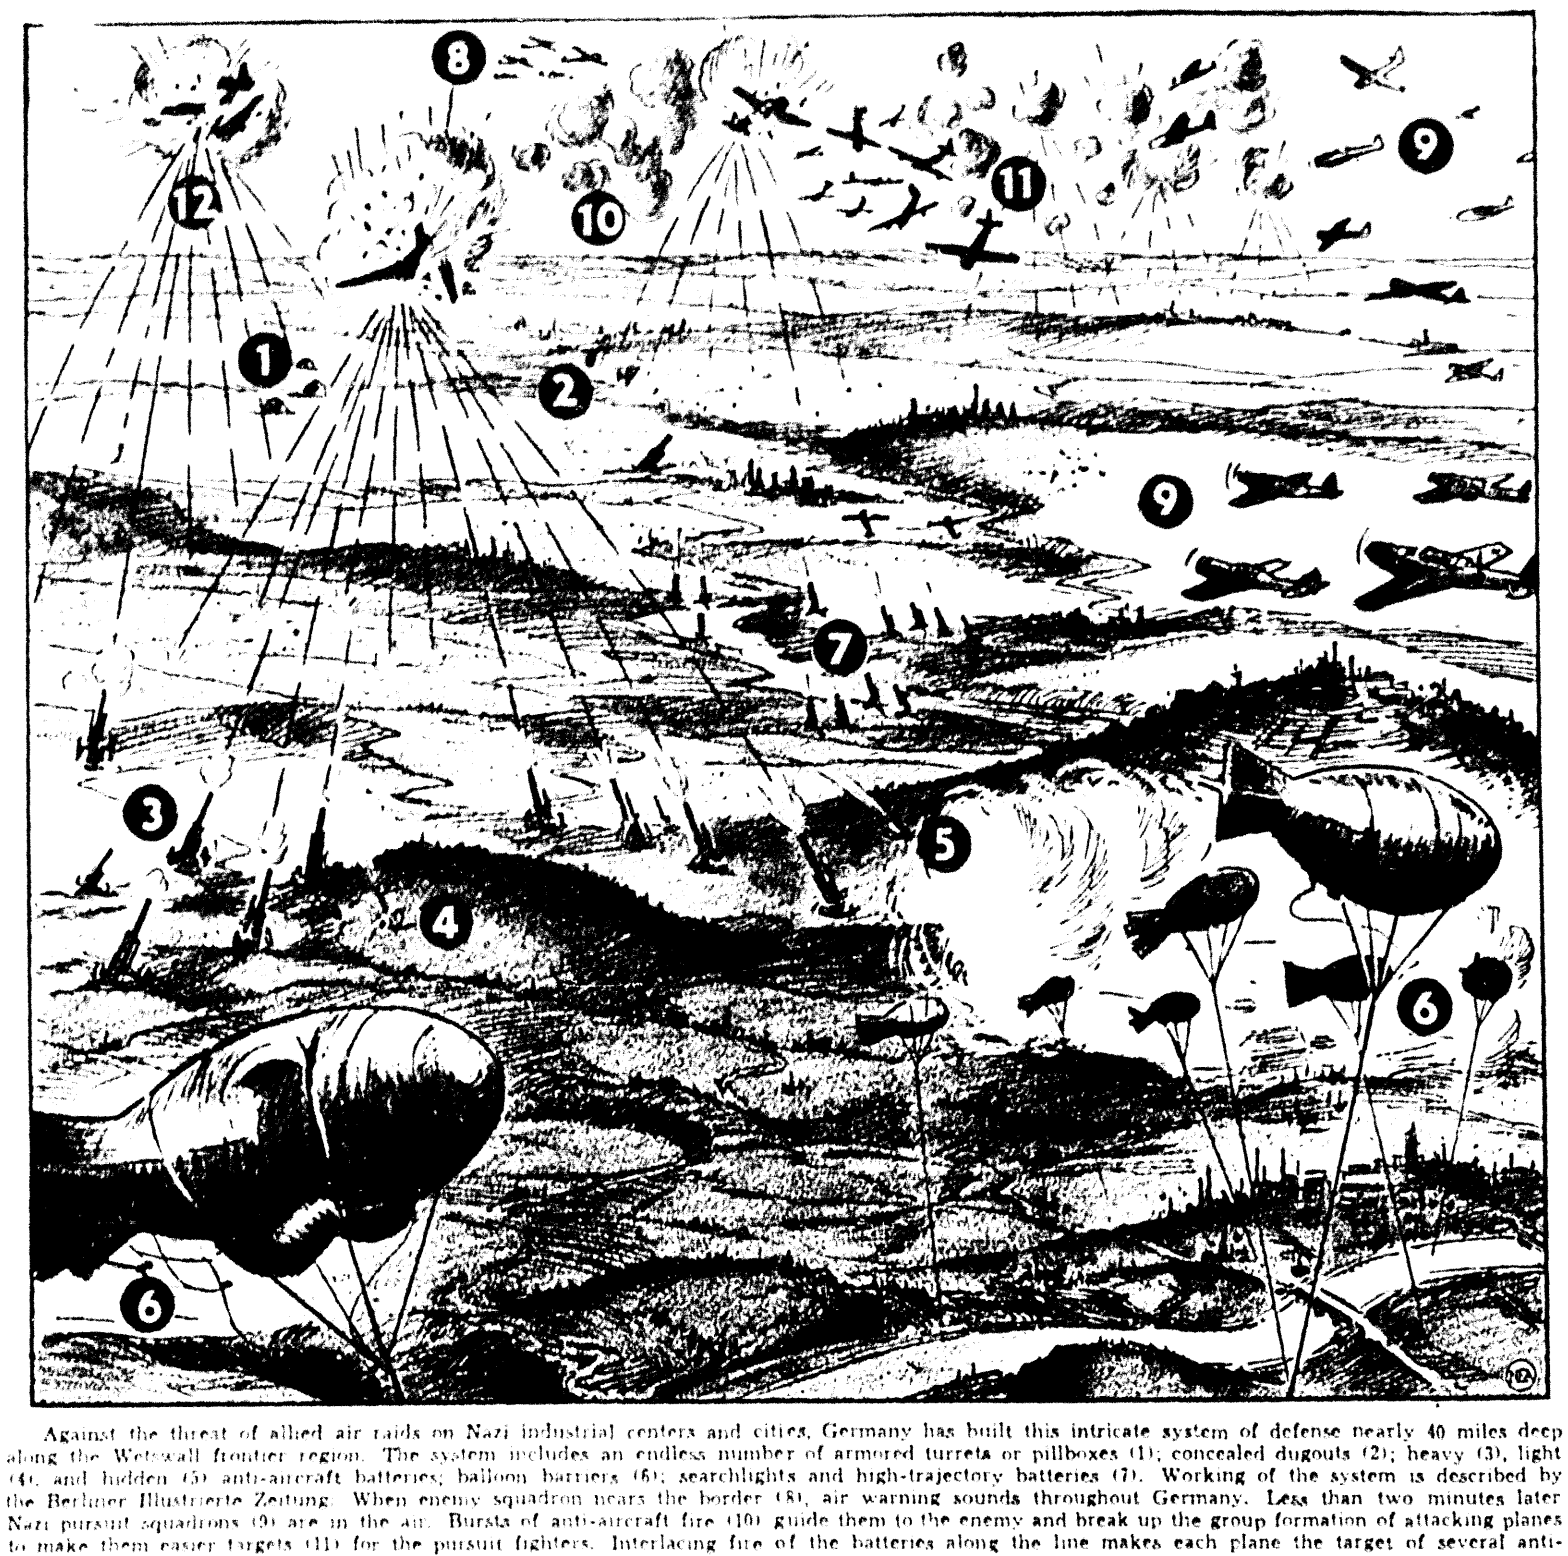
HERE'S HOW GERMANS CLAIM THEY STOP AIR RAIDS AT WESTWALL



Against the threat of allied air raids on Nazi industrial centers and cities, Germany has built this intricate system of defense nearly 40 miles deep along the Wetswall frontier region. The system includes an endless number of armored turrets or pillboxes (1); concealed dugouts (2); heavy (3), light (4), and hidden (5) anti-aircraft batteries; balloon barriers (6); searchlights and high-trajectory batteries (7). Working of the system is described by the Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung. When enemy squadron nears the border (8), air warning sounds throughout Germany. Less than two minutes later Nazi pursuit squadrons (9) are in the air. Bursts of anti-aircraft fire (10) guide them to the enemy and break up the group formation of attacking planes to make them easier targets (11) for the pursuit fighters. Interlacing fire of the batteries along the line makes each plane the target of several anti-aircraft crews (12), with apparent deadly results. Captive balloons are sent up after sounding of alarm.

MAYOR, SHERIFF FACING CHARGES

which still stands except for two nol prossed by District Attorney Al Hundley.

Mayor Lamkin was named today in one indictment on 40 counts charging bribery, and in another on one embezzlement count. Sheriff Downs was named in two indictments on a total of eight embezzlement counts.

The police jury members were indicted on three charges of illegal use of public funds by buying equipment from others than the lowest bidders. They include R. J. Sasser, president; W. W. Black, Jesse Boyd, J. S. Linzay, C. C. Lanzay, C. A. Johnson, Dewitt James, John W. Ward, Hershel McGinty, E. E. Flowers, D. L. Glasscock, J. C. Brown and H. L. Williams.

Following the return of the true bills last fall former state Representative William T. Bradford, indicted then and today also, brought charges that members of the grand jury had acted illegally in going counter to the advice of District Attorney Hundley in bringing in the indictments.

Justice of the Peace E. J. Vallery of Pineville entertained Bradford's affidavits and ordered the jurors arrested, but District Judge R. C. Culpepper later released them from the charges. Meanwhile District Judge L. L. Hooe dismissed the grand jury on grounds that the members were under criminal charges, but the state supreme court later reinstated the body.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley, superseding Hundley, recently named John W. Hawthorn as the jury's legal adviser.

Bradford, who had been indicted December 1 on charges of embezzling and dual office-holding, was named today in five true bills, charging embezzlement, attempt to evade income tax, perjury and extortion.

Former state Representative Jesse F. Lucas was charged on two counts with perjury.

J. Nelson Ball, Jr., district highway maintenance superintendent under the last administration, was charged on four counts with extortion and two with embezzlement.

Others indicted today included Robert Cloud, offering to buy a vote; John Lacombe, selling whisky on election day; Ernest Strother, offering to buy votes; John W. Ward, illegal sale of the police jury; Ben F. Bradford, bribery.

Bradford is commissioner of finance and public utilities for Alexandria. Cloud is a member of the Rapides parish school board. Also indicted were E. W. Mizell, Jr., employe of the state colony, extortion, Thomas L. Owen, extortion, and Guy Lacomb, selling whiskey on election day.

Parking For One Hour

Section 58. Be it further ordained, etc., That it shall be unlawful for any person to park, station or stop a vehicle for a longer period of time than one hour in the business district as defined in section 1 hereof; provided that such provisions shall not apply on days from Monday to Friday inclusive before 8 a.m. nor after 6 p.m., nor on Saturdays before 8 a.m. nor after 9 p.m., nor at any time on Sundays, Christmas day, Fourth of July and Thanksgiving day.

No Stops

Section 59. Be it further ordained, etc., That it shall be unlawful for any person to stop a vehicle even momentarily, except in an emergency or to make a traffic stop as required by this ordinance:

(a) In any street intersection or within twenty (20) feet thereof:

(b) On any street when and where another vehicle stands between the vehicle driven and the right hand curb.

(c) On any street in any position other than with both right hand wheels within eighteen (18) inches of the right hand curb, except if on the left side of a one-way street, both left hand wheels must be within eighteen (18) inches of the left hand curb.

(d) On the same side of the street within fifteen (15) feet of any fire hydrant.

(e) On either side of the street and within thirty (30) feet on either side of the entrance of any fire station.

(f) On the same side of the street with and so as to obstruct any alley, driveway, entrance or exit of private premises; or shipping door authorized by the chief of police and the limits thereof designated by signs erected or lines painted on the street or curb at the beginning and ending of said limits.

(g) On the same side of the street with and adjoining any school ground on school days between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

(h) On the south side of Grammont street from its intersection with Catalpa street to its intersection with Hall street.

(i) In any space provided for stops for buses on the street bus system of the city of Monroe; provided the extent of such limits be clearly designated by signs erected or lines painted on the street or curb.

(j) In any alley so as to obstruct the safe passage thereof by any vehicle, or so as to obstruct or block a shipping door or other entrance or exit to any building.

(k) On any sidewalk or cross walk.

(l) Except to load or unload freight or merchandise, on the same side of street, with and so as to obstruct any space designated by the chief of police as a loading and unloading zone when the limits thereof are designated by signs erected or by lines painted on the street or curb at the beginning and ending of said limits.

MERCHANDISE MART WILL OPEN JULY 21

The third annual Monroe Merchandise Mart will be held at the Virginia Hotel, July 21-22, sponsored by the North Louisiana Traveling Men's association, President Fred P. Mitchell said Saturday.

As in previous years, this mart will be an exhibition of approximately 50 lines of merchandise of various manufacturers of the nation. Approximately 300 retail merchants of three states are expected to attend.

The entire third and fourth floors of the hotel will be used for this occasion, President Mitchell said. The mart will open Sunday July 21 with a complimentary banquet and program in honor of visiting buyers, it was announced. The rest of the week will be devoted by the buyers to the study of merchandise on exhibition and purchases according to their needs.

One of the outstanding events of the year here the mart has become a popular institution and has definitely put Monroe out in the front as a merchandising center.

BUSINESS BOOMS OVER HUGE WAR

tory expansion, providing arrangement is made for rapid charge-offs of war facilities. President Roosevelt has indicated public funds would be available, too.

Aircraft, tool and chemical industries were major contributors to increased industrial construction under way. Contracts for factories and other industrial structures in the first five months of this year totaled $171,000,000 compared with $73,000,000 in the like 1939 period, according to "Engineering News-Record."

The shift to war industry was accompanied this week by a further rise in leading production barometers, notably steel. A fifth consecutive weekly advance lifted the Associated Press index of industrial activity to the highest level since February. This index has regained about half its loss in the winter and early spring slump.

Wall Street speculative markets, however, remained cautious despite the climb in the business curve and the preparations for heavy plant expenditures to equip war industry. Brokers ascribed the apathy of the markets partly to anticipation of individual and corporate income tax boosts to meet the soaring arms bills.

The new German thrust into France and the Italian threat of war in the Mediterranean likewise kept speculators on the sidelines waiting the outcome, brokers said.

A boom in steel-making, fed by a wave of buying to acquire inventories before the U. S. defense program gets into full stride, marked the transition to a war economy. Some trade sources predicted the steel production rate, which has risen from 65 to above 80 per cent of capacity in the last month, would cross 85 next week.

More furnaces were going into blast to make metal for shells, ships, tanks, tools, engines, motorized equipment and for new factories.

ITALY WILL BOMB ENGLAND'S CITIES

except for Pope Pius' Wednesday audience.

Relazioni Internazionali, authoritative Fascist weekly, declared the Italians are on the "eve of a solemn event" which will be a "war of supreme independence."

To inform foreigners, the weekly said, six reasons why Italy is going to war were given. They were:

1. Italy has followed a peace policy for 18 years seeking to "balance positions, shorten distances and impose new, more humane political formulas."

2. France and England always have opposed Mussolini's policies.

3. When the "Italian people asked for land to work they were offered deserts."

4. "Everything Italian, in domestic policy as well as in the international field, has been ostentatiously undervalued by the French and British."

5. "Democratic Europe, which has deprecated the Italian people, can only be fought. The Italian people have reached the limit of their patience. . . . This war must solve territorial questions for the Italian people which are Nice, Corsica, Tunisia and Jibuti."

6. "The life of the Italian people is subject to French and English control. Italy must insure her independence on the sea."

GERMANS GAINING WITH HUGE LOSSES

the Chemin-Des-Dames ridge to the sea, on a line now 110 miles long, with German tanks attacking and the Allies counter-attacking on land and from the air.

War alarms mounted meanwhile in the Balkans as the Rumanian war ministry called five classes of reservists to the colors.

Italy was poised on the edge of war and Rome foreign observers thought she would enter the fray in less than a week.

The French withdrawal, under the pressure of a million Germans and 3,000 tanks, apparently was forced in the main by a 20-mile break-through on the west flank by 200 to 300 tanks.

Through this gap the tanks crossed the Bresle river and plunged on nearly 20 miles south to Forges-Les-Eaux.

There—midway betwen the river and Rouen—Allied soldiers and airplanes counter-attacked.

The main Nazi drives came south from the region of Roye in the Oise valley and from the Bresle toward Forges-Les-Eaux.

In Germany, military sources declared that the "greatest offensive in history" is going just the way the Nazi high command planned it.

Eschewing details of the fighting, the high command said the German army is crunching steadily toward Paris in the wake of its battering tanks and death dealing stukas.

Progress was claimed for four main thrusts and Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, defined the German campaign in France as:

First, a drive over the Bresle river to extend Germany's control of the northwestern coast of Europe from the Arctic circle to south of the mouth of the Somme;

Second, drives south from Amiens, Peronne and the Oise-Aisne canal.

These drives were aimed to reach their smashing climax at Paris.

The French admiralty related that a squadron of naval planes bombed factories in Berlin's suburbs and returned unscathed.

"Absolutely untrue" said the Germans. "We have been out looking for damage with spyglasses. There have been no air raid alarms in Berlin and no rumors of damage."

Britain, holding up her part in the battle of France with her hard working Royal Air force, took a heavy blow at sea, the sinking of the armed merchant cruiser Carinthia, 20,277 tons.

The Carinthia, largest merchant ship sunk by enemy action in the war, was torpedoed by a submarine. Two officers and two crewmen were killed, the rest saved. In peacetime the Carinthia carried a crew of 405.

Many bombing sorties and reconnaissances were carried out by the R. A. F. which reported downing 17 German planes Friday against 13 British ships missing.

FRENCH FALL BACK

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—The French were falling back tonight along nearly 60 miles of the front but still fighting against the German offensive on Paris—facing the strongest attack of the war and the most massive mechanized onslaught in military history.

The Germans threw 60 infantry divisions and seven armored divisions—more than 1,000,000 men and 3,500 tanks—into the assault south of the Somme.

This mighty push reached its peak in the center of the front, where reserves were brought up in the Oise valley—the route to Paris—and hurled into the battle in the region of Roye and Noyon, in an area 48 miles north of this capital.

In this sector alone the Germans were estimated to have used half a million men. Starting at dawn, after dive bombers, artillery and tanks had opened the way, the Nazi infantry charged, each man holding the shoulder of the man before him.

The French were outnumbered in infantry.

North of the capital the French withdrew for the second successive day. The general fall-back was called a "retirement maneuver," and a military spokesman declared the main line remained unbroken.

The Nazis also struck a tremendous blow on the French right (east) flank and succeeded in establishing a foothold on the south bank of the Aisne river. In that sector, the French were counter-attacking bitterly.

German pressure diminished tonight on the extreme left (west) flank, where the Bresle river blocked their infantry. A tank column of 200 to 300 which penetrated south to Forges-les-Eaux was reported being pounded to bits by French artillery and cannon-firing planes.

The battle raged with varying intensity all along the new, shortened 110-mile front from the sea to the Aisne.

Military authorities not given to exaggeration called the battle frankly "the greatest of all time." The number of tanks used almost doubled those employed in the battle of the Meuse, when the Germans broke through to the sea.

On the central sector of the front—running nearly 60 miles from Aumale on the Bresle to Noyon on the Oise—the Nazis sent wave after wave of machines and men smashing against the French lines.

German losses were reported by the French high command to be "enormous"—but still they came.

The French clung to the support points of the Weygand line on the rolling hills and in the scattered woods of the battlefield, pouring fire into the tanks with their artillery.

The advance guards had fallen back Friday under General Maxime Weygand's orders and the movement continued Saturday night after French frontline positions had been swamped under the attack waves.

But still ahead of the Germans stretched a field of barriers all the way to Paris.

The allied air forces, outnumbered since the start of the campaign, stayed in the battle with one squadron of more than 150 bombers protected by both British and French pursuit planes and raining explosives on the German lines.

Some planes swooped down to an altitude of only 50 feet to bomb and machine-gun enemy tanks and troops.

An air ministry communique announced German pontoon bridges over the Somme were destroyed Friday night and that Reichswehr reinforcements were dispersed, while navy bombers raided factories in the Berlin outskirts.

One pursuit squadron was reported to have attacked a German tank park and to have destroyed a "considerable number" of machines.

The Germans moved in two vast thrusts: From south of Roye in the Oise valley in the center, and to Forges-les-Eaux on the west flank.

The action nearest Paris was in General Maxime Weygand's thick and heavy center line. The fighting raged on both banks of the Oise—the river whose valleys lead down to Paris—and was declared especially frightful in the deep shadows of the Ourscamp forest south of Noyon.

While the front thus erupted with new week-end violence, the French replied to the Nazi raid of last Monday which killed and wounded about 1,000 Parisians.

The supreme effort of the Germans had created this general change in the front:

It had fallen back from the Somme to the Bresle in the west, from Ham to the region of Noyon in the center and from the Ailette to the Aisne in the east.

Much of the slow German advance was attributed by the French to general strategic withdrawals to avoid being outflanked by the two-headed German thrust pushing down directly toward Paris on the one hand and toward Rouen in the west.

But the bulk of the French infantry and world-famous artillery still stood intact against the pounding of German tanks and dive bombers.

Too, it was disclosed for the first time that Polish artillery had joined the defenders.

On the French right flank, where some Germans crossed the Aisne Friday east of Soissons only to be annihilated by French fire, counterattacks were reported to have cleaned up the entire south bank, reestablishing a solid front.

In Paris, from which thousands were in orderly flight, the authorities asked racing motorcyclists to enlist in a special corps of parachutist-chasers already formed by the city's motorcycle police.

Mrs. Cobb was born in Scooba, Miss., June 22, 1859. She married and lived there until the death of her husband. She moved to Meridian, Miss., and from there to Gulfport, Miss. She resided there for 30 years when she came to Monroe last October.

She was a member of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Cobb is survived by five daughters, Mrs. C N. Jones and Miss Lottie Cobb, Monroe; Mrs. J. T. Sullivan, Winnfield; Mrs. S. M. Garner, Meridian, Miss., and Mrs. B. Hartzog, Palestine, Tex.

Pallbearers will be A. N. Palley, J. T. Deal, W. S. Lambert, C. L. Taylor, G. O. Hibbard, A. J. Strother, G. F. Snapp and A. S. Johnson. All are stewards of the Gordon Avenue Methodist church.

POILUS' TECHNIQUE DEFENSE LEADER

gions is cracking through Dutch, Belgian and French defense positions guarded by tank traps has virtually scrapped all previous theories of how to deal with that menace.

In the Weygand web battle, however, there are looming the elements of new lessons for military experts, lessons certain to be reflected sharply in the American defense set up. Even if that web fails to save France, it has already taught the world much both as to the strength and weakness of tank and dive bomber attack. These lessons undoubtedly will be visible in construction of new American mechanized units and in the equipment and training of the army to meet a tank and air onslaught.

At sea, the lessons of this war are not as yet so clear. There has been no dramatic battle between fleets of the air and of the sea to give a certain answer to the controversy that has raged for more than two decades over the relative strength of sea and air power.

It can be argued that it was looming failure of Nazi air power, supplementing submarine attack, to break the Franco-British sea blockade of Germany that precipitated the German blitzkrieg in the west. Certainly, air superiority over the allies was a vital element of the German drive that within a month ravaged Holland and Belgium and now is stabbing at the heart of France.

Unless Italy enters the struggle, no actual test of air versus sea power may come out of the war to guide American or any other non-belligerent national defense planning. With Italy in, however, and Franco-British fleet strength mobilized in the Mediterranean as the major weapon at the disposal of the allies, events in that sea could furnish a convincing answer to the still moot question of sea versus air power.

placement of a 2 1-2 cents tax on every 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. This tax would positively cause the loss of large scale gas production in the greater Monroe gas fields and subsequent reduction of employment and payrolls, Joe Marx, Sr., chairman of the legislative committee, said.

Another tax is that provided for in House Bill No. 917, which would create license tax on wholesalers. This tax would definitely destroy wholesalers in Monroe, it was said. There a at present 71 establishments in Monroe, which provide a million-dollar payroll to 918 employes. This tax would destroy 90 per cent of them, it was pointed out.

Other proposed taxes would impose heavier income levies on corporations which are aready overburdened with taxes, Chairman Marx said. It was pointed out that a principle of the sales tax is that it is a tried and proven medium throughout the United States, and that it is now providing revenue badly needed for social services in the state, he added.

"It is further believed," President Boardman said, "that the proposed repeal of this tax is based on political expedience and not on the justness of such a tax or need for it. Let all interested citizens of the Twin Cities petition their representatives in the state government in behalf of the sales tax and to kill the proposed bills which are designed to replace it."

PERSHING URGES HELP FOR ALLIES

America Has Vital Concern In Outcome, U. S. General Says

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—General John J. Pershing urged today that the United States send to the allies "unlimited quantities" of airplanes, artillery, small arms and ammunition as well as food, clothing and medical supplies.

Appealing in a statement for contributions to the Red Cross, the commander of the American World war army asserted that the allies were fighting "a war for civilization" and that they were "holding our front line."

"We have a vital concern in the outcome," he said.

In talking to reporters a short time previously, Pershing said he was heartily in favor of compulsory military service in this country. He added that if such a plan were adopted an immediate expansion of the army would be possible in case of a threatened invasion. He recalled that the training of recruits for World war duty had required many months.

Asserting in his statement that "there is no time to lose," Pershing continued:

"The allies need every encouragement it is possible for us to give."

that no agreement yet had been reached on several important appropriations items and that the legislative committee would continue to work on them during the week-end.

The house appropriations committee begins daily sessions Monday with all other business subordinated to the general spending schedules.

"It will take hard work," Governor Jones said, "but they still can get the bill out by Thursday."

Each legislator before he left for the week-end was handed a list of 120 bills passage of which the administration considers essential to the fulfilment of its promises. Yet house members ignored speaker Norman Bauer's pleas for a full day's work in the chamber and in committees Monday and adjourned not to meet until 8 p.m.

No major Jones measure has yet run the gauntlet of hearings to bring out opposition outside the legislature, but a full schedule of open committee meetings, both on administration and independent measures, is set for next week.

Expected to attract most attention is the session Thursday afternoon on a wholesale license tax amounting to a modified sales tax, which first was described by an administrationist as a Jones measure, then disclaimed by the governor.

It would set a graduated license based on sales, increasing present rates from four to thirty fold and amounting to a tax of slightly more than the present one per cent sales tax.

The governor is pledged to repeal of this, without cutting down public services, although the welfare fund stands to lose about $8,500,000 a year.

The administration's avowed replacement include increases in income and liquor taxes, a new processing tax on natural gas and increases in the collections from gasoline and other motor fuels.

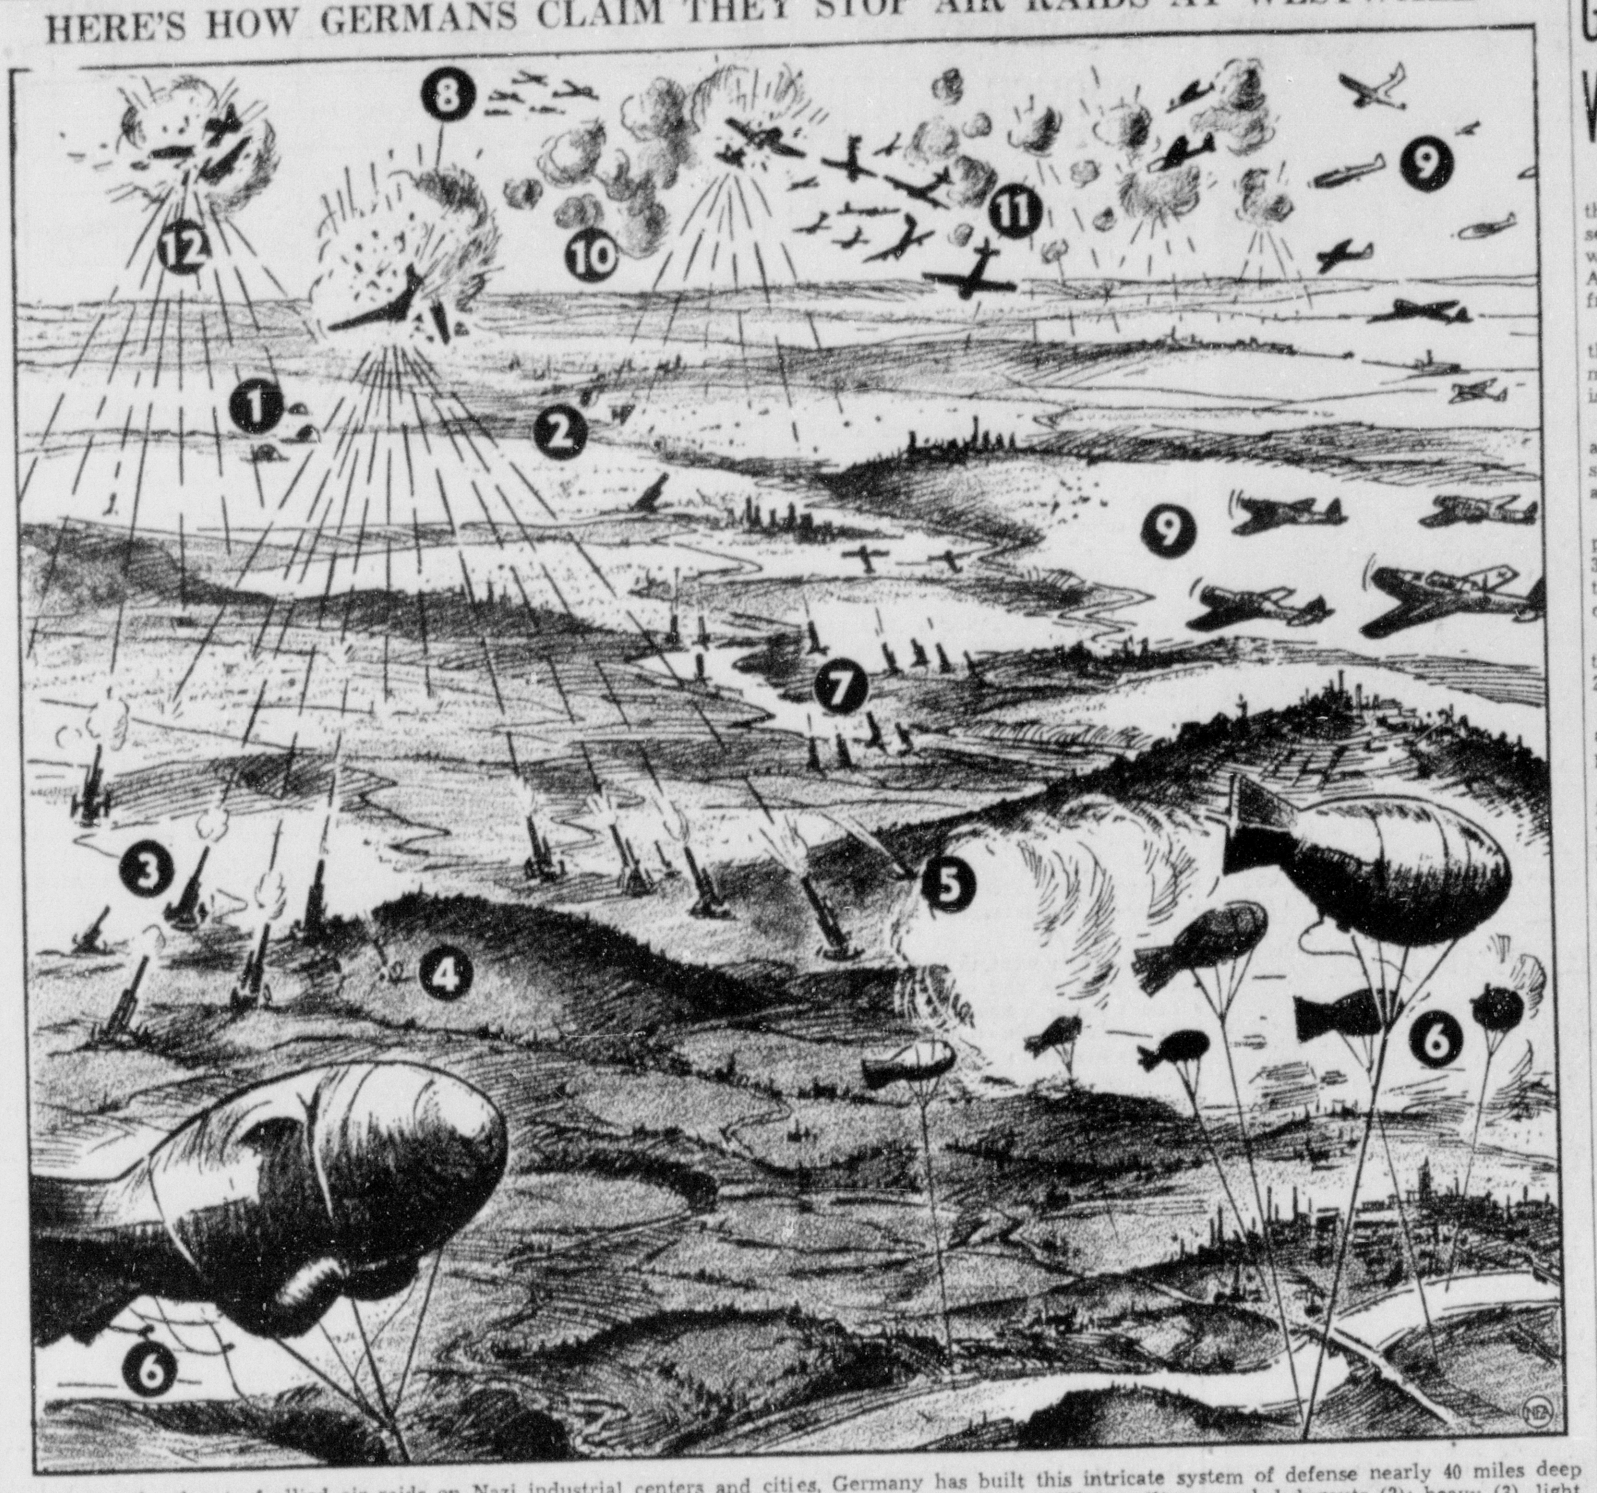
HERE'S HOW GERMANS CLAIM THEY STOP AIR RAIDS AT WESTWALL



Against the threat of allied air raids on Nazi industrial centers and cities, Germany has built this intricate system of defense nearly 40 miles deep along the Wetswall frontier region. The system includes an endless number of armored turrets or pillboxes (1); concealed dugouts (2); heavy (3), light (4), and hidden (5) anti-aircraft batteries; balloon barriers (6); searchlights and high-trajectory batteries (7). Working of the system is described by the Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung: When enemy squadron nears the border (8), air warning sounds throughout Germany. Less than two minutes later Nazi pursuit squadrons (9) are in the air. Bursts of anti-aircraft fire (10) guide them to the enemy and break up the group formation of attacking planes to make them easier targets (11) for the pursuit fighters. Interlacing fire of the batteries along the line makes each plane the target of several anti-aircraft crews (12), with apparent deadly results. Captive balloons are sent up after sounding of alarm.

which still stands except for two nol prossed by District Attorney Al Hundley.

Mayor Lamkin was named today in one indictment on 40 counts charging bribery, and in another on one embezzlement count. Sheriff Downs was named in two indictments on a total of eight embezzlement counts.

The police jury members were indicted on three charges of illegal use of public funds by buying equipment from others than the lowest bidders. They include R. J. Sasser, president; W. W. Black, Jesse Boyd, J. S. Linzay, C. C. Linzay, C. A. Johnson, Dewitt James, John W. Ward, Hershel McGinty, E. E. Flowers, D. L. Glasscock, J. C. Brown and H. L. Williams.

Following the return of the true bills last fall former state Representative William T. Bradford, indicted then and today also, brought charges that members of the grand jury had acted illegally in going counter to the advice of District Attorney Hundley in bringing in the indictments.

Justice of the Peace E. J. Vallery of Pineville entertained Bradford's affidavits and ordered the jurors arrested, but District Judge R. C. Culpepper later released them from the charges. Meanwhile District Judge L. L. Hooe dismissed the grand jury on grounds that the members were under criminal charges, but the state supreme court later reinstated the body.

Attorney General Eugene Stanley, superseding Hundley, recently named John W. Hawthorn as the jury's legal adviser.

Bradford, who had been indicted December 1 on charges of embezzling and dual office-holding, was named today in five true bills, charging embezzlement, attempt to evade income tax, perjury and extortion.

Former state Representative Jesse F. Lucas was charged on two counts with perjury.

J. Nelson Ball, Jr., district highway maintenance superintendent under the last administration, was charged on four counts with extortion and two with embezzlement.

Others indicted today included Robert Cloud, offering to buy a vote; John Lacombe, selling whisky on election day; Ernest Strother, offering to buy votes; John W. Ward, illegal sale of the police jury; Ben F. Bradford, bribery.

Bradford is commissioner of finance and public utilities for Alexandria. Cloud is a member of the Rapides parish school board. Also indicted were E. W. Mizell, Jr., employe of the state colony, extortion, Thomas L. Owen, extortion, and Guy Lacomb, selling whiskey on election day.

One of the outstanding events of the year here the mart has become a popular institution and has definitely put Monroe out in the front as a merchandising center.

BUSINESS BOOMS OVER HUGE WAR

tory expansion, providing arrangement is made for rapid charge-offs of war facilities. President Roosevelt has indicated public funds would be available, too.

Aircraft, tool and chemical industries were major contributors to increased industrial construction under way. Contracts for factories and other industrial structures in the first five months of this year totaled $171,000,000 compared with $73,000,000 in the like 1939 period, according to "Engineering News-Record."

The shift to war industry was accompanied this week by a further rise in leading production barometers, notably steel. A fifth consecutive weekly advance lifted the Associated Press index of industrial activity to the highest level since February. This index has regained about half its loss in the winter and early spring slump.

Wall Street speculative markets, however, remained cautious despite the climb in the business curve and the preparations for heavy plant expenditures to equip war industry. Brokers ascribed the apathy of the markets partly to anticipation of individual and corporate income tax boosts to meet the soaring arms bills.

The new German thrust into France and the Italian threat of war in the Mediterranean likewise kept speculators on the sidelines waiting the outcome, brokers said.

A boom in steel-making, fed by a wave of buying to acquire inventories before the U. S. defense program gets into full stride, marked the transition to a war economy. Some trade sources predicted the steel production rate, which has risen from 65 to above 80 per cent of capacity in the last month, would cross 85 next week.

More furnaces were going into blast to make metal for shells, ships, tanks, tools, engines, motorized equipment and for new factories.

except for Pope Pius' Wednesday audience.

Relazioni Internazionali, authoritative Fascist weekly, declared the Italians are on the "eve of a solemn event" which will be a "war of supreme independence."

To inform foreigners, the weekly said, six reasons why Italy is going to war were given. They were:

1. Italy has followed a peace policy for 18 years seeking to "balance positions, shorten distances and impose new, more humane political formulas."

2. France and England always have opposed Mussolini's policies.

3. When the "Italian people asked for land to work they were offered deserts."

4. "Everything Italian, in domestic policy as well as in the international field, has been ostentatiously undervalued by the French and British."

5. "Democratic Europe, which has deprecated the Italian people, can only be fought. The Italian people have reached the limit of their patience. . . . This war must solve territorial questions for the Italian people which are Nice, Corsica, Tunisia and Jibuti."

6. "The life of the Italian people is subject to French and English control. Italy must insure her independence on the sea."

GERMANS GAINING WITH HUGE LOSSES

the Chemin-Des-Dames ridge to the sea, on a line now 110 miles long, with German tanks attacking and the Allies counter-attacking on land and from the air.

War alarms mounted meanwhile in the Balkans as the Rumanian war ministry called five classes of reservists to the colors.

Italy was poised on the edge of war and Rome foreign observers thought she would enter the fray in less than a week.

The French withdrawal, under the pressure of a million Germans and 3,000 tanks, apparently was forced in the main by a 20-mile break-through on the west flank by 200 to 300 tanks.

Through this gap the tanks crossed the Bresle river and plunged on nearly 20 miles south to Forges-Les-Eaux.

There—midway betwen the river and Rouen—Allied soldiers and airplanes counter-attacked.

The main Nazi drives came south from the region of Roye in the Oise valley and from the Bresle toward Forges-Les-Eaux.

In Germany, military sources declared that the "greatest offensive in history" is going just the way the Nazi high command planned it.

Eschewing details of the fighting, the high command said the German army is crunching steadily toward Paris in the wake of its battering tanks and death dealing stukas.

Progress was claimed for four main thrusts and Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Volkischer Beobachter, defined the German campaign in France as:

First, a drive over the Bresle river to extend Germany's control of the northwestern coast of Europe from the Arctic circle to south of the mouth of the Somme;

Second, drives south from Amiens, Peronne and the Oise-Aisne canal.

These drives were aimed to reach their smashing climax at Paris.

The French admiralty related that a squadron of naval planes bombed factories in Berlin's suburbs and returned unscathed.

"Absolutely untrue" said the Germans. "We have been out looking for damage with spyglasses. There have been no air raid alarms in Berlin and no rumors of damage."

Britain, holding up her part in the battle of France with her hard working Royal Air force, took a heavy blow at sea, the sinking of the armed merchant cruiser Carinthia, 20,277 tons.

The Carinthia, largest merchant ship sunk by enemy action in the war, was torpedoed by a submarine. Two officers and two crewmen were killed, the rest saved. In peacetime the Carinthia carried a crew of 405.

Many bombing sorties and reconnaissances were carried out by the R. A. F. which reported downing 17 German planes Friday against 13 British ships missing.

FRENCH FALL BACK

PARIS, June 8.—(AP)—The French were falling back tonight along nearly 60 miles of the front but still fighting against the German offensive on Paris—facing the strongest attack of the war and the most massive mechanized onslaught in military history.

The Germans threw 60 infantry divisions and seven armored divisions—more than 1,000,000 men and 3,500 tanks—into the assault south of the Somme.

This mighty push reached its peak in the center of the front, where reserves were brought up in the Oise valley—the route to Paris—and hurled into the battle in the region of Roye and Noyon, in an area 48 miles north of this capital.

In this sector alone the Germans were estimated to have used half a million men. Starting at dawn, after dive bombers, artillery and tanks had opened the way, the Nazi infantry charged, each man holding the shoulder of the man before him.

The French were outnumbered in infantry.

North of the capital the French withdrew for the second successive day. The general fall-back was called a "retirement maneuver," and a military spokesman declared the main line remained unbroken.

The Nazis also struck a tremendous blow on the French right (east) flank and succeeded in establishing a foothold on the south bank of the Aisne river. In that sector, the French were counter-attacking bitterly.

German pressure diminished tonight on the extreme left (west) flank, where the Bresle river blocked their infantry. A tank column of 200 to 300 which penetrated south to Forges-les-Eaux was reported being pounded to bits by French artillery and cannon-firing planes.

The battle raged with varying intensity all along the new, shortened 110-mile front from the sea to the Aisne.

Military authorities not given to exaggeration called the battle frankly "the greatest of all time." The number of tanks used almost doubled those employed in the battle of the Meuse, when the Germans broke through to the sea.

On the central sector of the front—running nearly 60 miles from Aumale on the Bresle to Noyon on the Oise—the Nazis sent wave after wave of machines and men smashing against the French lines.

German losses were reported by the French high command to be "enormous"—but still they came.

The French clung to the support points of the Weygand line on the rolling hills and in the scattered woods of the battlefield, pouring fire into the tanks with their artillery.

The advance guards had fallen back Friday under General Maxime Weygand's orders and the movement continued Saturday night after French frontline positions had been swamped under the attack waves.

But still ahead of the Germans stretched a field of barriers all the way to Paris.

The allied air forces, outnumbered since the start of the campaign, stayed in the battle with one squadron of more than 150 bombers protected by both British and French pursuit planes and raining explosives on the German lines.

Some planes swooped down to an altitude of only 50 feet to bomb and machine-gun enemy tanks and troops.

An air ministry communique announced German pontoon bridges over the Somme were destroyed Friday night and that Reichswehr reinforcements were dispersed, while navy bombers raided factories in the Berlin outskirts.

One pursuit squadron was reported to have attacked a German tank park and to have destroyed a "considerable number" of machines.

The Germans moved in two vast thrusts: From south of Roye in the Oise valley in the center, and to Forges-les-Eaux on the west flank.

The action nearest Paris was in General Maxime Weygand's thick and heavy center line. The fighting raged on both banks of the Oise—the river whose valleys lead down to Paris—and was declared especially frightful in the deep shadows of the Ourscamp forest south of Noyon.

While the front thus erupted with new week-end violence, the French replied to the Nazi raid of last Monday which killed and wounded about 1,000 Parisians.

The supreme effort of the Germans had created this general change in the front:

It had fallen back from the Somme to the Bresle in the west, from Ham to the region of Noyon in the center and from the Ailette to the Aisne in the east.

Much of the slow German advance was attributed by the French to general strategic withdrawals to avoid being outflanked by the two-headed German thrust pushing down directly toward Paris on the one hand and toward Rouen in the west.

But the bulk of the French infantry and world-famous artillery still stood intact against the pounding of German tanks and dive bombers.

Too, it was disclosed for the first time that Polish artillery had joined the defenders.

On the French right flank, where some Germans crossed the Aisne Friday east of Soissons only to be annihilated by French fire, counter-attacks were reported to have cleaned up the entire south bank, reestablishing a solid front.

In Paris, from which thousands were in orderly flight, the authorities asked racing motorcyclists to enlist in a special corps of parachutist-chasers already formed by the city's motorcycle police.

DEATHS

MRS. M. T. COBB

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m., Sunday for Mrs. M. E. Cobb who died at noon Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. C. N. Jones.

Mrs. Cobb was born in Scooba, Miss., June 22, 1859. She married and lived there until the death of her husband. She moved to Meridian, Miss., and from there to Gulfport, Miss. She resided there for 30 years when she came to Monroe last October.

She was a member of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Cobb is survived by five daughters, Mrs. C N. Jones and Miss Lottie Cobb, Monroe; Mrs. J. T. Sullivan, Winnfield; Mrs. S. M. Garner, Meridian, Miss., and Mrs. B. Hartzog, Palestine, Tex.

Pallbearers will be A. N. Palley, J. T. Deal, W. S. Lambert, C. L. Taylor, G. O. Hibbard, A. J. Strother, G. F. Snapp and A. S. Johnson. All are stewards of the Gordon Avenue Methodist church.

POILUS' TECHNIQUE DEFENSE LEADER

gions is cracking through Dutch, Belgian and French defense positions guarded by tank traps has virtually scrapped all previous theories of how to deal with that menace.

In the Weygand web battle, however, there are looming the elements of new lessons for military experts, lessons certain to be reflected sharply in the American defense set up. Even if that web fails to save France, it has already taught the word much both as to the strength and weakness of tank and dive bomber attack. These lessons undoubtedly will be visible in construction of new American mechanized units and in the equipment and training of the army to meet a tank and air onslaught.

At sea, the lessons of this war are not as yet so clear. There has been no dramatic battle between fleets of the air and of the sea to give a certain answer to the controversy that has raged for more than two decades over the relative strength of sea and air power.

It can be argued that it was looming failure of Nazi air power, supplementing submarine attack, to break the Franco-British sea blockade of Germany that precipitated the German blitzkrieg in the west. Certainly, air superiority over the allies was a vital element of the German drive that within a month ravaged Holland and Belgium and now is stabbing at the heart of France.

Unless Italy enters the struggle, no actual test of air versus sea power may come out of the war to guide American or any other non-belligerent national defense planning. With Italy in, however, and Franco-British fleet strength mobilized in the Mediterranean as the major weapon at the disposal of the allies, events in that sea could furnish a convincing answer to the still moot question of sea versus air power.

placement of a 2 1-2 cents tax on every 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. This tax would positively cause the loss of large scale gas production in the greater Monroe gas fields and subsequent reduction of employment and payrolls, Joe Marx, Sr., chairman of the legislative committee, said.

Another tax is that provided for in House Bill No. 917, which would create license tax on wholesalers. This tax would definitely destroy wholesalers in Monroe, it was said. There a at present 71 establishments in Monroe, which provide a million-dollar payroll to 918 employes. This tax would destroy 90 per cent of them, it was pointed out.

Other proposed taxes would impose heavier income levies on corporations which are aready overburdened with taxes, Chairman Marx said. It was pointed out that a principle of the sales tax is that it is a tried and proven medium throughout the United States, and that it is now providing revenue badly needed for social services in the state, he added.

"It is further believed," President Boardman said, "that the proposed repeal of this tax is based on political expedience and not on the justness of such a tax or need for it. Let all interested citizens of the Twin Cities petition their representatives in the state government in behalf of the sales tax and to kill the proposed bills which are designed to replace it."

BEAT GREENVILLE TWO CLOSE GAMES TO SWEEP SERIES

Medak's Double And Pruitt's Homer Cinch Second Game In Ninth

Monroe's league-leading White Sox won two nine-inning games from Greenville yesterday, taking the afternoon half of the double header, 9 to 8,

WHITE SOX HIT ROAD

Following their double victory over the Greenville Buckshots yesterday, the Monroe White Sox go to Greenwood today to open a three-game series. They play three games at Greenville, starting Wednesday, and then return here Saturday night to open a four-game series with Pine Bluff, with a double header for next Sunday.

Suggestions for a Booster's night at Casino park when the White Sox return here next week have been made to officials of the Monroe club, and plans will be made for the event during the week, it was announced. Attendance at White Sox games has been below normal and several organizations have volunteered their assistance in aiding the local club. Complete details will be announced within the next few days, it was said.

and then copping the night contest, 4 to 2, when Guy Pruitt hit a home run over the left field barrier in the last of the ninth to give Kelton Maxfield a narrow victory over Tex Ferguson, Buckshot righthander, in a hurling duel.

The night game, particularly, was a thriller. The White Sox trailed until the last of the ninth. A double by Pete Medak sent home the tying run and then Pruitt lofted one of Ferguson's pitches over the fence to score Medak ahead of him and clinch the victory with one out.

Before the ninth, Ferguson had bested Maxfield in a stirring duel, but the hard luck member of the Monroe staff finally triumphed when his mates produced some timely hitting in the last of the ninth. Both hurlers went the route, with Ferguson weakening in the latter innings. The Sox were held helpless until the sixth, when they scored their first run. They were retired in the seventh and eighth without a threat but the batting punch revived in the last of the ninth to snatch the victory that seemed about to slip away.

In the first game played in the afternoon, Monroe eked out a 9 to 8 win over the Buckshots. After the Sox

EDMONTON GRADS FINALLY DISBAND

Lack Of Competition For Foremost Team Given As Reason

EDMONTON, Alta., June 1.—(Canadian Press)—The Edmonton Grads, one of the greatest women's basketball clubs of all time, have disbanded because they were too good.

The Grads began their rise to fame 25 years ago, and for the past 18 years they have held the senior women's world title.

The club disbanded after its silver anniversary banquet Wednesday night because of lack of competition and the resulting financial problem.

Bringing teams worthy of competing with the Grads to this northernmost city of Canada proved a heavy financial burden, and the monotony of such a consistent winner undermined attendance.

J. Percy Page, school principal, coached the team to the hoop heights after he got the job by losing on the flip of a coin with the only other male member of the high school faculty in 1914.

Since then the silver-haired mentor, who recently was elected to the Alberta legislature, has taken the team more than 100,000 miles, piloted them to the Canadian "A" championship in 1922 at London, Ont., and continued winning championships on every try except one. In 1933 the team lost a North American title series to the Durant Cardinals of Durant, Okla.

The team first won the Underwood international trophy in 1922 and has held it ever since. Forty women have played on the team.

The Grads met more than 220 teams, won 526 games, lost 22, scored a total of 19,971 points against their opponents' 8,924, including contests at Olympic games in Paris in 1924, Amsterdam in 1928, Los Angeles in 1932, and Berlin in 1936. One winning streak ran to 78 games between 1926 and 1930.

In the last six months, they won eight games, sweeping a three-game exhibition series with the Wichita (Kans.) Thurstons and the Chicago Queen Aces, and defending their Canadian championship from the challenge of the Vancouver Westerns.

Two of the team's greatest players were Margaret MacBurney who averaged 13.2 points for 182 games over a 10-year-period and Noel MacDonald, who averaged 14.3 points for 135 games during seven years play.

The Grads took permanent possession of the Underwood title trophy, but announced they would donate a new one for the international title.

IT'S CERTAINLY A LOVELY GAME

This trio of entries in the Heart of America tournament at Kansas City is prima facie evidence that tennis is an easy game on the eyes. Waiting their turn to play, left to right, are Gloria Thompson of St. Louis, Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, and Pat Canning of Alameda, Calif.

SLAUGHTER THREE HURLERS TO BEAT DODGERS, 23 TO 2

Derringer Pitches His First Win Over Brooklyn Since 1938

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(AP)—The rampaging Cincinnati Reds regained the National league lead today, clubbing out a 23-2 victory over yesterday's leaders, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

While the Reds were collecting 27 hits the Dodgers were bowing to Paul Derringer's fine hurling. He gave but seven hits in chalking up his first victory over them since the 1938 campaign. Heading the batting soiree for the Reds was Harry Craft, who got a single, double, triple and homer, and then added another single for good measure.

In addition to Craft, Lonnie Frey and Johnny Rizzo homered, both with two aboard.

Freddie Fitzsimmons started for the losers and pitched two innings, giving up five runs and six hits in suffering his first loss of the year. Then Carl Doyle took a long turn on the mound, getting slaughtered for 14 runs and 16 hits. He also hit four batsmen, which ties the modern league mark.

Van Mungo, much to Doyle's relief, pitched from the seventh on and yielded four runs and five hits.

PIRATES BEAT PHILS

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(AP)—Although outhit 12 to 8, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 today for their fourth consecutive victory of the season.

A wild pitch by Si Johnson in the seventh set up the winning run for the Bucs by allowing Paul Waner to go from first to third. Waner had walked. Then Vince DiMaggio, sent in to run for Waner, scored the winning tally on Elbie Fletcher's long fly.

Fletcher had tied up the ball game in the fifth with his fifth homer this year.

GIANTS TAKE DOUBLEHEADER

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—(AP)—Blubbery Walter Brown, the New York Giants ace relief twirler, proved his effectiveness today, helping his third-place mates sweep a doubleheader from the St. Louis Cards by 4-2 and 5-2.

The "Fireman" aided Roy Joiner in winning the opener with a sparkling ninth inning relief job, disposing of Enos Slaughter, Joe Medwick and Don

New Orleans Fair Grounds Race Track Is Up For Sale

Action Follows Approval Of Bill To Eliminate 'Morning Line'

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—The Fair Grounds race track was put up for sale today after General Manager R. S. Eddy [illegible] a legislative committee [illegible] morning line bookmaking at the track.

[illegible] the House ways and means committee. As the new bill forbids bookmaking of any kind either inside or outside the track, there is nothing to do [illegible] the inevitable."

The bill would set up a state racing commission, substitute a percentage take on the betting pool for the present license tax on admissions and restrict betting to the pari-mutuel system.

Pari-mutuels have operated exclusively at the Fair Grounds in the afternoon for years, with bookmaking in the morning.

Eddy did not announce the price being asked for the track. He said that Representative De Lesseps Morrison of New Orleans, author of the [illegible] believe that racing can be made to pay here the Fair Grounds is for sale at a very reasonable figure."

It is said he bought the track from Colonel E. R. Bradley at a low figure," he continued, "and I'll [illegible] low."

The morning line [illegible] popular with the horsemen who supplied the big percentage of its profit. To the credit of racing it can be said that bookmaking to horsemen is a profitable business, because [illegible] horseman bets on his horse and only one can win. But if the morning line must be abolished, why then, as far as I'm concerned, racing is abolished."

J. Heman [illegible] real estate dealer with whom Eddy has listed a contract to sell the [illegible] racing grounds said the track would be offered for development as a high-class residential subdivision.

About [illegible] years ago the Jockey club bought the Fair Grounds and closed Jefferson park.

Caliber of racing here has declined for the past decade. The New Orleans Handicap ceased to be a major stake and last season the Derby was cancelled for lack of enough good horses to make it worth while.

Some of the purses were down to $500. In the past season, the track's income also was cut drastically because handbook shops throughout the city, previously closed tightly during the season, remained open.

The Jockey club is operated by a syndicate including Eddy, Louis Dandurant of Toronto, Canada, and the Joe Cattaranich estate. The syndicate also operates the Aurora and Fairmount parks in Illinois, where bookmaking is banned.

Eddy said today, however, that "New Orleans likes bookmakers, and has never taken to the mutuel system."

The combined cost of the dam and irrigation porject at Grand Coulee, Washington, will be $393,000,000.

TIGERS THUMP SOX

BOSTON, June 8.—(AP)—Tall Johnny Gorsica chalked up his first major league victory today as the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox [illegible] 4 to 2 [illegible].

Rudy York opened the scoring in the second when he blasted a home run over the left field screen. The second tally crossed the plate a few minutes later when Pinky Higgins walked and came all the way home on a double by Birdie Tebbetts.

Relief Pitcher Jack Wilson gave up Detroit's two remaining hits and runs in the eighth. Charlie Gehringer slammed a double into the left field corner and came galloping home ahead of Greenberg when big Hank belted his home run over the left field screen.

The Sox, who had been hitting Gorsica hard but ineffectually, came through with two runs in their half

BEAT GREENVILLE TWO CLOSE GAMES TO SWEEP SERIES

Medak's Double And Pruitt's Homer Cinch Second Game In Ninth

Monroe's league-leading White Sox won two nine-inning games from Greenville yesterday, taking the afternoon half of the double header, 9 to 8,

WHITE SOX HIT ROAD

Following their double victory over the Greenville Buckshots yesterday, the Monroe White Sox go to Greenwood today to open a three-game series. They play three games at Greenville, starting Wednesday, and then return here Saturday night to open a four-game series with Pine Bluff, wtih a double header for next Sunday.

Suggestions for a Booster's night at Casino park when the White Sox return here next week have been made to officials of the Monroe club, and plans will be made for the event during the week, it was announced. Attendance at White Sox games has been below normal and several organizations have volunteered their assistance in aiding the local club. Complete details will be announced within the next few days, it was said.

and then copping the night contest, 4 to 2, when Guy Pruitt hit a home run over the left field barrier in the last of the ninth to give Kelton Maxfield a narrow victory over Tex Ferguson, Buckshot righthander, in a hurling duel.

The night game, particularly, was a thriller. The White Sox trailed until the last of the ninth. A double by Pete Medak sent home the tying run and then Pruitt lofted one of Ferguson's pitches over the fence to score Medak ahead of him and clinch the victory with one out.

Before the ninth, Ferguson had bested Maxfield in a stirring duel, but the hard luck member of the Monroe staff finally triumphed when his mates produced some timely hitting in the last of the ninth. Both hurlers went the route, with Ferguson weakening in the latter innings. The Sox were held helpless until the sixth, when they scored their first run. They were retired in the seventh and eighth without a threat but the batting punch revived in the last of the ninth to snatch the victory that seemed about to slip away.

In the first game played in the afternoon, Monroe eked out a 9 to 8 win over the Buckshots. After the Sox

EDMONTON GRADS FINALLY DISBAND

Lack Of Competition For Foremost Team Given As Reason

EDMONTON, Alta., June 7.—(Canadian Press)—The Edmonton Grads, one of the greatest women's basketball clubs of all time, have disbanded because they were too good.

The Grads began their rise to fame 25 years ago, and for the past 18 years they have held the senior women's world title.

The club disbanded after its silver anniversary banquet Wednesday night because of lack of competition and the resulting financial problem.

Bringing teams worthy of competing with the Grads to this northernmost city of Canada proved a heavy financial burden, and the monotony of such a consistent winner undermined attendance.

J. Percy Page, school principal, coached the team to the hoop heights after he got the job by losing on the flip of a coin with the only other male member of the high school faculty in 1914.

Since then the silver-haired mentor, who recently was elected to the Alberta legislature, has taken the team more than 100,000 miles, piloted them to the Canadian "A" championship in 1922 at London, Ont., and continued winning championships on every try except one. In 1933 the team lost a North American title series to the Durant Cardinals of Durant, Okla.

The team first won the Underwood international trophy in 1922 and has held it ever since. Forty women have played on the team.

The Grads met more than 220 teams, won 526 games, lost 22, scored a total of 19,971 points against their opponents' 8,924, including contests at Olympic games in Paris in 1924, Amsterdam in 1928, Los Angeles in 1932, and Berlin in 1936. One winning streak ran to 78 games between 1926 and 1930.

In the last six months, they won eight games, sweeping a three-game exhibition series with the Wichita (Kans.) Thurstons and the Chicago Queen Aces, and defending their Canadian championship from the challenge of the Vancouver Westerns.

Two of the team's greatest players were Margaret MacBurney who averaged 13.2 points for 182 games over a 10-year-period and Noel MacDonald, who averaged 14.3 points for 135 games during seven years play.

The Grads took permanent possession of the Underwood title trophy, but announced they would donate a new one for the international title.

IT'S CERTAINLY A LOVELY GAME

This trio of entries in the Heart of America tournament at Kansas City is prima facie evidence that tennis is an easy game on the eyes. Waiting their turn to play, left to right, are Gloria Thompson of St. Louis, Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco, and Pat Canning of Alameda, Calif.

SLAUGHTER THREE HURLERS TO BEAT DODGERS, 23 TO 2

Derringer Pitches His First Win Over Brooklyn Since 1938

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(AP)—The rampaging Cincinnati Reds regained the National league lead today, clubbing out a 23-2 victory over yesterday's leaders, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

While the Reds were collecting 27 hits, the Dodgers were bowing to Paul Derringer's fine hurling. He gave but seven hits in chalking up his first victory over them since the 1938 campaign. Heading the batting soiree for the Reds was Harry Craft, who got a single, double, triple and homer—and then added another single for good measure.

In addition to Craft, Lonnie Frey and Johnny Rizzo homered, both with two aboard.

Freddie Fitzsimmons started for the losers and pitched two innings, giving up five runs and six hits in suffering his first loss of the year. Then Carl Doyle took a long turn on the mound, getting slaughtered for 14 runs and 16 hits. He also hit four batsmen which ties the modern league mark.

Van Mungo, much to Doyle's relief, pitched from the seventh on and yielded four runs and five hits.

PIRATES BEAT PHILS

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(AP)—Although outhit 12 to 8, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5 today for their fourth consecutive victory of the season.

A wild pitch by Si Johnson in the seventh set up the winning run for the Bucs by allowing Paul Waner to go from first to third. Waner had walked. Then Vince DiMaggio, sent in to run for Waner, scored the winning tally on Elbie Fletcher's long fly.

Fletcher had tied up the ball game in the fifth with his fifth homer this year.

Action Follows Approval Of Bill To Eliminate 'Morning Line'

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—The Fair Grounds race track was up for sale today after General Manager R. S. Eddy, Jr., failed to dissuade a legislative committee from reporting favorably a bill to eliminate "morning line" bookmaking at the track.

"It will be impossible to race unless we can include the morning line," Eddy said upon his return from appearance before the House ways and means committee. "As the new bill forbids bookmaking of any kind either inside or outside the track, there is nothing to do but bow to the inevitable."

The bill would set up a state racing commission, substitute a percentage take on the betting pool for the present license tax on admissions, and restrict betting to the pari-mutuel system.

Pari-mutuels have operated exclusively at the Fair Grounds in the afternoon for years, with bookmaking in the morning.

Eddy did not announce the price being asked for the track. He said that if Representative De Lesseps Morrison of New Orleans, author of the bill, or any of his associates "believe that racing can be made to pay here, the Fair Grounds is for sale at a very reasonable figure."

"It is said we bought the track from Colonel E. R. Bradley at a low figure," he continued. "Well, it's still low.

"The morning line was very popular with the horsemen, who supplied the big percentage of its play. To the credit of racing it can be said that bookmaking to horsemen is a profitable business, because nearly every horseman bets on his horse and only one can win. But if the morning line must be abolished why then, as far as I'm concerned, racing is abolished."

J. Hyman, real estate dealer with whom Eddy announced a contract to sell the 125-acre racing grounds, said the track would be offered for development as a high-class residential subdivision.

About six years ago the Jockey club bought the Fair Grounds and closed Jefferson park.

Caliber of racing here has declined for the past decade. The New Orleans Handicap ceased to be a major stake, and last season the Derby was cancelled for lack of enough good horses to make it worth while.

Some of the purses were down to $500. In the past season the track's income also was cut drastically because handbook shops throughout the city, previously closed tightly during the season, remained open.

The Jockey club is operated by a syndicate including Eddy, Louis Dandurant of Toronto, Canada, and the Joe Cattaranich estate. The syndicate also operates the Aurora and Fairmount parks in Illinois, where bookmaking is banned.

Eddy said today, however, that "New Orleans likes bookmakers, and has never taken to the mutuel system."

The combined cost of the dam and irrigation porject at Grand Coulee, Washington, will be $393,000,000.

SCOUTS FOR SOX FIND YOUNG STAR

Howard Wafer Has Remarkable High School Pitching Record

By Harold V. Ratliff

M'KINNEY, Tex., June 8.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Largent travel 30,000 to 35,000 miles a year looking for baseball talent to send to the Chicago White Sox but they found Howard Wafer practically sitting on their front doorstep.

The McKinney High school sensation, over a period of three years, has averaged a dozen strikeouts and held the opposition to four hits per game. Mrs. Largent calls him a major league prospect of the first order.

Wafer still runs the risk of being mobbed by baseball scouts because he hasn't signed anything with the White Sox. However, Mrs. Largent intimates a "sort of understanding" with Howard.

Wafter is not going into professional ball just yet. Only 17, he thinks he's too young and plans to attend college a couple of years.

Mrs. Largent predicts "unless something happens to his arm he'll be ready for the big leagues in a year or two."

Wafer, 6 feet 1 1-2 inches tall and weighing 174 pounds has pitched 170 1-3 innings, won 18 games, lost 4 and struck out 271 batters in his three seasons in high school.

Twice the past season he struck out 21 batters in a game and only twice did he fail to fan as many as ten.

He pitched two no-hitters, and only two teams during the year were able to get more than two hits off him.

They call him "Nubby" because the little finger of his right hand is missing.

If he fails as a pitcher he still is considered one of the best infielders in these parts.

Also, he's quite a hitter. Whether playing shortstop or pitching he bats in the cleanup spot.

WHITE SOX CLING TO FIFTH PLACE; BEAT NATS, 12-6

Drive Chase From Mound, Continue 13-Hit Assault On Monteagudo

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox clung to fifth place today, trampling Washington, 12-6.

The White Sox drove Ken Chase from the mound in the third inning and continued their assault on Rene Monteagudo to collect 13 hits, the same number Washington accumulated off Bill Dietrich and Clint Brown.

Sparked by Luke Appling and Eric McNair, both of whom smashed three hits, the White Sox scored seven runs in the first three innings and coasted to an easy triumph before 6,000 fans.

TIGERS THUMP SOX

BOSTON, June 8.—(AP)—Tall Johnny Gorsica chalked up his first major league victory today as his Detroit Tiger teammates thumped the Boston Red Sox for the second consecutive day to win by a 4-2 margin.

Rudy York opened the scoring in the second when he blasted a home run over the left field screen. The second tally crossed the plate a few minutes later when Pinky Higgins walked and came all the way home on a double by Birdie Tebbetts.

Relief Pitcher Jack Wilson gave up Detroit's two remaining hits and runs in the eighth. Charlie Gehringer slammed a double into the left field corner and came galloping home ahead of Greenberg, when big Hank belted his home run over the left field screen.

The Sox, who had been hitting Gorsica hard but ineffectually, came through with two runs in their half

L. S. U. CAPTAIN, FIVE-TIME CHAMP WILL MEET TODAY

Haas, Creekmore, Bolt And Salmen Eliminated In Saturday Play

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—Edwin McClure, four times state champion, and Henry Castillo, Spanish-born captain of the 1940 Louisiana State university linksmen, stroked their way into the final of the 21st Annual State Golf tournament today.

They will meet tomorrow morning and afternoon in the 36-hole championship duel.

McClure out-lasted the colorful Tommy Bolt of Shreveport today in the semifinals, 2 and 1, before a gallery of more than 200 persons at the Metairie Golf club.

Bolt, in the morning round, eliminated the co-medalist and favorite Freddie Haas, Jr., former L. S. U. star and Walker Cup player, 2 up.

McClure on his morning tour had a difficult time in defeating Jerry Creekmore of New Orleans one up.

Castillo had an easier task, taking over Raymond Salmen and Jules Lazard, both of New Orleans, by 6 and 4 margins.

The match tomorrow will bring Castillo and McClure together for the second time. In their first meeting several years ago at Monroe Castillo was victor one up in 19 holes. The winner tomorrow will replace Beverly Nabers of Baton Rouge as state champion. He bowed out in the first round this year.

In his semifinal match with Bolt, McClure shot even-par golf for 17 holes in his 2 and 1 victory. Bolt was scoring well, but was worn down by his hometown rival's steadiness.

He defeated Haas in their morning round chiefly by superior putting, sinking long ones while Freddie was missing frequently on the greens.

Against Creekmore McClure had his worst streak of the tournament on the back nine, after taking a one-under-par 35 going out for a five-hole lead. He finished in 42 for a 77.

In the afternoon McClure scored even par 36 out and matched par for eight holes on the back nine against Bolt.

Lazard, whom Castillo eliminated afterward, put out Nelson Whitney of New Orleans in the quarterfinals, winning one up.

Castillo rapped out a 36 on the first nine against Lazard with three birdies, three bogeys and three pars while his opponent tok 42. The Spanish player slipped two over par for the five holes coming in, but Lazard continued off form to go down 6 and 4. Castillo shot another even par on the outgoing nine against Salmen and nudged him out on the 14th hole.

The McClure-Bolt affair was the most interesting match of the day, and the Shreveporters gave the gallery several thrills.

McClure lost the first hole by blowing a three-foot putt, but tapped in one from 10 feet to take the second. Bolt had a winning par three on the third. On the fourth McClure holed out from 35 feet and Bolt sank an 18-footer to tie wtih birdies.

Bolt went two ahead on the fifth by chipping close for par, and they played the next in par fours. Bolt hooked into the trap to lose the seventh, divided the eighth with Edwin in par, and McClure squared the match by winning the ninth as Bolt hit the sand with his second shot.

Tommy shot remarkably on the 13th. He hooked to a ditch, took a stroke penalty, and then played an iron shot 180 yards out of rough and trees to within eight feet of the pin. McClure took a four and the hole.

Bolt holed out a 60-foot putt on the 14th to win it with a birdie as the gallery howeld. McClure went one up on the 15th, halved the 16th and won the match on the short 17th by one of his consistent drives to the green as Bolt missed the carpet.

BOWLING TILTS

Two series were bowled in the Twin City league Friday night, with the Pepsi-Cola team winning two out of three from the Family Shoe store and the E. H. Fitzpatrick and Son bowlers winning all three games from the City Firemen.

Winnie Mingledorf was high for the Pepsi-Cola team with 141 and 400 for the single game and series. John Peters led the Shoemen with 158 in the single game and 407 for the series.

Seligman bowled the highest single game for Fitzpatrick, 159, but Dorman bowled three games of 139, 133, 141 to lead in totals with 413. Jones was high for the City Firemen with 146 and 397.

BULLDOG BRADY

Walter Brady will battle Cecil Martin of Columbia Tuesday night in an 8-round main event promoted by Gus Kallio at the Monroe arena.

BOXING CARD SET HERE ON TUESDAY

Promoter Gus Kallio Will Stage 32-Round Card At Arena

Promoter Gus Kallio announced last night that he would stage a 32-round boxing card at the Monroe wrestling arena Tuesday night. Headlining the boxing card will be an eight-round bout between Walter "Bulldog" Brady of Monroe and Cecil Martin of Columbia. The card will include several CCC boys and will begin with two bouts between negro fighters.

The main event will bring together middleweights, and both boys will weigh 150 pounds. Brady, a junior college boxer of several years ago, has rang up an impressive string of victories in both his amateur and professional careers. He has never been knocked out.

Cecil Martin has held his own with the best in the middleweight division including Leslie Davis.

The semi-final pits Gaddis Posey of the Ruston CCC against Robert Gates, a local fighter who has been a winner in several fights here and in nearby cities. The bout will be four rounds.

The fourth bout of the evening will see the younger brothers of "Bulldog" Brady and Cecil Martin carry on the feud for four rounds. Martin fought 71 matches while in the CCC. Elton Brady is just starting out on his professional career. Both weigh around 135 pounds.

Leslie Davis will battle Maurice Houser, Monroe, in the third bout on the program. This will also be a four-rounder. Two four-round battles between negro boys will open the fights.

The program of boxing being promoted by Kallio gives Monroe fans a chance to let the promoter know whether they want boxing to be a regular sporting event here. If a large crowd is on hand, then other fights will be staged. If not, boxing in Monroe will again go to sleep.

CAN NOW CLAIM CROWN AS KING OF 3-YEAR-OLDS

Your Chance Moves Up From Last To Place Second; Andy K Third

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Bimelech is still the "champ."

His boast of greatness gone, Colonel E. R. Bradley's flying colt overcame the handicap of a not-too-heady ride by Freddie Smith today to drive in with victory in the 72nd running of the Belmont Stakes and thereby mount the throne as king of the three-year-olds.

Beaten in the Derby and overtaken in the Withers, the Preakness winner whipped both of his conquerors as well as three other candidates in the mile-and-a-half grind, before a crowd of 26,501. He proved his right to ranking as "head man" of his year by winning strictly on his own. He was a tired galloper in the end, but he was half a length in front.

George D. Widener's Your Chance, little known a month or so ago when the Kentucky Derby was run, came up from last place with a terrific rush to take second by a length over Andy K. Century Note, one half of Mrs. Payne Whitney's entry, wound up fourth, eight lengths back of Amblin' Andy, who comes from the Millsdale stable of Tony Pelleteri and Mel Emerich of Chicago.

And trailing the rest of the field, far back of the others, were the only two horses ever to beat Bimmie—Mrs. Ethel V. Mars Derby winner, Gallahadion, and Mrs. Whitney's Corydon.

Bimelech's time of 2:29 3-5, just 1 1-5 seconds off the track record, was remarkable in that the early pace was slowed to a walk. Bimelech, Andy K, who showed one thing today—that he's finaly cured of his crooked-running habits—and Gallahadion broke in front and Andy and Bimmie fought it out for the advantage at the first turn. Then they slowed down as they turned into the backstretch and Smith wisely took Bimelech back of the pace set by Andy and Gallahadion.

Had he been content to wait until nearing the stretch, and then sending the son of Black Toney up, it would have been better. But Smitty apparently became anxious and pushed the Bradley colt up to challenge Andy K just after the mile mark. Andy, running straight this time, fought him head and head, and so tired the "darling of the blue grass" that if Your Chance had started moving earlier, or if the race had been just a little longer, the Widener warrior might have taken the pot.

The "ifs" don't count, however, and Bimmie, undefeated in six starts as a two-year-old and beaten just twice in five previous outings this year, was under the wire first. He paid $1.70 for each $2 winning ticket, the best price he has returned his supporters since his third trip to the races last year. Your Chance, ridden by Harry Richards and picking up seven lengths in his great run from the back stretch, was $3.30 for place and Andy paid off $3.70 for show.

Not only was it a vindication for Bimelech, giving him two thirds of the triple crown—the Preakness and Belmont, with only the Derby missing—but the jackpot of $35,030 to the winner boosted his earnings for the year over the $100,000 mark. He now has earned $241,090.

In the companion feature on Belmont park's closing card, Attention, a speedy son of Equipoise owned by Mrs. Parker Croning, came waltzing in with the National Stallion stakes by two lengths over George D. Widener's Swabia. He galloped the five-furlong straightaway in 58.2 seconds for his second straight victory, and ridden by Buddy Haas, paid $3.60 for $2.

Tom Gwyn Holds Lead In Cotton States Bat Race

Bob Hill Tops Hitters But For Only 17 Games; Kramer Leads Hurlers

Although he was finally stopped after hitting safely in 26 consecutive games, Tom Gwyn of Pine Bluff clung to his lead in the Cotton States batting free-for-all according to latest averages released today by the Howe News bureau of Chicago.

During the week Gwyn's mark dropped from .443 to .398 but the latter mark still holds first place among the regulars, one point better than the .397 posted by Eddie Zydowsky, Hot Springs shortstop. Thurman Tucker, Clarksdale outfielder, is next with .380. Bill Rollings of Pine Bluff has .361 and Lamont Duncan of Hot Springs boasts a mark of .355.

Tucker has stolen the most bases, 17, has made the most hits, 68 and is tied for the lead in runs scored at 45 apiece with Outfielder McCollum of Hot Springs. Zydowsky sets the pace in homers with 10 and in runs batted in with 49 while Jack Grantham, Clarksdale outfielder, is tops in total bases with 104 and in two base hits with 20.

Edward Kramer of Hot Springs has the best pitching record—five wins and no losses—with Frank Anderson of El Dorado coming in for his share of glory when he stopped Gwyn's streak on May 30.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Managing the Cardinals is getting to be tougher and more uncertain than coaching football at Florida U. . . . Joe Louis and Mrs. Joe are wondering if it will be a little champ or champerine in the fall. . . . Hottest baseball spot in the republic this week-end is Cincy. Dodgers and Redlegs play seven games in the next nine days and when they're over you'll have a pretty fair working idea where that bunting's going to fly. . . . Paychek's "comeback" proved one thing, anyway—Johnny actually can raise his hands, which customers at the Louis fight doubted. . . . What's this! For the first time in 15 years, Mel Ott is missing from the Giants' clean-up position.

AIR LANES HUMOR

During his very good broadcast of the Conn-Lesnevich fight, Mr. Sam Taub unloaded this one: "Conn is standing his ground in the center of the ring while circling to his right." (Let's see you do it, Sam.) . . . Not to be outdone, the co-commentator (a Mr. Stern) contributed this gem: "It is very warm in Detroit tonight. . . . But that's not unusual, for summer is approaching." . . . Gentlemen, gentlemen!

RAGTIME NEWS REVIEW

The Cards gave poor Ray Blades the air;
Campolo was half-killed by Baer;
The Giants demoted Melvin Ott
As keeper of the clean-up spot;
Demaret shot an eighty-one
(Which any duffer could have done)
And Sammy Snead burned up the course
While birdies sang their fool selves hoarse.
That's all the news that's fit to print
And so we end this little stint.

HEADLINE HEADLINERS

When Dizzy Dean departed for Tulsa and points west, the Chicago Daily News sped him on his way with this headline quotation from Mr. Shakespeare's Henry VIII: "Farewell, a long farewell to all my greatness." . . . A bit more to the point, the Chicago Times passed it up with "Dizzy spell ended."

SELECTED SHORTS

Golfer Charles G. Eberhardt of Tampa knows how the old Chick felt. The national open's official roster fails to list him either as a pro or an amateur. Thus he becomes the only unclassified golfer in the field. . . . Exclusive, hey? . . . High Breeze and Blensign are getting the raves in two-year-old racing circles, but don't overlook a colt named Clarksville. . . . Joe Louis flew to Washington to see his sister graduate from Howard university. . . . Alf Letourner, the French six-day bike star, has been ordered to join his regiment. He sails in a week, leaving his wife and three-year-old child here.

Well, how about Demaret's eighty-one?

CRACKERS BEAT SMOKIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 8.—(AP)—Third Baseman Tom Hafey clouted two home runs—one in the ninth inning with the bases loaded—to drive in seven runs and give Atlanta an easy 9 to 2 win over Knoxville today in the third and "rubber" game of the series.

Hafey's first circuit clout came in the sixth with two mates aboard and was followed by one by First Baseman Lester Burge with Manager Paul Richards on base.

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—Sam Page, relief pitching for Memphis after the New Orleans Pelicans had scored two runs and loaded the bases with only one away in the ninth inning today, retired the side without further damage to give the visiting Chicks a 10-7 victory and a 3-2 edge for the series.

The Chicks got all their runs off Maltzberger and in the seventh, when he went to the showers, big Babe Barna—who had already hit two triples—slammed one of the mightiest drives ever seen in Pelican stadium over the right-centerfield fence.

M'CLURE, CASTILLO ENTER STATE GOLF FINALS'

Haas, Creekmore, Bolt And Salmen Eliminated In Saturday Play

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—Edwin McClure, five times state champion, and Henry Castillo, Spanish-born captain of the 1940 Louisiana State university linksmen, stroked their way into the final of the 21st Annual State Golf tournament today.

They will meet tomorrow morning and afternon in the 36-hole championship duel.

McClure outsteadied the colorful Tommy Bolt of Shreveport today in the semifinals, 2 and 1, before a gallery of more than 200 persons at the Metairie Golf club.

Bolt, in the morning round, eliminated the co-medalist and favorite, Freddie Haas, Jr., former L. S. U. star and Walker Cup player, 2 up.

McClure on his morning tour had a difficult time in defeating Jerry Creekmore of New Orleans one up.

Castillo had an easier task, taking over Raymond Salmen and Jules Lazard, both of New Orleans, by 6 and 4 margins.

The match tomorrow will bring Castillo and McClure together for the second time. In their first meeting several years ago at Monroe Castillo was victor one up in 19 holes. The winner tomorrow will replace Beverly Nabers of Baton Rouge as state champion. He bowed out in the first round this year.

In his semifinal match with Bolt, McClure short even-par golf for 17 holes in his 2 and 1 victory. Bolt was scoring well, but was worn down by his hometown rival's steadiness.

He defeated Haas in their morning round chiefly by superior putting, sinking long ones while Freddie was missing frequently on the greens.

Against Creekmore McClure had his worst streak of the tournament on the back nine, after taking a one-under-par 35 going out for a five-hole lead. He finished in 42 for a 77.

In the afternoon McClure scored even par 36 out and matched par for eight holes on the back nine against Bolt.

Lazard, whom Castillo eliminated afterward, put out Nelson Whitney of New Orleans in the quarterfinals, winning one up.

Castillo rapped out a 36 on the first nine against Lazard with three birdies, three bogeys and three pars while his opponent tok 42. The Spanish player slipped two over par for the five holes coming in, but Lazard continued off form to go down 6 and 4. Castillo shot another even par on the outgoing nine against Salmen and nudged him out on the 14th hole.

The McClure-Bolt affair was the most interesting match of the day, and the Shreveporters gave the gallery several thrills.

McClure lost the first hole by blowing a three-foot putt, but tapped in one from 10 feet to take the second. Bolt had a winning par three on the third. On the fourth McClure holed out from 35 feet and Bolt sank an 18-footer to tie wtih birdies.

Bolt went two ahead on the fifth by chipping close for par, and they played the next in par fours. Bolt hooked into the trap to lose the seventh, divided the eighth with Edwin in par, and McClure squared the match by winning the ninth as Bolt hit the sand with his second shot.

Tommy shot remarkably on the 13th. He hooked to a ditch, took a stroke penalty, and then played an iron shot 180 yards out of rough and trees to within eight feet of the pin. McClure took a four and the hole.

Bolt holed out a 60-foot putt on the 14th to win it with a birdie as the gallery howeld. McClure went one up on the 15th, halved the 16th and won the match on the short 17th by one of his consistent drives to the green as Bolt missed the carpet.

BULLDOG BRADY

Walter Brady will battle Cecil Martin of Columbia Tuesday night in an 8-round main event promoted by Gus Kallio at the Monroe arena.

BOXING CARD SET HERE ON TUESDAY

Promoter Gus Kallio Will Stage 32-Round Card At Arena

Promoter Gus Kallio announced last night that he would stage a 32-round boxing card at the Monroe wrestling arena Tuesday night. Headlining the boxing card will be an eight-round bout between Walter "Bulldog" Brady of Monroe and Cecil Martin of Columbia. The card will include several CCC boys and will begin with two bouts between negro fighters.

The main event will bring together middleweights, and both boys will weigh 150 pounds. Brady, a junior college boxer of several years ago, has rang up an impressive string of victories in both his amateur and professional careers. He has never been knocked out.

Cecil Martin has held his own with the best in the middleweight division including Leslie Davis.

The semi-final pits Gaddis Posey of the Ruston CCC against Robert Gates, a local fighter who has been a winner in several fights here and in nearby cities. The bout will be four rounds.

The fourth bout of the evening will see the younger brothers of "Bulldog" Brady and Cecil Martin carry on the feud for four rounds. Martin fought 71 matches while in the CCC. Elton Brady is just starting out on his professional career. Both weigh around 135 pounds.

Leslie Davis will battle Maurice Houser, Monroe, in the third bout on the program. This will also be a four-rounder. Two four-round battles between negro boys will open the fights.

The program of boxing being promoted by Kallio gives Monroe fans a chance to let the promoter know whether they want boxing to be a regular sporting event here. If a large crowd is on hand, then other fights will be staged. If not, boxing in Monroe will again go to sleep.

Bimelech Comes Through, Wins $35,000 Belmont Stakes

CAN NOW CLAIM CROWN AS KING OF 3-YEAR-OLDS

Your Chance Moves Up From Last To Place Second; Andy K Third

By Sid Feder

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Bimelech is still the "champ."

His boast of greatness gone, Colonel E. R. Bradley's flying colt overcame the handicap of a not-too-heady ride by Freddie Smith today to drive in with victory in the 72nd running of the Belmont Stakes and thereby mount the throne as king of the three-year-olds.

Beaten in the Derby and overtaken in the Withers, the Preakness winner whipped both of his conquerors as well as three other candidates in the mile-and-a-half grind, before a crowd of 26,501. He proved his right to ranking as "head man" of his year by winning strictly on his own. He was a tired galloper in the end, but he was half a length in front.

George D. Widener's Your Chance, little known a month or so ago when the Kentucky Derby was run, came up from last place with a terrific rush to take second by a length over Andy K. Century Note, one half of Mrs. Payne Whitney's entry, wound up fourth, eight lengths back of Amblin' Andy, who comes from the Millsdale stable of Tony Pelleteri and Mel Emerich of Chicago.

And trailing the rest of the field, far back of the others, were the only two horses ever to beat Bimmie—Mrs. Ethel V. Mars Derby winner, Gallahadion, and Mrs. Whitney's Corydon.

Bimelech's time of 2:29 3-5, just 1 1-5 seconds off the track record, was remarkable in that the early pace was slowed to a walk. Bimelech, Andy K, who showed one thing today—that he's finaly cured of his crooked-running habits—and Gallahadion broke in front and Andy and Bimmie fought it out for the advantage at the first turn. Then they slowed down as they turned into the backstretch and Smith wisely took Bimelech back of the pace set by Andy and Gallahadion.

Had he been content to wait until nearing the stretch, and then sending the son of Black Toney up, it would have been better. But Smitty apparently became anxious and pushed the Bradley colt up to challenge Andy K just after the mile mark. Andy, running straight this time, fought him head and head, and so tired the "darling of the blue grass" that if Your Chance had started moving earlier, or if the race had been just a little longer, the Widener warrior might have taken the pot.

The "ifs" don't count, however, and Bimmie, undefeated in six starts as a two-year-old and beaten just twice in five previous outings this year, was under the wire first. He paid $4.70 for each $2 winning ticket, the best price he has returned his supporters since his third trip to the races last year. Your Chance, ridden by Harry Richards and picking up seven lengths in his great run from the back stretch, was $3.30 for place and Andy paid off $3.70 for show.

Not only was it a vindication for Bimelech, giving him two thirds of the triple crown—the Preakness and Belmont, with only the Derby missing—but the jackpot of $35,030 to the winner boosted his earnings for the year over the $100,000 mark. He now has earned $241,090.

In the companion feature on Belmont park's closing card, Attention, a speedy son of Equipoise owned by Mrs. Parker Croning, came waltzing in with the National Stallion stakes by two lengths over George D. Widener's Swabia. He galloped the five-furlong straightaway in 58.2 seconds for his second straight victory, and ridden by Buddy Haas, paid $3.60 for $2.

Tom Gwyn Holds Lead In Cotton States Bat Race

Bob Hill Tops Hitters But For Only 17 Games; Kramer Leads Hurlers

Although he was finally stopped after hitting safely in 26 consecutive games, Tom Gwyn of Pine Bluff clung to his lead in the Cotton States batting free-for-all according to latest averages released today by the Howe News bureau of Chicago.

During the week Gwyn's mark dropped from .443 to .398 but the latter mark still holds first place among the regulars, one point better than the .397 posted by Eddie Zydowsky, Hot Springs shortstop. Thurman Tucker, Clarksdale outfielder, is next with .380. Bill Rollings of Pine Bluff has .361 and Lamont Duncan of Hot Springs boasts a mark of .355.

Tucker has stolen the most bases, 17, has made the most hits, 68 and is tied for the lead in runs scored at 45 apiece with Outfielder McCollum of Hot Springs. Zydowsky sets the pace in homers with 10 and in runs batted in with 49 while Jack Grantham, Clarksdale outfielder, is tops in total bases with 104 and in two base hits with 20.

Edward Kramer of Hot Springs has the best pitching record—five wins and no losses—with Frank Anderson of El Dorado coming in for his share of glory when he stopped Gwyn's streak on May 30.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Managing the Cardinals is getting to be tougher and more uncertain than coaching football at Florida U. . . . Joe Louis and Mrs. Joe are wondering if it will be a little champ or champerine in the fall. . . . Hottest baseball spot in the republic this week-end is Cincy. Dodgers and Redios play seven games in the next nine days and when they're over you'll have a pretty fair working idea where that bunting's going to fly. . . . Paychek's "comeback" proved one thing, anyway—Johnny actually can raise his hands, which customers at the Louis fight doubted. . . . What's this! For the first time in 15 years, Mel Ott is missing from the Giants' clean-up position.

AIR LANES HUMOR

During his very good broadcast of the Conn-Lesnevich fight, Mr. Sam Taub unloaded this one: "Conn is standing his ground in the center of the ring while circling to his right." (Let's see you do it, Sam.) . . . Not to be outdone, the co-commentator (a Mr. Stern) contributed this gem: "It is very warm in Detroit tonight. . . . But that's not unusual, for summer is approaching." . . . Gentlemen, gentlemen!

RAGTIME NEWS REVIEW

The Cards gave poor Ray Blades the air;
Campolo was half-killed by Baer;
The Giants demoted Melvin Ott
As keeper of the clean-up spot;
Demaret shot an eighty-one
(Which any duffer could have done)
And Sammy Snead burned up the course
While birdies sang their fool selves hoarse.
That's all the news that's fit to print
And so we end this little stint.

HEADLINE HEADLINERS

When Dizzy Dean departed for Tulsa and points west, the Chicago Daily News sped him on his way with this headline quotation from Mr. Shakespeare's Henry VIII: "Farewell, a long farewell to all my greatness." . . . A bit more to the pernt, the Chicago Times passed it up with "Dizzy spell ended."

SELECTED SHORTS

Golfer Charles G. Eberhardt of Tampa knows how the old Chick felt. The natonal open's official roster fails to list him either as a pro or an amateur. Thus he becomes the only unclassified golfer in the field. . . . Exclusive, hey? . . . High Breeze and Blensign are getting the raves in two-year-old racing circles, but don't overlook a colt named Clarksville. . . . Joe Louis flew to Washington to see his sister graduate from Howard university. . . . Alf Letourner, the French six-day bike star, has been ordered to join his regiment. He sails in a week, leaving his wife and three-year-old child here.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelpha Evening Bulletin: "Cocoa Kid, the fighter, speaks six languages. . . . Won't he have fun when he reaches the time of life when fighters start talking to themselves?"

OH, NO?

So there's nothing new under the sun?

Well, how about Demaret's eighty-one?

SOUTHERN

CRACKERS BEAT SMOKIES

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 8.—(AP)—Third Baseman Tom Hafey clouted two home runs—one in the ninth inning with the bases loaded—to drive in seven runs and give Atlanta an easy 9 to 2 win over Knoxville today in the third and "rubber" game of the series.

Hafey's first circuit clout came in the sixth with two mates aboard and was followed by one by First Baseman Lester Burge with Manager Paul Richards on base.

Score by innings:

Atlanta ............000 005 004—9 10 1
Knoxville .........010 010 000—2 10 1

Miller and Richards; Richmond, Smith and Fallon.

CHICKS WHIP PELS

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—Sam Page, relief pitching for Memphis after the New Orleans Pelicans had scored two runs and loaded the bases with only one away in the ninth inning today, retired the side without further damage to give the visiting Chicks a 10-7 victory and a 3-2 edge for the series.

The Chicks got all their runs off Maltzberger and in the seventh, when he went to the showers, big Babe Barna—who had already hit two triples—slammed one of the mightiest drives ever seen in Pelican stadium over the right-centerfield fence.

Score by innings:

Memphis .........330 001 300—10 16 0
New Orleans .....101 001 022— 7 14 1

Kohlman, Joyce, Page and Gautreaux; Maltzberger, Hart and Bremer.

SARAZEN, LITTLE IN NATIONAL OPEN PLAYOFF

'IMPOSSIBLE' 34 IN FINAL ROUND GIVES GENE TIE

Disqualify Oliver, With Tying Score, For Starting Early

By Gayle Talbot

CANTERBURY GOLF COURSE, CLEVELAND, June 8—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, the dark, fast-striding little golf veteran from Connecticut, came out of nowhere late today through the rain and mud to tie Lawson Little for the National Open championship at 287 strokes and carry the former amateur king into a playoff for the title tomorrow.

Winner of his first open championship in 1922 and a repeater in 1932, Sarazen struck for his third title so unexpectedly that it wasn't until the last three holes that the huge gallery swarmed around him.

His finish was nearly as sensational as that of '32 when he scored a final record breaking round of 66 at Fresh Meadow to snatch the title from Bobby Cruickshank and Phil Perkins.

Little, winner of the British and American amateur titles in 1934 and 1935, was in with what looked like the payoff score. Sarazen had "blown" on the out nine, going two over par, and he needed an impossible 34 coming back to tie. The course was muddy and heavy from a soaking rain.

While Little sat in the press tent and watched the scoreboard with anguished eyes, Sarazen did it. The little guy not only picked up the two birdies he needed, but on the final hole, he nearly curled in a 45-foot putt that would have won him the title.

There was a terrific hullabaloo because Ed Oliver, of Hornell, N. Y., had been disqualified along with five other players for having made an unorthodox start on his closing round.

Oliver had a total of 287, too, but it never was posted. His 71 in the afternoon was thrown out the window because the committee decided the 23-year-old star had broken one of golf's most sacred rules by teeing off some 30 minutes before his scheduled starting time and without having reported to the official starter.

None of the other five disqualified mattered particularly, because they were out of the running anyway, but Oliver was mad in every one of his 240 pounds and he had plenty of support. There was a strong movement afoot to force the U. S. G. A. to admit him to tomorrow's play-off. Both Sarazen and Little were willing.

But Hal Pierce, of Boston, president of the golf body, said flatly "The matter is closed. We will not consider it further."

He complimented Little for having made a "sporting gesture" in asking that Oliver be included in the playoff. Sarazen had said: "Shucks, let him play. I can beat both of them." The little man with the fighting heart was in fine fettle.

The two-man battle between Little, 30, and Sarazen, 38, is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. (eastern standard time) tomorrow. If they tie again, they will go at it for another 18 holes in the afternoon. Both are impatient. Oliver was crying in the clubhouse tonight.

Little's four rounds were 72-69-73-73—287. Several times he looked like he was ready to blow the tournament. On the final four holes this morning, he went three strokes over par. But he came back fighting in the afternoon.

Sarazen had rounds of 71-74-70-72—287. He started the final two rounds a stroke behind Little and Sam Snead. He was two shots behind the veteran Frank Walsh, who led the field at the end of 54 holes with 213. But while Walsh and Snead were falling apart in the final crucial 18 holes, Sarazen got tougher hole by hole until he pushed through to his favorite place in front.

Snead, who threw the championship away last year with an eight on the last hole, did almost as bad today, though not as spectacularly. Shooter of a dazzling 67 on the first day, he started the last round tied with Little and still a favorite. But he then went sky high and shot a concluding 81, the worst round shot by a ranking star in the tournament.

Horton Smith made a stout hearted finish with a 69 to land a stroke behind Little and Sarazen at 288. Any kind of a score in the morning would have given him the victory, but he developed a slice and took 78. Craig Wood, runner-up last year, had 289. Grouped at 290 were Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum and Ben Hogan.

Wilford Wehrle, of Niles, Ill., was low amateur with a total of 297. The amateur's aren't what they were in Bobby Jones' day.

Folks, Meet Slingin' Sam, A Dogie Spankin' Cowhand

By Felix R. McKnight

SWEETWATER, Tex., June 8—(AP)—Pardner, meet up with Slingin' Sam Baugh, an old cowhand 350 miles from the Rio Grande.

Slingin' Samuel, the gentleman rancher with football's finest forward passing arm, is roundin' up the dogies in rodeo corrals.

The sunburned Texan has put heavy burns on every critter within reach of his slingshot lariat to date. Old timers who nearly gulped down their quids when Sammy roped, tied and sparked a calf in 11 seconds out on his ranch, say he has the touch.

The Slinger made his formal debut at the Floydada rodeo two weeks ago. He met with an unruly calf and used up 19 seconds, which was slightly out of the money.

"Shucks, out here on the ranch I've cut that time in half," apologized Sam. "But it was different in that arena."

Other than football, of which he knows plenty after terrific careers with Texas Christian university and the professional Washington Redskins, calf roping is the best sport around Cowhand Baugh.

Recently Sam bought 25 head of Brahma calves on which to practice. But he had to sell 11 of them.

"They just got too derned big to handle."

To offset the remote possibility that Mr. George (Wet Wash) Marshal, the rather easily excited owner of the Washington football club, should become alarmed, the Slinger insists that he will not branch out into other rodeo pastimes such as bulldogging steers.

Incidentally, one of Sam's illustrious fellow townsmen, Mr. Lew (Lasspoint) Lew Jenkins, the generally recognized lightweight boxing champion, has a hankering along the same general lines.

All Lew needs is a ranch. But he promises his thunderous right hand will take care of that in July against Henry Armstrong.

Sam plans to go right along with his rodeoing, having entered the famed Stamford rodeo July 2, 3 and 4. Right now you can go out any day to Sam's corrals and find a dozen or more dogies with their tongues hanging out.

And Sam's, too.

CUBS TAKE BEES

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—Vern Olsen, freshman southpaw, pitched and batted Chicago to a 3 to 1 victory over Boston today, giving the Cubs their fifth straight triumph.

Olsen yielded eight hits, but only Chet Ross' home run, fifth of the season, counted against him. His double sent Dominic Dallessandro home with the run that untied the score in the seventh inning.

TRIBE BEATS YANKS

NEW YORK, June 8—(AP)—A pair of singles, one by Charles Keller and one by Buster Mills, were all the hits the world champions could get off Al Milnar of the Cleveland Indians today as the Tribe won, 3-0.

Marius Russo, who out-pitched Milnar earlier in the season for the Indians' only defeat, suffered his first setback of the year, giving up five hits in eight innings. Johnny Murphy, who pitched the ninth, was tagged for two more blows, one of them a homer by Roy Bell. Cleveland scored its other two runs in the fifth and seventh, adding two solid blows for a run in each frame.

FRANKIE FRISCH FINED, SUSPENDED THREE DAYS

PITTSBURGH, June 8—(AP)—President Ford Frick of the National League today suspended Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates for three days and fined him $50 for disputing a decision of Umpire D. A. Campbell in yesterday's Pirate-Phillies game.

Frick's notice to the Pittsburgh ball club said the penalty was imposed for Frisch's second inning demonstration on the field and "for jostling the umpire and delaying the game."

Campbell ordered Frisch from the field during the argument, the second tilt between the two.

Frisch was fined $75 for disputing one of Umpire Campbell's decisions last May 10 in Philadelphia.

SARAZEN, LITTLE IN NATIONAL OPEN PLAYOFF

'IMPOSSIBLE' 34 IN FINAL ROUND GIVES GENE TIE

Disqualify Oliver, With Tying Score, For Starting Early

By Gayle Talbot

CANTERBURY GOLF COURSE, CLEVELAND, June 8.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, the dark, fast-striding little golf veteran from Connecticut, came out of nowhere late today through the rain and mud to tie Lawson Little for the National Open championship at 287 strokes and carry the former amateur king into a playoff for the title tomorrow.

Winner of his first open championship in 1922 and a repeater in 1932, Sarazen struck for his third title so unexpectedly that it wasn't until the last three holes that the huge gallery swarmed around him.

His finish was nearly as sensational as that of '32 when he scored a final record breaking round of 66 at Fresh Meadow to snatch the title from Bobby Cruickshank and Phil Perkins.

Little, winner of the British and American amateur titles in 1934 and 1935, was in with what looked like the payoff score. Sarazen had "blown" on the out nine, going two over par, and he needed an impossible 34 coming back to tie. The course was muddy and heavy from a soaking rain.

While Little sat in the press tent and watched the scoreboard with anguished eyes, Sarazen did it. The little guy not only picked up the two birdies he needed, but on the final hole, he nearly curled in a 45-foot putt that would have won him the title.

There was a terrific hullabaloo because Ed Oliver, of Hornell, N. Y., had been disqualified along with five other players for having made an unorthodox start on his closing round.

Oliver had a total of 287, too, but it never was posted. His 71 in the afternoon was thrown out the window because the committee decided the 23-year-old star had broken one of golf's most sacred rules by teeing off some 30 minutes before his scheduled starting time and without having reported to the official starter.

None of the other five disqualified mattered particularly, because they were out of the running anyway, but Oliver was mad in every one of his 240 pounds and he had plenty of support. There was a strong movement afoot to force the U. S. G. A. to admit him to tomorrow's play-off. Both Sarazen and Little were willing.

But Hal Pierce, of Boston, president of the golf body, said flatly "The matter is closed. We will not consider it further."

He complimented Little for having made a "sporting gesture" in asking that Oliver be included in the playoff. Sarazen had said: "Shucks, let him play. I can beat both of them." The little man with the fighting heart was in fine fettle.

The two-man battle between Little, 30, and Sarazen, 38, is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. (eastern standard time) tomorrow. If they tie again, they will go at it for another 18 holes in the afternoon. Both are impatient. Oliver was crying in the clubhouse tonight.

Little's four rounds were 72-69-73-73—287. Several times he looked like he was ready to blow the tournament. On the final four holes this morning, he went three strokes over par. But he came back fighting in the afternoon.

Sarazen had rounds of 71-74-70-72—287. He started the final two rounds a stroke behind Little and Sam Snead. He was two shots behind the veteran Frank Walsh, who led the field at the end of 54 holes with 213. But while Walsh and Snead were falling apart in the final crucial 18 holes, Sarazen got tougher hole by hole until he pushed through to his favorite place in front.

Snead, who threw the championship away last year with an eight on the last hole, did almost as bad today, though not as spectacularly. Shooter of a dazzling 67 on the first day, he started the last round tied with Little and still a favorite. But he then went sky high and shot a concluding 81, the worst round shot by a ranking star in the tournament.

Horton Smith made a stout hearted finish with a 69 to land a stroke behind Little and Sarazen at 288. Any kind of a score in the morning would have given him the victory, but he developed a slice and took 78. Craig Wood, runner-up last year, had 289. Grouped at 290 were Ralph Guldahl, Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum and Ben Hogan.

Wilford Wehrle, of Niles, Ill., was low amateur with a total of 297. The amateur's aren't what they were in Bobby Jones' day.

CUBS TAKE BEES

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—Vern Olsen, freshman southpaw, pitched and batted Chicago to a 3 to 1 victory over Boston today, giving the Cubs their fifth straight triumph.

Olsen yielded eight hits, but only Chet Ross' home run, fifth of the season, counted against him. His double sent Dominic Dallessandro home with the run that untied the score in the seventh inning.

WOODRUFF CLIPS SECOND FROM 800-METER RECORD

COMPTON, Calif., June 8.—(AP)—John Woodruff ran 800 meters in one minute 48.6 seconds at the Compton Invitational Track and Field carnival last night to better the world's record by one second.

Woodruff, Pittsburgh's national collegiate champion last year, held the lead throughout and finished 10 yards ahead of Paul Moore of Stanford. Moore was timed at one minute 49 seconds flat.

By Felix R. McKnight

SWEETWATER, Tex., June 8.—(AP)—Pardner, meet up with Slingin' Sam Baugh—an old cowhand 350 miles from the Rio Grande.

Slingin' Samuel, the gentleman rancher with football's finest forward passing arm, is roundin' up the dogies in rodeo corrals.

The sun-broiled Texan has put hemp burns on every critter within reach of his slingshot lariat to date. Oldtimers who nearly gulped down their quids when Sammy roped, tied and spanked a calf in 11 seconds out on his ranch, say he has the touch.

The Slinger made his formal debut at the Floydada rodeo two weeks ago. He met with an unruly calf and used up 19 seconds, which was slightly out of the money.

"Shucks, out here on the ranch I've cut that time in half," apologized Sam. "But it was different in that arena."

Other than football, of which he knows plenty after terrific careers with Texas Christian university and the professional Washington Redskins, calf roping is the best sport, allows Cowhand Baugh.

Recently Sam bought 25 head of Brahma calves on which to practice. But he had to sell 11 of them.

"They just got too derned big to handle."

To offset the remote possibility that Mr. George (Wet Wash) Marshal, the rather easily excited owner of the Washington football club, should become alarmed, the Slinger insists that he will not branch out into other rodeo pastimes such as bulldogging steers.

Incidentaly, one of Sam's illustrious fellow townsmen, Mr. Larrupin' Lew Jenkins, the generally recognized lightweight boxing champion, has a hankering along the same general lines.

All Lew needs is a ranch. But he promises his thunderous right hand will take care of that in July against Henry Armstrong.

Sam plans to go right along with his rodeoing, having entered the famed Stamford rodeo July 2, 3 and 4. Right now you can go out any day to Sam's corrals and find a dozen or more dogies with their tongues hanging out.

And Sam's, too.

TRIBE BEATS YANKS

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—A pair of singles—one by Charley Keller and one by Buster Mills—were all the hits the world champions could get off Al Milnar of the Cleveland Indians today as the Tribe won, 3-0.

Marius Russo, who outpitched Milnar earlier in the season for the Indians' only defeat, suffered his first setback of the year, giving up five hits in eight innings. Johnny Murphy, who pitched the ninth, was tagged for two more blows, one of them a homer by Roy Bell. Cleveland scored its other two runs in the fifth and seventh, adding two solid blows for a run in each frame.

BROWNS WALLOP A'S

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP)—Roy Cullenbine, who was traded to St. Louis by Brooklyn because he wasn't hitting, drove in six runs today with a homer and double to lead the Browns to a 15 to 1 victory over the Athletics behind Eldon Auker's five-hit pitching.

Cullenbine started a seven-run uprising for the Browns in the fifth by drawing a base on balls and scoring on Chet Laabs' triple. Coming up for the second time in the inning he doubled with the bases full to score two runs.

In the sixth he again came to bat with the bases full and hit a homer off Rookie Carl Miles, who had succeeded Chubby Dean and Bill Beckman on the mound for the Mackmen.

FRANKIE FRISCH FINED, SUSPENDED THREE DAYS

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(AP)—President Ford Frick of the National League today suspended Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates for three days and fined him $50 for disputing a decision of Umpire Dick Campbell in yesterday's Pirate-Phillies game.

Frick's notice to the Pittsburgh ball club said the penalty was imposed for Frisch's second inning demonstration on the field and "for jostling the umpire and delaying the game."

Campbell ordered Frisch from the field during the argument, the second tilt between the two.

Not-Nearly-So-Dizzy Dean Unslings New Pitch Today

Thinks He'll Help Lowly Tulsa Win Texas League Pennant

TULSA, Okla., June 8.—(AP)—Jerome Herman Dean, neither as speedy nor as dizzy as he once was, unslings his new sidearm pitch and his new upright hope here tomorrow in the hot Texas league sunshine.

He's putting his faith in sun-baking and side-winding to revive the flame the major wars soaked out of his fireball right arm.

He thinks he'll "help the Tulsa Oilers win the Texas league pennant" —they're on the bottom side now—and help himself back up the hill.

He met his new mates in Oklahoma City and predicted, offhand, that he'd rejoin the Chicago Cubs within four weeks.

He faces the last-place Fort Worth Cats here in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader.

Sunbeam Dean isn't the cocky cotton-picker who in 1931 rifled Houston to victory in this same Texas league and in the Dixie Series, and himself into the St. Louis Cardinal camp.

The big whip that carried him through World Series and All-Star play is tricky now.

"One day I can pitch overhanded or any way," he said, "and the next day it ties up on me."

He knows he hasn't power to burn any more. "I'm used to firing it by them," he reminded and then reflected, "you get to a certain stage where you can't do that."

Tulsa Manager Roy Johnson has handled Dizzy before as a Cub coach. "Losing hurt him worse than it hurt the pitchers," Dean recalled, and that's the kind of boss he likes.

Dizzy's home country isn't cold like Chicago, where "you can't do nothin'—pick the ball up, lay the ball down, can't throw." He'll have sunshine for workouts but most games in his loop are under arcs.

Any objections? "No, sir—that's where I became a great pitcher, at night ball."

WINS 7TH TIME

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 8.—(AP)—Maureen Orcutt of White Beeches, Haworth, N. J., won the Metropolitan Women's golf championship for the seventh time today by defeating Grace Amory, of Women's National, Glenhead, L. I., 11 and 9, in the 36-hole final.

MISSISSIPPI STATE GOLF TOURNEY WON BY VINSON

GRENWOOD, Miss., June 8.—(AP)—Gene Vinson, the steady Meridian linksman once again was Mississippi's champion amateur golfer, following a 3 and 2 victory yesterday over Tom Walsh of Greenville in the finals of the 25th Annual State tournament.

Taking his fifth title, Vinson ended the match with a spectacular eagle three on the 475-yard 34th hole on which his opponent had carded a birdie.

At the end of the morning round Vinson was leading five up, with a 32, but the second nine saw Walsh cut three holes from the lead and shoot a 35. Vinson maintained a two-up margin after the 27th until the concluding hole, where a lengthy drive and a beautiful iron second shot placed him four feet from the pin.

The Meridian boy was two under par for the 34 holes, Walsh was two over.

"Shorty" Hayes [illegible] Smith in the second [illegible] singled to open the [illegible] second on a walk to Bobby Salveson after Billy Seal had forced. Manager Andy Reese fanned. Jim Winfred Brown singled to score Hayes. Bert Hodge doubled to score Salveson and Ernie Oliver was the [illegible] of Hoffman's third strike out of the frame to retire the side.

Medak doubled to start the home half of the [illegible] and Pruitt scored him with a single.

Greenville tied the game up in the fourth and drove Hoffman to the showers. Bob Hill, Buckshot left fielder, walked and Robert Didier also drew a pass. Hayes hit a slow grounder in front of the plate and beat it out for a hit, filling the bases. Seal popped to Eagar and Salveson flied to Hill in center. Bob Hill of Greenville scored after the catch. Manager Reese slammed a home run over the left field fence to score Didier and Hayes ahead of him. Speer relieved on the mound for Monroe.

Monroe took the lead again on the sixth, scoring one tally. "Hot Springs Harry" Speer led off with a single to right field. Eagar walked and Burt bunted and Hayes threw Speer out at third on a fielder's choice. Eagar and Burt pulled a double steal, Eagar going to third and Burt to second. Hill flied to Hill in short left and Englehorn hit to Salveson, who juggled the ball and Eagar scored. Taitt lined to Brown in right to end it.

Monroe added two more runs in the eighth. Medak was safe when Salveson threw low to first. Pruitt was out, Seal to Reese, Medak going to second. Schang singled to score Medak and Speer got his second hit to right, sending Schang to second. Eagar flied to Brown in right, but Burt punched a single to left scoring Schang. Hill hit to Seal, who stepped on the bag forcing Speer at third to end the frame.

The Buckshots rallied again in the ninth. Hayes went out for a pinch hitter, Bob McNamara, who singled. Seal hit to Eagar and Burt dropped his throw at second. Salveson hit to Speer and McNamara was out at third. Reese singled to score Seal, and then Brown forced Reese at second, Salveson scoring. Hodge hit a hard one to Medak, who made a beautiful stop to retire the side and end the game.

In the second game, played at night, the Buckshots got a man on base in the first when Manager Reese singled, but failed to get him around, but in the second frame the Mississippians broke the ice with one run when, with one out, Ernie Oliver got a hit to center field and went to second when Monroe's Bob Hill juggled the ball. Greenville's Bob Hill grounded out, Maxfield to Medak, but Didier came through with a single to right, scoring Oliver. Tex Ferguson, the Buckshot hurler, fanned to end the threat.

The Buckshots threatened again in the third inning but a nice catch by Charley Bowles in right field prevented a score. With one out, Bob McNamara drew a pass and after Reese skied to Burt, Brown singled to right, sending McNamara to third. Hodge then slapped a long one to right field but Bowles went back and gathered it in for the third out.

The Bucks gave Sox fans a scare again in the first of the fourth but Maxfield escaped without a run being chalked up against him. Oliver led off with a single to center. Hill fanned but Oliver stole second, and then Didier walked. On the second pitch to Ferguson, Bobby Schang whipped the ball to Medak and Didier was caught off the bag. Ferguson then fanned.

The White Sox made their first threat in the fourth but failed to capitalize on it. With one out, Hill doubled to left and then stole third. Englehorn fanned. With Bowles up, Hill made a dash for home and apparently had the base stolen, but Bowles hit the pitch and was out, second to first, thus nullifying the possible score.

The Bucks added their second run in the first of the fifth. With one out, McNamara walked and then went to second on a wild pitch to Manager Reese. Reese promptly singled to right center, scoring McNamara. Brown and Hodge flied out to halt the rally.

In the last of the fifth, the Sox again got close to the plate but were denied a score. Medak drew a pass to start it but Pruitt forced him at second. Schang was walked. Then Maxfield hit a grounder to second and Schang was forced at second on a throw from Hodge to McNamara, the shortstop. McNamara relayed the ball to Reese at first but Maxfield beat the throw, but when Pruitt attempted to score, Reese whipped the ball to Catcher Didier and Pruitt was out at the plate.

Monroe finally got a tally in the last of the sixth. Joe Eagar was safe when McNamara made a wide throw to first on his grounder. Burt skied to left. Hill rolled to McNamara, who threw him out on a close play at first, but Englehorn singled to left, scoring Eagar. Bowles grounded out to end it.

After the third out, Hill continued to argue with Umpire Dowdy over the play at first base and was finally banished from the game. Manager Taitt went to center field for the White Sox.

Then the Sox put on the story-book finish, with "Red" Pruitt taking the hero's role with a home run that clinched the victory. Englehorn was safe when Seal booted his grounder. Bowles grounded out, Seal to Reese, but Englehorn went to second. Medak then doubled to left scoring Englehorn with the tying tally. Pruitt stepped up to the plate and slapped one over the left field fence to score Medak ahead of him to snatch one out of the fire.

vantage both in effectiveness and in the preservation of human lives in the event of war."

Congress will be memorialized under the resolution to adopt legislation which will offer to all young men of the United States adequate military training not already provided.

The resolution urging the passage of a universal draft act in the event of war stated that the American Legion has advocated such a proposal for several years.

The findings of the Dies committee on "un-American" activities "conclusively show that alien and subversive activities are widespread within our own borders," the resolution on espionage and sabotage charged.

Under this latter resolution legionnaires would offer their services to the president and to the F. B. I. to halt espionage and sabotage within the United States.

Construction of another veterans' hospital in Louisiana was urged in another resolution adopted at this morning's session.

Extension of the enlistment period in the army, navy and marine corps from four to six years was advocated by the Crescent City post of New Orleans. The resolution proposed that enlisted men might be trained during the latter part of their enlistment period to hold governmental positions after leaving the service.

Under the present system, the resolution stated, they are "unable to face the world in gainful occupations, knowing nothing but to be a marine, sailor or soldier, unable to serve their apprenticeship in the basic jobs of a company or corporation because of their age."

The inclusion of a course in flag etiquette in Louisiana school curriculum was advocated by the legionnaires.

Reserve officers who are graduates of army service schools and who are physically qualified would be commissioned officers in the regular United States army if the proposal made in another resolution becomes a law. The resolution advocated the same policy for medical corps officers and other branches of service that is now extended in the army air corps.

John L. Hein, first district commander, introduced a proposal to ask the state legislature to underwrite a national American Legion convention in New Orleans in 1942. Under the proposal the department will seek $50,000 from the legislature to defray the costs of the convention.

Veterans, their widows or wives of disabled veterans should be given preference on all WPA projects another resolution proposed.

A resolution adopted at today's session changed the state convention date to some time after July 15 and instructed the department executive committee to select a convenient time after that date in the future.

Eighty-eight certificates to graduates of the service officers correspondence school were presented by National Commander Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit.

Speaking on the common purpose which the American Legion and the National Education association have, Miss Amy Hinrichs of New Orleans quoted Thomas Jefferson who said, "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization, it expects whatever was and never will be."

Miss Hinrichs declared that there cannot be adequate education without adequate appropriation. Schools today are "veritable laboratories" in democracy in which each child learns his responsibility, she said. Miss Hinrichs also pleaded for equalization of educational opportunities for all children of America.

Paul H. Griffith of Washington, D. C., national director of employment for the American Legion, told visiting legionnaires that it was much easier to get men to fight for their country if that country meant more to them than a mere place "on a breadline or in a soup-kitchen." He said that seeking employment for ex-service men was thus one of the major objectives of the legion.

He said that his task as national employment director was not to seek jobs for individuals.

"Our job is to see to it that our unemployed comrades are available for jobs through the various employment agencies now in existence," he said.

Mrs. C. W. Harris of South Carolina, national vice-president of the legion auxiliary, spoke briefly at the morning session. Other guests at the session were: Roane Waring of Memphis, Tenn., candidate for the office of national commander; Dr. N. J. Danforth, national executive committeeman from Texas; Louis Roberts, commander of the Texas department; Harry Miller, child welfare chairman of Arkansas; Mrs. George Berry, president of the Texas auxiliary.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—War news provided slight bullish stimulation for the stock market today and leading issues drifted over a narrow, irregular trail.

It was one of the slowest sessions since last July, transfers for the two hours totaled 199,270 shares. Final price changes mostly were in minor fractions either way.

Reports from Paris that the Nazis were making progress with their drive in northern France offset to some degree further indications the French were putting up a stiff resistance.

Domestic business developments were still the main sustaining market influence, brokers said.

Free sterling backed away along with the French franc, following the ruling of the British that the official and higher rate for its currency would henceforth be used for all foreign commerce. Bonds were steady and commodities mixed.

Motors managed to tack on modest plus signs now and then as talk was heard of a few of these companies going into armaments lines in a big way.

Willys-Overland common and preferred were up most of the day following announcement this concern, with a subsidiary, would enter the munitions field.

General Motors and Chrysler were resistant. The former was understood to be in a position to take care of expected arms orders without any large increase in payrolls.

Ahead at one time or another were Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, General Electric, Anaconda, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak and Consolidated Edison.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, Central, Pennsylvania, Montgomery Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, N. Y. Ward, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, Texas Corporation, Boeing and U. S. Rubber preferred.

Doing fairly well in a sluggish curb market were American Gas, Gulf Oil, International Petroleum, Mead Johnson, N. J. Zinc, Pantepec and Niagara Hudson Power. Backward were Great Northern Paper, Lake Shore and St. Regis Paper.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—Wheat prices were about steady in early dealings today. Helping to support the market was the prospect of government flour purchases over the week-end for relief distribution.

Opening 3-8 lower to 1-8 higher, July 80 7-8 to 81, September 81 1-2 to 1-4, wheat later held near this range. Corn started 1-4 off to 1-8 up, July 63 1-2 to 1-4, September 61 7-8.

Wheat closed 3-4 to 1 cent lower than yesterday, July 80 to 80 1-8, September 80 5-8 to 3-4; corn 1-2 to 7-8 off, July 62 3-4, September 61 3-8; oats unchanged to 1-2 lower.

SOX SNATCH TWO FROM GREENVILLE

got off to a five-run lead in the second frame, Greenville came back in the third and fourth to tally six runs and tie the game up. Floyd Speer relieved Ray Hoffman in the fourth and stopped the rally. He went on to blank the Buckshots for four frames and then pitch himself out of a hole in the ninth with only two runs getting in, to receive credit for his second relief victory in a week.

The Sox tallied first in the second with five runs, when Guy "Red" Pruitt lifted one of Ed Smith's pitches high over the left center field fence for a homer with Pete Medak on base. Manager Doug Taitt opened the frame with a grounder to Hodge and was out at first. Medak singled for Monroe's first hit of the game. Pruitt then blasted out his four-bagger. Bobby Schang singled to center and Hoffman was automatically out when his third strike bunt went foul. Joe Eagar walked and Bob Burt was hit by the first pitch. Bob Hill punched a single to drive in Schang and Eagar. Dale Englehorn singled to score Burt. Taitt ended the inning with a line drive to Brown in right.

"Shorty" Hayes, who had relieved Smith in the second inning barrage, singled to open the third and went to second on a walk to Bobby Salveson after Billy Seal had fanned. Manager Andy Reese fanned, but Winfred Brown singled to score Hayes. Bert Hodge doubled to score Salveson and Ernie Oliver was the victim of Hoffman's third strikeout of the frame, to retire the side.

Medak doubled to start the home half of the third and Pruitt scored him with a single.

Greenville tied the game up in the fourth and drove Hoffman to the showers. Bob Hill, Buckshot left fielder, walked and Robert Didier also drew a pass. Hayes hit a slow grounder in front of the plate and beat it out for a hit, filling the bases. Seal popped to Eagar and Salveson flied to Hill in center, Bob Hill of Greenville scoring after the catch. Manager Reese slammed a home run over the left field fence to score Didier and Hayes ahead of him. Speer relieved on the mound for Monroe.

Monroe took the lead again in the sixth, scoring one tally. "Hot Springs Harry" Speer led off with a single to right field. Eagar walked and Burt bunted and Hayes threw Speer out at third on a fielder's choice. Eagar and Burt pulled a double steal, Eagar going to third and Burt to second. Hill flied to Hill in short left and Englehorn hit to Salveson, who juggled the ball and Eagar scored. Taitt lined to Brown in right to end it.

Monroe added two more runs in the eighth. Medak was safe when Salveson threw low to first. Pruitt was out, Seal to Reese, Medak going to second. Schang singled to score Medak and Speer got his second hit to right, sending Schang to second. Eagar flied to Brown in right, but Burt punched a single to left, scoring Schang. Hill hit to Seal, who stepped on the bag, forcing Speer at third to end the frame.

The Buckshots rallied again in the ninth. Hayes went out for a pinch hitter, Bob McNamara, who singled. Seal hit to Eagar and Burt dropped his throw at second. Salveson hit to Speer and McNamara was out at third. Reese singled to score Seal, and then Brown forced Reese at second, Salveson scoring. Hodge hit a hard one to Medak, who made a beautiful stop to retire the side and end the game.

In the second game, played at night, the Buckshots got a man on base in the first when Manager Reese singled, but failed to get him around, but in the second frame the Mississippians broke the ice with one run when, with one out, Ernie Oliver got a hit to center field and went to second when Monroe's Bob Hill juggled the ball. Greenville's Bob Hill grounded out, Maxfield to Medak, but Didier came through with a single to right, scoring Oliver. Tex Ferguson, the Buckshot hurler, fanned to end the threat.

The Buckshots threatened again in the third inning but a nice catch by Charley Bowles in right field prevented a score. With one out, Bob McNamara drew a pass and after Reese skied to Burt, Brown singled to right, sending McNamara to third. Hodge then slapped a long one to right field but Bowles went back and gathered it in for the third out.

The Bucks gave Sox fans a scare again in the first of the fourth but Maxfield escaped without a run being chalked up against him. Oliver led off with a single to center. Hill fanned but Oliver stole second, and then Didier walked. On the second pitch to Ferguson, Bobby Schang whipped the ball to Medak and Didier was caught off the bag. Ferguson then fanned.

The White Sox made their first threat in the fourth but failed to capitalize on it. With one out, Hill doubled to left and then stole third. Englehorn fanned. With Bowles up, Hill made a dash for home and apparently had the base stolen, but Bowles hit the pitch and was out, second to first, thus nullifying the possible score.

The Bucks added their second run in the first of the fifth. With one out, McNamara walked and then went to second on a wild pitch to Manager Reese. Reese promptly singled to right center, scoring McNamara. Brown and Hodge flied out to halt the rally.

In the last of the fifth, the Sox again got close to the plate but were denied a score. Medak drew a pass to start it but Pruitt forced him at second. Schang also walked. Then Maxfield hit a grounder to second and Schang was forced at second on a throw from Hodge to McNamara, the shortstop. McNamara relayed the ball to Reese at first but Maxfield beat the throw, but when Pruitt attempted to score, Reese whipped the ball to Catcher Didier and Pruitt was out at the plate.

Monroe finally got a tally in the last of the sixth. Joe Eagar was safe when McNamara made a wide throw to first on his grounder. Burt skied to left. Hill rolled to McNamara, who threw him out on a close play at first, but Englehorn singled to left, scoring Eagar. Bowles grounded out to end it.

After the third out, Hill continued to argue with Umpire Dowdy over the play at first base and was finally banished from the game. Manager Taitt went to center field for the White Sox.

Then the Sox put on the story-book finish, with "Red" Pruitt taking the hero's role with a home run that clinched the victory. Englehorn was safe when Seal booted his grounder. Bowles grounded out, Seal to Reese, but Englehorn went to second. Medak then doubled to left scoring Englehorn with the tying tally. Pruitt stepped up to the plate and slapped one over the left field fence to score Medak ahead of him to snatch one out of the fire.

vantage both in effectiveness and in the preservation of human lives in the event of war."

Congress will be memorialized under the resolution to adopt legislation which will offer to all young men of the United States adequate military training not already provided.

The resolution urging the passage of a universal draft act in the event of war stated that the American Legion has advocated such a proposal for several years.

The findings of the Dies committee on "un-American" activities "conclusively show that alien and subversive activities are widespread within our own borders," the resolution on espionage and sabotage charged.

Under this latter resolution legionnaires would offer their services to the president and to the F. B. I. to halt espionage and sabotage within the United States.

Construction of another veterans' hospital in Louisiana was urged in another resolution adopted at this morning's session.

Extension of the enlistment period in the army, navy and marine corps from four to six years was advocated by the Crescent City post of New Orleans. The resolution proposed that enlisted men might be trained during the latter part of their enlistment period to hold governmental positions after leaving the service.

Under the present system, the resolution stated, they are "unable to face the world in gainful occupations, knowing nothing but to be a marine, sailor or soldier, unable to serve their apprenticeship in the basic jobs of a company or corporation because of their age."

The inclusion of a course in flag etiquette in Louisiana school curriculum was advocated by the legionnaires.

Reserve officers who are graduates of army service schools and who are physically qualified would be commissioned officers in the regular United States army if the proposal made in another resolution becomes a law. The resolution advocated the same policy for medical corps officers and other branches of service that is now extended in the army air corps.

John L. Hein, first district commander, introduced a proposal to ask the state legislature to underwrite a national American Legion convention in New Orleans in 1942. Under the proposal the department will seek $50,000 from the legislature to defray the costs of the convention.

Veterans, their widows or wives of disabled veterans should be given preference on all WPA projects another resolution proposed.

A resolution adopted at today's session changed the state convention date to some time after July 15 and instructed the department executive committee to select a convenient time after that date in the fuure.

Eighty-eight certificates to graduates of the service officers correspondence school were presented by National Commander Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit.

Speaking on the common purpose which the American Legion and the National Education association have, Miss Amy Hinrichs of New Orleans quoted Thomas Jefferson who said, "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization, it expects whatever was and never will be."

Miss Hinrichs declared that there cannot be adequate education without adequate appropriation. Schools today are "veritable laboratories" in democracy in which each child learns his responsibility, she said. Miss Hinrichs also pleaded for equalization of educational opportunities for all children of America.

Paul H. Griffith of Washington, D. C., national director of employment for the American Legion, told visiting legionnaires that it was much easier to get men to fight for their country if that country meant more to them than a mere place "on a breadline or in a soup-kitchen." He said that seeking employment for ex-service men was thus one of the major objectives of the legion.

He said that his task as national employment director was not to seek jobs for individuals.

"Our job is to see to it that our unemployed comrades are available for jobs through the various employment agencies now in existence," he said.

Mrs. C. W. Harris of South Carolina, national vice-president of the legion auxiliary, spoke briefly at the morning session. Other guests at the session were: Roane Waring of Memphis, Tenn., candidate for the office of national commander; Dr. N. J. Danforth, national executive committeeman from Texas; Louis Roberts, commander of the Texas department; Harry Miller, child welfare chairman of Arkansas; Mrs. George Berry, president of the Texas auxiliary.

MARSEILLE, France, June 8.—(AP)—Four men and one woman, three of them with Italian names, were sentenced to death today by a military court for espionage. The woman, Catherine Muratore, and one of the men, Henri Rosa, were sentenced in Absentia, having escaped arrest.

GIVES WARNING

ROME, June 8.—(AP)—The newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia, speculating on the course of the European war when and if Italy enters it, warned today that "for every Italian city bombed five English cities would suffer the same treatment."

SWISS ATTACK

BERN, June 8.—(AP)—A German bomber was forced to land and a Nazi Messerchmitt fighting plane was shot out of the sky today by Swiss air patrols in widely separated parts of Switzerland. Two Swiss pilots were reported killed, their plane shot down by German fliers over the Jura mountains.

CAN'T GET HOME

DUBLIN, June 8.—(AP)— At least a hundred Americans, anxious to escape the perils of war, faced the prospect today of being left behind because they lack money for passage to the United States on the liner Washington.

The shiparrived at Bordeaux last night and is scheduled to sail for Lisbon, Portugal, tomorrow night, and from there to Ireland sometime next week. It may call either at Galway on the west coast, or at Cobh in the south.

ENVOY CAPTURED

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP)—The British ambassador to Brussels, Sir Lancelot Oliphant, was captured with British expeditionary force troops left behind in France, DNB, official German news agency announced today.

The agency said that since Sir Lancelot "was captured in the course of military actions on French soil and under certain suspicious circumstances, his case will be closely examined."

LINER SUNK

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 8.—The sinking of the armed merchant cruiser Carinthia—a 20,277-ton former Cunard-White Star liner popular with Americans as a world cruise ship before the war—was announced tonight by the admiralty.

It was the largest merchant ship yet sunk by enemy action since the was started.

Mr. M. J. McInnis and Miss Sunnye Williams who have been attending L. S. U. are at home for the summer.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—War news provided scant bullish stimulation for the stock market today and leading issues shifted over a narrowly irregular trail.

It was one of the slowest sessions since last July, transfers for the two hours totalled 199,270 shares. Final price changes mostly were in minor fractions either way.

Reports from Paris that the Nazis were making progress with their drive in northern France offset to some degree further indications the French were putting up a stiff resistance.

Domestic business developments were still the main sustaining market influence, brokers said.

"Free" sterling backed away, along with the French franc, following the ruling of the British that the official and higher rate for us currency would henceforth be used for all foreign commerce. Bonds were steady and commodities mixed.

Motors managed to tack on modest plus signs now and then as talk was heard of a few of these companies going into armaments lines in a big way.

Willys Overland common and preferred were up most of the day following announcement this concern, with a subsidiary, would enter the munitions field.

General Motors and Chrysler were resistant. The former was understood to be in a position to take care of expected army orders without any large increase in payrolls.

Ahead at one time or another were Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, General Electric, Anaconda, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak and Consolidated Edison.

Inclined to lag were U. S. Steel, Central, Pennsylvania, Montgomery Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, N. Y. Ward, Goodyear, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois, Texas Corporation, Boeing and U. S. Rubber preferred.

Doing fairly well in a sluggish curb market were American Gas, Gulf Oil, International Petroleum, Mead Johnson, N. J. Zinc, Pantepec and Niagara Hudson Power. Backward were Great Northern Paper, Lake Shore and St. Regis Paper.

'MOSQUITO BOATS' ACTIVE FOR NAZIS

Resemble Tactical Maneuvers Of Famed Stuka Dive-Bombers

By Lynn Heinzerling

BERLIN, June [illegible]—(AP)—The German speedboats [illegible] combat [illegible] of the [illegible] devil [illegible] torpedo [illegible] the feared German 'Stuka' dive-bombers.

The [illegible] boats which were [illegible] days covering the [illegible] Allied troops from Dunkerque [illegible] the Battle of Flanders, actually [illegible] 'Stuka' dive-bombers.

They [illegible] to penetrate and [illegible] surprise [illegible] orders [illegible] Human bomb [illegible] from its tube almost at the [illegible] of the enemy vessel, the boat itself being aimed at the target and [illegible] rocketing toward it until the torpedo is released.

These boats are built with but a fraction of the material needed for other warships and [illegible] Germany [illegible] more out of [illegible] than strategic considerations.

The [illegible] carry crews of 12 to 15 men who are capable of bearing up under the nervous strain of dashing under tremendous speed into the very shadow of the warship with the torpedo "at ready," releasing it at the last possible moment to insure maximum [illegible].

The small boat then careens aside in the style of the Stuka planes and streaks away to a safe distance.

The drivers of these mosquito boats are recruited from three principal sources: the ranks of German motorboat racers, North German fishermen and members of canoe clubs of Sudeten and Austrian Germany who are accustomed to the swift transit and quick thinking required in mountain rivers.

The gasoline consumption of the small boats corresponds to that of two medium-sized automobiles. A mother ship for the darting speedboats accompanies them with their munitions and fuel supplies. The mother ships permit a widened area of operations.

LAST CIVILIANS FLEE DUNKERQUE

This radio transmitted picture from Paris shows the wind-up of the total evacuation of Dunkerque, says a French censor approved caption. The flight of these last few civilians came as smoke rose from bomb-shattered buildings in the background. It was from Dunkerque that the allied troops trapped in Flanders escaped to England. Note the woman pushing the baby carriage in the foreground followed by a man rolling his bicycle.

BOARD OF PHARMACY GRANTS CERTIFICATES

NEW ORLEANS, June 8.—(AP)—William August Worner, president of the Louisiana state board of pharmacy, announced today the board had granted certificates as registered pharmacists to 18 applicants who took examinations this week.

The list included Nicholas Carl Montalbano, Bayou Sale; Bert David Williams, Minden; Eugene John Ayo, Lockport; Marcia F. Heiman, Covington; Marie Rita Poche, Lutcher; James D. Vinci, St. Francisville, and Ulysses Stafford Bell, Baton Rouge. The others were from New Orleans and Kenner.

Walter Charles Lyons of Vidalia and three from New Orleans received certificates as qualified assistants.

REASON ENOUGH

NEWINGTON, Conn.—No school children play hookey to enjoy the swimming pool and tennis courts at the Municipal park here.

The park caretaker, John Walsh, is also the town truant officer.

GUESS AGAIN

EMPORIUM, Pa.—A wrong guess in court cost Thomas Peno and his son Fred $200.

The case hinged on an animal liver which the Penos claimed was pork. Game wardens said it was that of a deer.

The prosecution displayed in court a pork and a venison liver and asked the Penos to name them. They missed and were fined $200 for illegal possession of deer meat.

FUNNY BEESINESS

EVANSTON, Ill.—A swarm of bees is making life miserable at the Robert Babbit home.

The insects made the chimney their headquarters for reconnoitering flights throughout the house three days this week.

Finally a fire was built in the grate. That repulsed them but it caused almost as much discomfort as the bees. The temperature outdoors was 92—and the Babbits couldn't open the windows for air since the house had just been painted and the screens were off.

Said bonds will be paid upon presentation on July 1, 1940, at the office of the state treasurer of Louisiana, and cease to bear interest on said date. It was given by order of the board of commissioners at Tallulah, La., by B. F. Young, president, board of commissioners, with B. R. Pinkston, secretary, board of commissioners, as attest.

TOMATO HARVEST OFFICIALLY BEGUN

Crop Delayed But 70 Cars Expected In Jackson, Winn, Caldwell

The 1940 northeast Louisiana tomato crop harvest officially started Friday with the opening of all the shipping sheds operated by the Jackson-Winn-Caldwell Truck Growers' Cooperative association.

This year's crop, which was delayed and damaged by adverse weather conditions early in the season, promises to be one of the most profitable in the history of tomato growing in this area. The tomatoes are of excellent quality and are bringing a better price than last year's early crop.

However, an unusually large number of tomatoes are being culled because many farmers are gathering their crop too soon. According to G. P. Martin, chairman of the Chatham branch of the association, farmers can avoid this waste merely by waiting until pinked tomatoes begin to show in their fields.

Last year the first farmers' cooperative association in this part of Louisiana was organized at Chatham. Those farmers who marketed their tomatoes through that organization showed so much greater profits than other farmers that the association was extended to take in virtually all the established tomato growing area in northeast Louisiana, Mr. Martin said.

Because of the new organization, which covers the parishes of Jackson, Winn and Caldwell, is so widespread, many commission merchants make bids for this year's crop. A Texas concern was selected as the medium through which the crop would be commissioned.

Last year 39 cars were shipped from this area. The estimate for this year has been set at 70 cars of number one tomatoes.

Resemble Tactical Maneuvers Of Famed Stuka Dive-Bombers

By Lynn Heinzerling

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP)—The German speedboats which are sent after British warships in the English channel combine the advantages of the daredevil tactics of the Japanese "human torpedoes" and the fearful German "stuka" dive-bombers.

These "mosquito boats," which were used to attack British ships covering the evacuation of Allied troops from Dunkerque in the Battle of Flanders, actually are nothing more than floating "Stuka" dive-bombers.

Their sole function is to puncture and destroy larger ships in swift surprise raids in enemy harbors or in confined sea areas. # Returning Students Feted As They Reach Their Homes Here For Summer

Out-Of-Door Functions Attract Local Society

Fudickars Hosts At Week-End Party At Camp; Four Families Prepare For Sea Fishing Cruise

By Eve C. Bradford

The pre-summer drowse is most definitely in the air. Society has become synonymous with out-of-door living, and plans its activities accordingly. The hectic days of graduation have been cast into the limbo of forgotten things, and the returning students, home for the summer, flash across the picture.

They are coming home in droves [illegible] across country via rail, dropping down from the [illegible] of Selman airport. The welcome mat has been spread and [illegible] in households where families are once again united.

Mary [illegible] rode the rails home from Randolph-Macon instead of [illegible] due to excess baggage. Home for the summer means trunks and paraphernalia accumulated during nine months of school, and of course all that is strictly taboo when flying. Mary Lavinia's saddle horse has been champing at the bit, so to speak, waiting for her return from school, so that the daily canters could be resumed.

Mary Louise Fudickar had scarcely breezed into town from Northwestern university before she had donned slacks and sweater, and was off for "Azulike" the Fudickar summer camp on Lake St. John. The week-end party in her honor is a congenial one with the entire Fudickar family playing host.

Gay Noe's lovely house guest Jerry Keiss of El Reno, Texas will be given a generous slice of the special brand of hospitality served at these summer camps. She and Gay are guests of the Fudickars over the week-end.

There is one date on the July calendar looked forward to with an anticipatory thrill by ardent disciples of Izaak Walton. It is in July, when they go down to the sea in ships. Every summer, during the month of July, the Fred Millsaps, the Murray Hudsons, the Fred Fudickars, and the R. C. Whites rent a schooner and engage in deep sea fishing in the gulf of Mexico. It is the kind of vacation they love best of all. They return home as brown as the proverbial berry, and benefitted in every way from being "rocked in the cradle of the deep."

The younger generation in Monroe is blossoming out with a series of social affairs of its own these days, and is doing a good job of competing with the parties of the elders.

The Clyde Brown home was unusually gay last week as Anna and Clyde were trying to keep their young daughter's mind off an impending appendectomy. Anna arranged one lovely little get-together after another with Tuesday night's party really a gala occasion. It was truly a case of mind over matter, as Ann was so gay and happy, and in such a festive mood, there was no place in her mind for a single gloomy thought. It is all over now, and Ann's room at the sanitarium resembles a florist shop.

Women who 20 years ago knitted and sewed for the boys who went overseas are now taking up the work as though they had never left off. The Red Cross, "the greatest mother of them all," has asked for help for 5,000,000 women and children made homeless and foodless by war conditions, and the women of the United States are answering. They did it before and they will do it again. If you have any doubt about Monroe women answering, just go around to local Red Cross headquarters where women are working in regular shifts. Emily Wright, as knitting chairman, is a busy person these days. The click of the needles is sweet music to the ears of Mrs. W. C. Holstein, who is in charge at Red Cross headquarters. Others working like Trojans are Mrs. Emile Kaliski, Mabel Horuff, and Elizabeth McCrani. Reading the daily news, they realize that they must hurry with the sewing so that it will be in readiness for the shipment overseas, September 1.

The same interest, the same enthusiasm, the same missionary zeal displayed by women in Monroe 20 years ago is again manifested.

In a recent conversation, Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, president of the local Women's International Label league, told us that at least 18 members had offered their services, and would form a unit working in shifts at Red Cross headquarters. And so the story goes.

To the ordinary observer, life moves along in old familiar grooves—but those who prick the surface, get a glimpse of realities.

When Louise Briggs Smith left Monroe, where she made many warm friends during her month's visit, she went to Tucson, Ariz., to watch the filming of a great picture, "Arizona." Her son-in-law is a camera man on the set and as his guest she will have entree to the town of adobe as it might have existed 80 years ago. The stockade, mission and all the appurtenances have been built for this picture unfolding the dramatic story of a western outpost during the Civil war days. The Tucson of the '60s is duplicated in remarkable manner almost within hailing distance of the present Tucson. Mrs. Briggs was looking forward with no small degree of interest to the appearance of all the stars of "Arizona" in a play staged for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Zeta Tau Alpha Meets At Shreveport On 14th

Plans have been completed for the Zeta province convention of Zeta Tau Alpha which will be held in Shreveport, La., at the Washington-Youree hotel June 14-16, Mrs. J. C. Mouton, Beaumont, Tex., province president, announced.

Delegates from the active chapters to the convention include: Wanda Richards, Benton, Ark.; Mary Ann Stedman, Austin, Tex.; Beth Briscoe, Georgetown, Tex.; Valerie Sequin, Dallas, Tex.; Gertrude Gill, Sulphur, Okla.; Dorothy Robinson, Shreveport, La.; Phyllis Derbes, New Orleans, La. Representatives from the active chapters in the following colleges will be present: University of Arkansas, Texas university, Southern Methodist university, Oklahoma A. and M., Centenary college, Sophie Newcomb. A large number of alumnae members throughout the province will attend. Among outstanding members present will be Mrs. Harold H. Helper, New Orleans, grand president of Zeta Tau Alpha; Dr. May Agnes Hopkins of Dallas, Mrs. Crate Dalton (Norma Patterson), noted novelist.

"Scholarship" will be the theme of the convention, and will serve as the topic of E. Weldon Jones' opening address, June 15. Mr. Jones is superintendent of schools in Caddo parish. At the banquet to be held at the Washington-Youree June 15, Mrs. George Conger, Shreveport newspaper woman, will speak on "The Value of Fraternities." Other business meetings will include discussions of rushing, publicity and scholarship, presided over by the province president, Mrs. Mouton. Round-table discussion for active chapters will be conducted by Mrs. James L. Boyles, Houston, province rush captain. Round-table discussion for alumnae will be conducted by Mrs. L. G. Dooley, Oklahoma City, third vice-president of the province. Mrs. Paul J. Nicholson, Stillwater, Okla., first vice-president, is chairman of the luncheon Sunday, June 16, honoring province initiates. Mrs. W. C. Higginbotham of Dallas, secretary-treasurer, is convention business manager, and chairman of credentials committee. Mrs. Sam McCorkle of Dallas, second vice-president, is chairman of the Zeta Mother-Daughter luncheon which will be held Saturday noon.

The Beta Iota chapter of Centenary college, Shreveport, and the local alumnae will serve as official hostesses to the convention. Mrs. W. T. Harton is general chairman. The Mothers club of the Shreveport Zetas will entertain with a reception at the sorority house on Centenary campus Friday evening, June 14.

Over two hundred Zetas throughout Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to register Friday and Saturday mornings, June 14 and 15.

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded in Virginia in 1898 and now has seventy-nine active chapters in the United States and Canada. Between seventy and eighty charter alumnae groups, as well as many unchartered alumnae chapters, are functioning actively. The sorority is one of the leading fraternity organizations and its membership exceeds 14,000.

Miss Dorothy Seigers Marries John Paylor

Claiming prominence among nuptials was that of Miss Dorothy Seigers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Seigers of Newellton, La., and John Payor, Jr., of Monroe at the Church of Christ, with the pastor, Rev. J. P. Lowery, officiating.

An artistic setting for the ceremony was created by the placement of tall French baskets overflowing with pink roses and woodwardia fern, in the background.

A prenuptial concert was rendered by Miss Claudine Paylor and Audrey Paylor, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Lorraine Harrison, and the bridesmaids, Mildred Hurt and Johnnie Stringer, wore orchid and pink dotted swiss gowns with lace yokes and short, full skirts. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of sweetheart roses and valley lilies tied with pink satin ribbons.

Meredith Johnson served as best man and the groomsmen were Buford Mayberry and C. E. Corley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely model of dusty rose crepe with Alencon lace yoke and full, short skirt. She wore a wide brimmed hat of navy blue and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom. The wedding cake, centering the bride's table was cut by the bride and bridegroom before they departed on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paylor will make their home in this city.

INTRODUCING . . .

Miss Arline Elroy Scruggs of Paris, Tenn., whose engagement to Lorenzo McIntosh Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Smith of West Monroe, is formally announced today. Miss Scruggs will arrive in Monroe the first of the week to participate in the wedding of Mr. Smith's sister, Miss Cecile Smith and Wayne Wamsley, Jr., on June 11.

Activity Of P.-T. A. Membership Sought

"To cure is the voice of the past. To prevent is the divine whisper of today." These words were spoken by Mrs. J. P. Pettengill, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Pettengill, addressing the vast assemblage, members of the P.-T. A. Congress attending the 43rd annual convention in Omaha, Neb., said: "It seems that our goal is to set up an environment in which handicaps cannot happen; that we should prevent handicaps by increasing the effectiveness of community resources that now are available, the kind of homes and schools actually provided."

Mrs. Pettengill entered parent-teacher work in 1924, wholly a novice, because she wanted to learn more about the rearing of her young son and daughter. Now a scant 13 years later, she not only had been made leader of the national parent-teacher movement, but had headed the home and community section of this world meeting of educators.

Leaders in parent-teacher work realize that membership alone counts for little. Activity of members is demanded of every association. One of the most profitable years in the history of the Twin Cities P.-T. A. has just been completed under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Keller. Looking back over the work of the past year, particular stress is laid on the child-study groups and the classes studying social hygiene, mental hygiene and, most significant of all, legislation. The P.-T. A. saw the great need for such training and did something besides talk about it.

Welfare work was done on a large scale last year. Children were examined at health clinics—and here is the notable thing about these examinations, physicians gave their services without charge, believing that prevention is two-thirds of the cure.

There has been much done for culture through the medium of the Twin Cities P.-T. A. Every association observed Book week with efforts to lead children to reading books just for fun. Many associations have book shelves of their own, and there was no lack of interest in films and radio programs during the past year, all in an effort to find the right entertainment for the child's leisure hours, as well as to aid him educationally. There must be something of considerable community value to all this, as every newspaper in the state carried P.-T. A. in their columns.

Leaders of the P.-T. A. in this city want all children to have security, affection, health, education and opportunity. They want every child to have these advantages so fully and so freely that every child will be able to develop his powers to the highest extent in service, happiness and character.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hart were privileged to be present at the graduation of their daughter, Miss Theodora Hart, from the state university, Baton Rouge. They were accompanied home by Miss Hart and Miss Mary Hayward, a student at the university who will spend the summer with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward.

Club Entertains With Beautiful Garden Fete

Gardens Of Mrs. L. N. Larche Provide Charming Setting For Twentieth Century Book Club Party

The presummer drowse has driven society out of doors where gardens in the late evening offer a cool retreat and give a colorful background to social affairs.

Mrs. L. N. Larche's out-of-door living room in the rear gardens of her home, offered a charming setting for the first garden fete of the season, last Tuesday afternoon when members of the Twentieth Century Book club assisted Mrs. Larche in extending courtesies to guests who called between the hours of 5 and 6.

The lily pool, hedged in with Japanese bamboo, tall palms and luxuriant foliage was fringed with comfortable chairs for the guests who formed conversational groups and lingered in the garden where they were served ices and French cakes, beautifully embossed in garden colors.

A stringed orchestra supplied music throughout the receiving hours.

Mrs. Larche, wearing a white lace, floor-length model, was assisted by her three daughters, Mrs. A. O. Sanders of Helena, Ark., in delft blue lace model, Mrs. L. L. Langford of Jackson, Miss., in flesh-colored lace and chiffon and Miss Sara Larche in a black and white dotted swiss gown. Others receiving with Mrs. Larche, members of the Twentieth Century Book club, were: Mrs. T. O. Brown in black chiffon and silver slippers, Mrs. Louis Hullum in violet colored chiffon, Mrs. Courtney Oliver in pink lace and Mrs. Fagan Cox in flowered chiffon.

Trays of confections were passed among the guests by Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. Blossom Butler, Miss Mary Trousdale, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Miss Irene Page and Miss Jean Hebert.

Various members of Sigma Phi of Beta Mu Iota of Monroe took the hot weather in hand Wednesday night, June 5, and had a swimming party and picnic. Everyone enjoyed a nice long swim in the pool, then a merry time at Bernstein park roasting wieners and making hot dogs. All members of the faculty were present with the exception of Mr. Louis Mathis.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pair, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Parish, Miss Nina Mathis and Willis Evans, Miss Stelle Blair and Todd Cole, Charlotta Harp and Floyd Mathis, Vareen Roy and George Reed, Ola Farmer and Woodrow Lewis, Verna Mae Lively and Roy Montgomery, Bonnie Jo Cobb and Regie Cuave, Joyce Nolan and Marcus Carswell, Kathryn Carson and Bernard Smith, Doyce Fox and C. M. Netherland, T. J. Mathis, Oscar Lewis, Paul Ray Newcomer and Barney Sasser.

Elbertine Moore's Recital Praised

The piano recital given recently at Northeast Junior college presenting Elbertine Moore, student of Florence Ziegler Allbritton, was one of the outstanding musical events of the month. From the first number through the final encore, Miss Moore exhibited unusual poise and assurance. Her manner was gracious and unaffected.

The Bach, Mozart and Beethoven possessed considerable taste and charm of interpretation. From the delicate beauties of the Mozart "Romanza" the performer crossed into the delightful vigor of Beethoven's "Country Dance" with sure evidence of versatility.

In the second group, Schubert's lovely "Impromptu in A Flat" charmed the audience as did the appealing Chopin Preludes and Paderewski's ever-favorite "Minuet in G" which Miss Moore played with appropriate individualism. The Moskowski "Caprice Espagnole" closing the group was one of the most ambitious and brilliant of the programmed numbers, calling into play the performer's adequate technical equipment.

Following intermission, "Tryst" by Nearing carried the audience into a mood of tranquility, followed by MacFayden's gay and lilting "Country Dance" played with sparkling contrasts. Rudolph Ganz's "Animal Pictures" were cleverly done and received amused response from the audience. The group of American composers was brought to a close with a dashing performance of Mana Zucca's "Bolero de Concert."

The Allegro movement of Beethoven's Concerto in C Major was the highlight of the evening. With Mrs. Allbritton at the second piano, Miss Moore presented final proof of an unquestionable musical talent in her impressive rendition of the concerto movement.

The Ouachita Parish High school Glee club with their director, Mrs. Audie Moffett, attended the concert en masse in evening attire. Following the final encore, two representatives of the glee club presented Miss Moore with a lovely gift and beautiful flowers, expressing their appreciation for her valuable service as accompanist during her high school years.

The enthusiastic audience including numbers of Monroe's most representative musicians and music patrons, offered a final rousing ovation to this young artist and her teacher.

Miss Lynn Is Bride Of Elton Abernathy

Miss Irene Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lynn of Bernice, became the bride of Elton Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Abernathy of Brownwood, Tex., in an impressive ceremony Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the Methodist church. Rev. L. P. Moreland officiated.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of woodwardia fern and shasta daisies flanked by candelabra holding cathedral tapers and baskets of white gladioli.

Mrs. W. R. Heard played Schubert's "Serenade" and accompanied Mrs George Grafton, who sang "Because." Mr. Elbert Haskins accompanied Miss Cynthia Nixon, who sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." The traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional of the bridal party.

Miss Virginia Colvin was the bride's maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Fay Burns, Miss Evelyn McGee, Miss Martha Wainwright and Miss Eleanor Harrell. They all wore lovely white morning frocks.

John Mack Kavanaugh attended the bridegroom as best man, and his groomsmen were W. R. Lynn, James Parkersn, George Edwards Abernathy and John Meadows.

The bride presented her attendants with beautiful vanities, and the bridegroom gave handkerchiefs to his best man and groomsmen.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, after which the young couple left on a short trip, and will be at home in Iowa City, Iowa, for the summer.

For traveling, Mrs. Abernathy chose a blue sheer with rose-colored accessories.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. Elbert Haskins, Miss Cynthia Nixon, Miss Paul, Miss Walker, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. White, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Boyd and Miss Roberts of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Voss, Dubach; Mr. and Mrs. Lister Tanner, Homer, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tanner, Arp, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Tanner, Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. H. English, Hico, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Abernathy and George Edwards Abernathy, Brownwood Tex

Mrs. E. B. Green and Mrs. Madge Rockett of Bernice, entertained with a luncheon-bridge at the civic club house.

The luncheon was served buffet style, from a beautifully appointed table serviced with silver and florally adorned with a plaque of blue delphinium and yellow daisies. The small tables, where the guests were seated, were adorned with delft blue Dutch shoes filled with yellow daisies.

Later bridge was introduced and prizes awarded for high scores. The table prizes were the Dutch shoes and were claimed by Miss Tressie Cook, Mrs. W. R. Heard, Mrs. Doyle Ferguson and Miss Myrtle Talbot.

The guests were: Misses Doris Gaston, Myrtle Talbot, Tressie Cook, Mesdames James Glover, Harry Cook, W. R Heard, Colburn Platt, A. M. Edwards, George Lindsey, Jr., George Grafton, K. F. Thaxton, Doyle Ferguson, Fred Glover, L. P. Whiteside and Era Wallace.

Lorenzo Smith To Wed Arline Scruggs

Of interest to friends in the Twin Cities is the announcement made by Dr. and Mrs. Elroy Scruggs of Paris, Tenn., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Arline Scruggs, to Lorenzo McIntosh Smith of Chicago and West Monroe, La. The wedding will take place June 26.

Miss Scruggs and Mr. Smith have attained prominence in the dramatics in Chicago, where they will reside. Miss Scruggs, a graduate of Gulf Park college, Gulfport, Miss., and of Northwestern university, where she received her Bachelor of Speech degree, has been assistant at the Pearl Roos Dramatic studio in Chicago while working on her master's degree at Northwestern, and has been recognized for her stage designing, especially in lighting and scenery. She belongs to the Delta Gamma sorority, to the Student Production Union and to the Orchesis, honorary dance society at Northwestern.

Mr. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Smith of West Monroe, is a graduate of L. S. U. and of Columbia college, Chicago, and is an instructor and director of dramatic art in the Chicago Commons; a producer of children's plays and a director in Little Theatre and Summer Theatre work. He is also a leader in the pioneer television field.

Miss Jane McMullen Weds Julius McKnight

Of affectionate interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. James McMullen of the marriage of their daughter, Jane Corinne, to Julius McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKnight.

The wedding took place May 26 in Rayville, La., with Rev. J. H. Hook, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. McKnight are now at home to their friends at 201 Arkansas avenue, this city.

The bride, attractive member of the younger set, is a member of this year's graduating class of Northeast Junior college. She is a member of Alpha Delta Kappa national sorority and a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor scholastic fraternity. She is also a member of Delta Phi Omega, national honorary speech fraternity. She has been an outstanding student of the speech department at Northeast Junior college where she served as president of the speech club.

Mr. McKnight is a graduate of Northeast Junior college and is now associated with Monroe Hardware company.

Miss Gilliland Weds Richard Morgan Drew

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Gilliland, daughter of Mrs. Clara Gilliland, and Richard Morgan Drew of West Monroe, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. E. Smith of Delhi, La., on the seventh of June. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held with Mrs. Smith extending courtesies.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew are spending their honeymoon in New Orleans and upon their return will be at home in West Monroe.

Mrs. Drew is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Louisiana Tech. She is a member of the Ouachita Parish High school faculty.

Mr. Drew is associated with the Drew Wholesale Grocery company.

A marriage of interest to West Carroll parish was that of Miss Mattye Lee Donald, a member of the Oak Grove High school faculty for the past two years, and Sam H. Campbell, postmaster of Oak Grove. The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Choudrant Saturday afternoon, June 1. After a short wedding trip to points in southern Louisiana the couple will be at home to their friends in Oak Grove.

Returning Students Feted As They Reach Their Homes Here For Summer

Fudickars Hosts At Week-End Party At Camp; Four Families Prepare For Sea Fishing Cruise

By Eve C. Bradford

The pre-summer drowse is most definitely in the air. Society has become synonymous with out-of-door living, and plans its activities accordingly. The hectic days of graduation have been cast into the limbo of forgotten things, and the returning students, home for the summer, flash across the picture.

They are coming home in droves—across country, via rail, dropping down from the air at Selman airport. The welcome mat has been spread, and joy reigns supreme in households where families are once again united.

Mary Lavinia Inabnet rode the rails home from Randolph Macon, instead of flying as she uually does, due to excess baggage. Home for the summer means trunks and paraphernalia accumulated during nine month of school, and of course, all that is strictly taboo when flying. Mary Lavinia's saddle horse has been champing at the bit, so to speak, waiting for her return from school, so that the daily canters could be resumed.

Mary Louise Fudickar had scarcely breezed into town from Northwestern university before she had donned slacks and sweater, and was off for "Azulikit," the Fudickar summer camp on Lake St. John. The week-end party in her honor is a congenial one with the entire Fudickar family playing host.

Gay Noe's lovely house guest, Jerry Kelso of El Reno, Texas, will be given a generous slice of the special brand of hospitality served at these summer camps. She and Gay are guests of the Fudickars over the week-end.

There is one date on the July calendar looked forward to with an anticipatory thrill by ardent disciples of Izaak Walton. It is in July, when they go down to the sea in ships. Every summer, during the month of July, the Fred Millsaps, the Murray Hudsons, the Fred Fudickars, and the R. C. Whites rent a schooner and engage in deep sea fishing in the gulf of Mexico. It is the kind of vacation they love best of all. They return home as brown as the proverbial berry, and benefitted in every way from being "rocked in the cradle of the deep."

The younger generation in Monroe is blossoming out with a series of social affairs of its own these days, and is doing a good job of competing with the parties of the elders.

The Clyde Brown home was unusually gay last week as Anna and Clyde were trying to keep their young daughter's mind off an impending appendectomy. Anna arranged one lovely little get-together after another with Tuesday night's party really a gala occasion. It was truly a case of mind over matter, as Ann was so gay and happy, and in such a festive mood, there was no place in her mind for a single gloomy thought. It is all over now, and Ann's room at the sanitarium resembles a florist shop.

Women who 20 years ago knitted and sewed for the boys who went overseas are now taking up the work as though they had never left off. The Red Cross, "the greatest mother of them all," has asked for help for 5,000,000 women and children made homeless and foodless by war conditions, and the women of the United States are answering. They did it before and they will do it again. If you have any doubt about Monroe women answering, just go around to local Red Cross headquarters where women are working in regular shifts. Emily Wright, as knitting chairman, is a busy person these days. The click of the needles is sweet music to the ears of Mrs. W. C. Holstein, who is in charge at Red Cross headquarters. Others working like Trojans are Mrs. Emile Kaliski, Mabel Horuff, and Elizabeth McCranie. Reading the daily news, they realize that they must hurry with the sewing so that it will be in readiness for the shipment overseas, September 1.

The same interest, the same enthusiasm, the same missionary zeal displayed by women in Monroe 20 years ago is again manifested.

In a recent conversation, Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, president of the local Women's International Label league, told us that at least 18 members had offered their services, and would form a unit working in shifts at Red Cross headquarters. And so the story goes.

To the ordinary observer, life moves along in old familiar grooves—but those who prick the surface, get a glimpse of realities.

When Louise Briggs Smith left Monroe, where she made many warm friends during her month's visit, she went to Tucson, Ariz., to watch the filming of a great picture, "Arizona." Her son-in-law is a camera man on the set and as his guest she will have entree to the town of adobe as it might have existed 80 years ago. The stockade, mission and all the appurtenances have been built for this picture unfolding the dramatic story of a western outpost during the Civil war days. The Tucson of the '60s is duplicated in remarkable manner almost within hailing distance of the present Tucson. Mrs. Briggs was looking forward with no small degree of interest to the appearance of all the stars of "Arizona" in a play staged for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Zeta Tau Alpha Meets At Shreveport On 14th

Plans have been completed for the Zeta province convention of Zeta Tau Alpha which will be held in Shreveport, La., at the Washington-Youree hotel June 14-16, Mrs. J. C. Mouton, Beaumont, Tex., province president, announced.

Delegates from the active chapters to the convention include: Wanda Richards, Benton, Ark.; Mary Ann Stedman, Austin, Tex.; Beth Briscoe, Georgetown, Tex.; Valerie Sequin, Dallas, Tex.; Gertrude Gill, Sulphur, Okla.; Dorothy Robinson, Shreveport, La.; Phyllis Derbes, New Orleans, La. Representatives from the active chapters in the following colleges will be present: University of Arkansas, Texas university, Southern Methodist university, Oklahoma A. and M., Centenary college, Sophie Newcomb. A large number of alumnae members throughout the province will attend. Among outstanding members present will be Mrs. Harold H. Helper, New Orleans, grand president of Zeta Tau Alpha; Dr. May Agnes Hopkins of Dallas, Mrs. Crate Dalton (Norma Patterson), noted novelist.

"Scholarship" will be the theme of the convention, and will serve as the topic of E. Weldon Jones' opening address, June 15. Mr. Jones is superintendent of schools in Caddo parish. At the banquet to be held at the Washington-Youree June 15, Mrs. George Conger, Shreveport newspaper woman, will speak on "The Value of Fraternities." Other business meetings will include discussions of rushing, publicity and scholarship, presided over by the province president, Mrs. Mouton. Round-table discussion for active chapters will be conducted by Mrs. James L. Boyles, Houston, province rush captain. Round-table discussion for alumnae will be conducted by Mrs. L. G. Dooley, Oklahoma City, third vice-president of the province. Mrs. Paul J. Nicholson, Stillwater, Okla., first vice-president, is chairman of the luncheon Sunday, June 16, honoring province initiates. Mrs. W. C. Higginbotham of Dallas, secretary-treasurer, is convention business manager, and chairman of credentials committee. Mrs. Sam McCorkle of Dallas, second vice-president, is chairman of the Zeta Mother-Daughter luncheon which will be held Saturday noon.

The Beta Iota chapter of Centenary college, Shreveport, and the local alumnae will serve as official hostesses to the convention. Mrs. W. T. Harton is general chairman. The Mothers club of the Shreveport Zetas will entertain with a reception at the sorority house on Centenary campus Friday evening, June 14.

Over two hundred Zetas throughout Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana are expected to register Friday and Saturday mornings, June 14 and 15.

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded in Virginia in 1898 and now has seventy-nine active chapters in the United States and Canada. Between seventy and eighty charter alumnae groups, as well as many unchartered alumnae chapters, are functioning actively. The sorority is one of the leading fraternity organizations and its membership exceeds 14,000.

Miss Dorothy Seigers Marries John Paylor

Claiming prominence among nuptials was that of Miss Dorothy Seigers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Seigers of Newellton, La., and John Payor, Jr., of Monroe at the Church of Christ, with the pastor, Rev. J. P. Lowery, officiating.

An artistic setting for the ceremony was created by the placement of tall French baskets overflowing with pink roses and woodwardia fern, in the background.

A prenuptial concert was rendered by Miss Claudine Paylor and Audrey Paylor, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Lorraine Harrison, and the bridesmaids, Mildred Hurt and Johnnie Stringer, wore orchid and pink dotted swiss gowns with lace yokes and short, full skirts. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of sweetheart roses and valley lilies tied with pink satin ribbons.

Meredith Johnson served as best man and the groomsmen were Buford Mayberry and C. E. Corley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely model of dusty rose crepe with Alencon lace yoke and full, short skirt. She wore a wide brimmed hat of navy blue and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom. The wedding cake, centering the bride's table was cut by the bride and bridegroom before they departed on their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paylor will make their home in this city.

INTRODUCING . . .

Miss Arline Elroy Scruggs of Paris, Tenn., whose engagement to Lorenzo McIntosh Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Smith of West Monroe, is formally announced today. Miss Scruggs will arrive in Monroe the first of the week to participate in the wedding of Mr. Smith's sister, Miss Cecile Smith and Wayne Wamsley, Jr., on June 11.

Activity Of P.-T. A. Membership Sought

"To cure is the voice of the past. To prevent is the divine whisper of today." These words were spoken by Mrs. J. P. Pettengill, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Pettengill, addressing the vast assemblage, members of the P.-T. A. Congress attending the 43rd annual convention in Omaha, Neb., said: "It seems that our goal is to set up an environment in which handicaps cannot happen; that we should prevent handicaps by increasing the effectiveness of community resources that now are available, the kind of homes and schools actually provided."

Mrs. Pettengill entered parent-teacher work in 1924, wholly a novice, because she wanted to learn more about the rearing of her young son and daughter. Now a scant 13 years later, she not only had been made leader of the national parent-teacher movement, but had headed the home and community section of this world meeting of educators.

Leaders in parent-teacher work realize that membership alone counts for little. Activity of members is demanded of every association. One of the most profitable years in the history of the Twin Cities P.-T. A. has just been completed under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Keller. Looking back over the work of the past year, particular stress is laid on the child-study groups and the classes studying social hygiene, mental hygiene and, most significant of all, legislation. The P.-T. A. saw the great need for such training and did something besides talk about it.

Welfare work was done on a large scale last year. Children were examined at health clinics—and here is the notable thing about these examinations, physicians gave their services without charge, believing that prevention is two-thirds of the cure.

There has been much done for culture through the medium of the Twin Cities P.-T. A. Every association observed Book week with efforts to lead children to reading books just for fun. Many associations have book shelves of their own, and there was no lack of interest in films and radio programs during the past year, all in an effort to find the right entertainment for the child's leisure hours, as well as to aid him educationally. There must be something of considerable community value to all this, as every newspaper in the state carried P.-T. A. in their columns.

Leaders of the P.-T. A. in this city want all children to have security, affection, health, education and opportunity. They want every child to have these advantages so fully and so freely that every child will be able to develop his powers to the highest extent in service, happiness and character.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hart were privileged to be present at the graduation of their daughter, Miss Theodora Hart, from the state university, Baton Rouge. They were accompanied home by Miss Hart and Miss Mary Hayward, a student at the university who will spend the summer with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward.

Club Entertains With Beautiful Garden Fete

Gardens Of Mrs. L. N. Larche Provide Charming Setting For Twentieth Century Book Club Party

The presummer drowse has driven society out of doors where gardens in the late evening offer a cool retreat and give a colorful background to social affairs.

Mrs. L. N. Larche's out-of-door living room in the rear gardens of her home, offered a charming setting for the first garden fete of the season, last Tuesday afternoon when members of the Twentieth Century Book club assisted Mrs. Larche in extending courtesies to guests who called between the hours of 5 and 6.

The lily pool, hedged in with Japanese bamboo, tall palms and luxuriant foliage was fringed with comfortable chairs for the guests who formed conversational groups and lingered in the garden where they were served ices and French cakes, beautifully embossed in garden colors.

A stringed orchestra supplied music throughout the receiving hours.

Mrs. Larche, wearing a white lace, floor-length model, was assisted by her three daughters, Mrs. A. C. Sanders of Helena, Ark., in delft blue lace model, Mrs. L. L. Langford of Jackson, Miss., in flesh-colored lace and chiffon and Miss Sara Larche in a black and white dotted swiss gown. Others receiving with Mrs. Larche, members of the Twentieth Century Book club, were: Mrs. T. O. Brown in black chiffon and silver slippers, Mrs. Louis Hullum in violet colored chiffon, Mrs. Courtney Oliver in pink lace and Mrs. Fagan Cox in flowered chiffon.

Trays of confestions were passed among the guests by Mrs. Elliott Thompson, Mrs. Blossom Butler, Miss Mary Trousdale, Mrs. Darwin Nichols, Miss Irene Page and Miss Jean Hebert.

Various members of Sigma Phi of Beta Mu Iota of Monroe took the hot weather in hand Wednesday night, June 5, and had a swimming party and picnic. Everyone enjoyed a nice long swim in the pool, then a merry time at Bernstein park roasting wieners and making hot dogs. All members of the faculty were present with the exception of Mr. Louis Mathis.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Pair, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Parish, Miss Nina Mathis and Willis Evans, Miss Stelle Blair and Todd Cole, Charlotta Harp and Floyd Mathis, Vareen Roy and George Reed, Ola Farmer and Woodrow Lewis, Verna Mae Lively and Roy Montgomery, Bonnie Jo Cobb and Regie Cuave, Joyce Nolan and Marcus Carswell, Kathryn Carson and Bernard Smith, Doyce Fox and C. M. Netherland, T. J. Mathis, Oscar Lewis, Paul Ray Newcomer and Barney Sasser.

Elbertine Moore's Recital Praised

The piano recital given recently at Northeast Junior college presenting Elbertine Moore, student of Florence Ziegler Allbritton, was one of the outstanding musical events of the month. From the first number through the final encore, Miss Moore exhibited unusual poise and assurance. Her manner was gracious and unaffected.

The Bach, Mozart and Beethoven possessed considerable taste and charm of interpretation. From the delicate beauties of the Mozart "Romanza" the performer crossed into the delightful vigor of Beethoven's "Country Dance" with sure evidence of versatility.

In the second group, Schubert's lovely "Impromptu in A Flat" charmed the audience as did the appealing Chopin Preludes and Paderewski's ever-favorite "Minuet in G" which Miss Moore played with appropriate individualism. The Moskowski "Caprice Espagnole" closing the group was one of the most ambitious and brilliant of the programmed numbers, calling into play the performer's adequate technical equipment.

Following intermission, "Tryst" by Nearing carried the audience into a mood of tranquility, followed by MacFayden's gay and lilting "Country Dance" played with sparkling contrasts. Rudolph Ganz's "Animal Pictures" were cleverly done and received amused response from the audience. The group of American composers was brought to a close with a dashing performance of Mana Zucca's "Bolero de Concert."

The Allegro movement of Beethoven's Concerto in C Major was the highlight of the evening. With Mrs. Allbritton at the second piano, Miss Moore presented final proof of an unquestionable musical talent in her impressive rendition of the concerto movement.

The Ouachita Parish High school Glee club with their director, Mrs. Audie Moffett, attended the concert en masse in evening attire. Following the final encore, two representatives of the glee club presented Miss Moore with a lovely gift and beautiful flowers, expressing their appreciation for her valuable service as accompanist during her high school years.

The enthusiastic audience including numbers of Monroe's most representative musicians and music patrons, offered a final rousing ovation to this young artist and her teacher.

Miss Lynn Is Bride Of Elton Abernathy

Miss Irene Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lynn of Bernice, became the bride of Elton Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Abernathy of Brownwood, Tex., in an impressive ceremony Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the Methodist church. Rev. L. P. Moreland officiated.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of woodwardia fern and shasta daisies flanked by candelabra holding cathedral tapers and baskets of white gladioli.

Mrs. W. R. Heard played Schubert's "Serenade" and accompanied Mrs George Grafton, who sang "Because." Mr. Elbert Haskins accompanied Miss Cynthia Nixon, who sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." The traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional of the bridal party.

Miss Virginia Colvin was the bride's maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Fay Burns, Miss Evelyn McGee, Miss Martha Wainwright and Miss Eleanor Harrell. They all wore lovely white morning frocks.

John Mack Kavanaugh attended the bridegroom as best man, and his groomsmen were W. R. Lynn, James Parkersn, George Edwards Abernathy and John Meadows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming white and black chiffon model with a corsage of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Lynn, mother of the bride, wore a blue and white triple sheer model, and the groom's mother was gowned in navy blue sheer.

The bride presented her attendants with beautiful vanities, and the bridegroom gave handkerchiefs to his best man and groomsmen.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, after which the young couple left on a short trip, and will be at home in Iowa City, Iowa, for the summer.

For traveling, Mrs. Abernathy chose a blue sheer with rose-colored accessories.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. Elbert Haskins, Miss Cynthia Nixon. Miss Paul, Miss Walker, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. White, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Boyd and Miss Roberts of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Voss, Dubach; Mr. and Mrs. Lister Tanner, Homer, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tanner, Arp, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Tanner, Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. H. English, Hico, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Miles E. Abernathy and George Edwards Abernathy, Brownwood Tex

Mrs. E. B. Green and Mrs. Madge Rockett of Bernice, entertained with a luncheon-bridge at the civic club house.

The luncheon was served buffet style, from a beautifully appointed table serviced with silver and florally adorned with a plaque of blue delphinium and yellow daisies. The small tables, where the guests were seated, were adorned with delft blue Dutch shoes filled with yellow daisies.

Later bridge was introduced and prizes awarded for high scores. The table prizes were the Dutch shoes and were claimed by Miss Tressie Cook, Mrs. W. R. Heard, Mrs. Doyle Ferguson and Miss Myrtle Talbot.

The guests were: Misses Doris Gaston, Myrtle Talbot, Tressie Cook, Mesdames James Glover, Harry Cook, W. R Heard, Colburn Platt, A. M. Edwards, George Lindsey, Jr., George Grafton, K. F. Thaxton, Doyle Ferguson, Fred Glover, L. P. Whiteside and Era Wallace.

Miss Jane McMullen Weds Julius McKnight

Of affectionate interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. James McMullen of the marriage of their daughter, Jane Corinne, to Julius McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McKnight.

The wedding took place May 26 in Rayville, La., with Rev. J. H. Hook, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. McKnight are now at home to their friends at 201 Arkansas avenue, this city.

The bride, attractive member of the younger set, is a member of this year's graduating class of Northeast Junior college. She is a member of Alpha Delta Kappa national sorority and a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor scholastic fraternity. She is also a member of Delta Phi Omega, national honorary speech fraternity. She has been an outstanding student of the speech department at Northeast Junior college where she served as president of the speech club.

Mr. McKnight is a graduate of Northeast Junior college and is now associated with Monroe Hardware company.

Miss Gilliland Weds Richard Morgan Drew

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Gertrude Gilliland, daughter of Mrs. Clara Gilliland, and Richard Morgan Drew of West Monroe, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. E. Smith of Delhi, La., on the seventh of June. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. S. E. Smith, wore a summery gown of blue lace and marquisette with navy blue accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held with Mrs. Smith extending courtesies.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew are spending their honeymoon in New Orleans and upon their return will be at home in West Monroe.

Mrs. Drew is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Louisiana Tech. She is a member of the Ouachita Parish High school faculty.

Mr. Drew is associated with the Drew Wholesale Grocery company.

A marriage of interest to West Carroll parish was that of Miss Mattye Lee Donald, a member of the Oak Grove High school faculty for the past two years, and Sam H. Campbell, postmaster of Oak Grove. The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Choudrant Saturday afternoon, June 1. After a short wedding trip to points in southern Louisiana the couple will be at home to their friends in Oak Grove.

Miss Olive Leigh Myatt Becomes Bride Of Raymond N. Cochran Of New York

Neil McHenrys' Home Is Scene Of Wedding

Couple Leaves Immediately For Honeymoon On Gulf Coast And Will Make Home In New York City

The plantation home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McHenry was the scene of a wedding, Tuesday evening, June 4, when Mrs. McHenry's sister, Miss Olive Leigh Myatt, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Morton Myatt and the late Webster A. Myatt, became the bride of Raymond Nevitt Cochran, of New York City, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter R. Cochran of Trinway, Ohio.

The ceremony, characterized by charming simplicity, was performed before an improvised altar with woodwardia fern and Queen Anne's lace and Shasta daisies forming the background. Cathedral tapers in antique silver candelabra burned at either end of the mantle. Gracing either side of the altar were white wrought iron standards overflowing with Shasta daisies and pink and blue hydrangea.

The bride, unattended, met the bridegroom at the altar, where the ceremony was performed by Reverend L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride was wearing a smart, white alpaca sheer model with small white hat and all accessories of white. A corsage of white gardenias, sweetheart roses and valley lilies was worn.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held, and the bride cut the beautifully embossed wedding cake before changing her wedding gown for a going away costume of cocoa brown, fashioned along tailored lines, with a short bolero. All accessories were of brown.

Ices and individual wedding cakes were served by Mrs. McHenry to guests remaining for the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran are spending their honeyoon on the Gulf coast, and will leave later for their future home in New York City, where Mr. Cochran holds the position of engineer with the Consolidated Edison company.

Mrs. Cochran, a great favorite in Monroe, where she was born and reared, is a graduate of the Louisiana State university, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. For the past several years she has been a member of the faculty of the Georgia Tucker school, where she taught kindergarten.

Mr. Cochran attended Dennison university, Granville, Ohio, and New York university, N. Y.

Girl Reserves Meet At Gulf Park College

For the past eighteen summers beautiful Gulf Park college has been the meeting place for Girl Reserves. Until two years ago it was for Mississippi girls, but at the request of the national Y. W. C. A. board it has been made a sectional conference for Girl Reserves of five states. The Girl Reserves are junior members of the Y. W. C. A. With this wider representation the conference becomes more valuable as a place for making new friends and for getting new points of view.

The bugle call will sound each day at 6:30. Beautifully arranged worship services each morning help to begin the day's activities with zest and the desire to make every minute count.

Each morning there will be an hour for club workshops. The group will be divided into five "clubs" according to the type of club they represent—city, town, rural, junior—each having an adult leader, "adviser." Through these "clubs" girls will work on Girl Reserve club organization, objectives and club programming, both as to content and methods of presentation so that they can go back to make their clubs a more vital part of their individual and community lives.

Recreation is keyed to the coast, sailing, dips in the gulf, swimming in the beautiful Gulf Park pool, archery, badminton, tennis, a party, dramatics, beach picnics, campfires at the water's edge and sight-seeing trips to the many American landmarks for which the coast is noted.

The conference is noted for its grand meals. Mrs. T. D. Peets, assistant dietitian for Gulf Park college, will serve as conference dietitian. Mrs. Lovey Hodges Grey will be the nurse again this year and Dr. Emma Gay is always on call.

Mrs. J. B. Thornhill of this city will serve as counselor and will be accompanied to the gulf coast by several members of the Monroe Girl Reserve.

Garden Club Meets With Mrs. Randle

The newly-organized Garden club of the Twin Cities, known as the Welcome Garden club, met recently in the spacious garden of Mrs. Robert O. Randle's home, 502 South Riverfront, West Monroe.

At this meeting new members were added to the roll, making the paid membership fifty-four. This enthusiastic new club is open to all of those interested in garden club activities.

A short business session was graciously presided over by the newly-elected president, Mrs. Charles S. Swain. At the conclusion of business Mrs. Swain introduced Mrs. V. S. Garnett, chairman of the program committee.

Before presenting the program for the morning, Mrs. Garnet asked the members to write down suggestions of things they desired to have discussed at the meetings, so that the committee could complete the club's programs.

The first number on the program was a most interesting talk by Mrs. E. R. Wooten. This talk was thoroughly enjoyed by all, since she gave some valuable advice for our new club as well as suggestions regarding our gardens. In part she said: "It is well to be interested in the town as a whole, then by streets, your neighborhood, and your own garden. The seawalls could be made very beautiful, with everyone cooperating, for 'union is strength.' Groups could meet to discuss the needs of the street on which they live and in this way work to beautify the cities. Each garden should be individual and not like every other garden." She mentioned the fact that Ben Arthur Davis says that a town with whitewashed trees and circular beds on the lawn is a "hick town." She gave many valuable ideas on how and when to prune our shrubbery. Regarding mulching to protect rosebeds, azaleas, and jayonicas from the heat of summer, she advised a foot deep mulching of pine straw. This settles down and the plants are well protected and bloom beautifully as the result of the care given them.

The second number on the program was a most delightful talk on "Flower Arrangements" by Mrs. D. I. Hirsch. The members enthusiastically watched Mrs. Hirsch as she demonstrated her talk by making some very artistic flower arrangements. Most of the flowers used for the demonstration were garden flowers. She used white containers filled with wet sand. By using this method artistic effects are more readily produced since the flowers remain where placed in the sand and also stay fresh nicely. One outstanding arrangement was for the buffet where a larger and higher arrangement can be used. This could also be used on a large table but not where guests are to be seated. For her buffet arrangement Mrs. Hirsch used a lovely large white oval container filled with wet sand. In the center of this a white vase was imbedded. For this arrangement pink snapdragon, pink roses, blue larkspur, a blue flower known as California statics, as well as some rose pink godetia were used. All of the sand was covered with foliage to produce an artistic effect. Mrs. Hirsch stated that the wild huckleberry foliage makes a splendid covering for the sand. Several other lovely arrangements were made and while making these she gave timely suggestions as to when to cut flowers, how to keep them fresh and also how to use thin wire for effective work with droopy flowers.

This number was followed by a talk on "Hydrangeas" by Mrs. Fred Hanna. She gave us many valuable hints on how to take care of the plants, when and how to prune and the method of starting cuttings. She said in part:

"The hydrangea plant needs much moisture and should be well fertilized. The pruning of the bush should be done in June after it is through blooming. To keep hydrangea flowers from wilting it is best to cut them early in the morning and then burn the end of the stems." One thing of special interest was on the method of obtaining pink or blue flowers, Mrs. Hanna says: "If you use aluminum sulphate in the ground you'll have blue flowers whereas if you use lime the result will be pink ones."

Members present were: Mrs. Jack Bagwell, Mrs. A. P. Barfield, Mrs. C. A. Caldwell, Mrs. John Best, Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. H. V. Cruthirds, Mrs. J. L. Dennis, Mrs. L. C. De Masterson, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Ralph H. B. Gibson, Mrs. Bert Gambrell, Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. Fred Hanna, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, Mrs. F. L. Jones, Mrs. E. H. Martin, Mrs. C. C. McCleary, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Mrs. R. F. McCook, Mrs. C. W. Oseland, Mrs. Howard Peevy, Mrs. Robert O. Randle, Mrs. J. P. Royce, Mrs. Charles S. Swain, Mrs. C. E. Wadley, Mrs. J. R. Wooten, Mrs. A. K. Crow, Mrs. W. E. Ellis, Mrs. M. C. McDonald, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. C. H. Tait, Mrs. G. B. Folds, Mrs. C. C. Miller, Mrs. J. C. Halsell, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. F. W. Dawson and Mrs. Joe C. Anders.

The next meeting will be held July 1 in the garden of Mrs. F. F. Smith's home, 7213 DeSiard road.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodgoin are making their home in Ruston where Mr. Goodgoin is engaged in business.

Miss Person Guest Of Honor At Tea

Miss Phoebe Person of Superior, Wis., wearing a green chiffon afternoon model with corsage of pink gladioli, was the guest of honor at a beautifully planned tea in the home of Mrs. George Hollingsworth with Mrs. Marcus I. Person, co-hostess.

The reception suite of Mrs. Hollingsworth's home was banked with pink gladioli in harmony with the color theme, pink and green, reflected in every detail.

Mrs. Audie Moffett, wearing a blue chiffon model, and Mrs. Weldon D. Bates, wearing a summery gown of blue mousseline, assisted the hostesses in extending courtesies.

The refreshment table in the dining room was developed in pink and green with a low plaque of pink roses and pink gladioli forming the central decor. Mint frappe was served with delicious little gateaux embossed in pink.

Misses Jean McCormick and Biddy Royce assisted in the serving.

Seventy-five or more guests were introduced to Miss Person at this time.

The recently organized Delta chapter of Sigma Sigma national, non-academic sorority, now holding its first rush season, entertained last week at two lovely parties in honor of the rushees at Lake Providence.

The first event was a tea at the home of Mrs. D. T. Wilson, who is the mother of the chapter president, Mrs. Johnny Harris. Mrs. Harris received the guests in a lovely blue satin gown. Assisting her were Miss Vera Frost, gowned in an afternoon model of aqua net; Mrs. John W. Nelson, the chapter sponsor, in flowered chiffon, and Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. John J. Nelson, both attractively attired in afternoon models of lace and wearing rose corsages, poured tea at the beautiful lace-draped table. Here the colors of the sorority, green and white, were effectively carried out in the white flowers and green fernery. During the afternoon musical selections by Mrs. Baxter Deal and Mrs. Alvin Rogers were enjoyed.

Other members attending were Mrs. Woodrow Scott, Miss Helen Nelson, Mrs. H. N. Sawyer, Jr., and Miss Hilda Nelson.

On Thursday evening, the second event in honor of the rushees was given at the home of Mrs. R. R. Higgins, when the chapter entertained with a dinner.

Here also the colors of the sorority were carried out in the place cards and centerpiece, which was flanked by green candles in crystal holders.

Receiving the guests and members were the chapter president, Mrs. Johnny Harris, and the vice-president, Miss Vera Frost, who is also serving as rush chairman. After dinner bridge was the entertainment of the evening.

The names of the rushees and future pledges are being withheld until after the bids have been issued.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Taylor of Farmerville announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris, to John J. Akins, salesman for Ritchie Grocer company, in a double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. W. O. Byrd officiating, Wednesday, June 5, at 9 a.m. Relatives and a few intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Akins will make their home in Farmerville.

Miss Olive Leigh Myatt Becomes Bride Of Raymond N. Cochran Of New York

Neil McHenrys' Home Is Scene Of Wedding

Couple Leaves Immediately For Honeymoon On Gulf Coast And Will Make Home In New York City

The plantation home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McHenry was the scene of a wedding, Tuesday evening, June 4, when Mrs. McHenry's sister, Miss Olive Leigh Myatt, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Morton Myatt and the late Webster A. Myatt, became the bride of Raymond Nevitt Cochran, of New York City, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter R. Cochran of Trinway, Ohio.

The ceremony, characterized by charming simplicity, was performed before an improvised altar with woodwardia fern and Queen Anne's lace and Shasta daisies forming the background. Cathedral tapers in antique silver candelabra burned at either end of the mantle. Gracing either side of the altar were white wrought iron standards overflowing with Shasta daisies and pink and blue hydrangea.

The bride, unattended, met the bridegroom at the altar, where the ceremony was performed by Reverend L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride was wearing a smart, white alpaca sheer model with small white hat and all accessories of white. A corsage of white gardenias, sweetheart roses and valley lilies was worn.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held, and the bride cut the beautifully embossed wedding cake before changing her wedding gown for a going away costume of cocoa brown, fashioned along tailored lines, with a short bolero. All accessories were of brown.

Ices and individual wedding cakes were served by Mrs. McHenry to guests remaining for the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran are spending their honeyoon on the Gulf coast, and will leave later for their future home in New York City, where Mr. Cochran holds the position of engineer with the Consolidated Edison company.

Mrs. Cochran, a great favorite in Monroe, where she was born and reared, is a graduate of the Louisiana State university, where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. For the past several years she has been a member of the faculty of the Georgia Tucker school, where she taught kindergarten.

Mr. Cochran attended Dennison university, Granville, Ohio, and New York university, N. Y.

Girl Reserves Meet At Gulf Park College

For the past eighteen summers beautiful Gulf Park college has been the meeting place for Girl Reserves. Until two years ago it was for Mississippi girls, but at the request of the national Y. W. C. A. board it has been made a sectional conference for Girl Reserves of five states. The Girl Reserves are junior members of the Y. W. C. A. With this wider representation the conference becomes more valuable as a place for making new friends and for getting new points of view.

The bugle call will sound each day at 6:30. Beautifully arranged worship services each morning help to begin the day's activities with zest and the desire to make every minute count.

Each morning there will be an hour for club workshops. The group will be divided into five "clubs" according to the type of club they represent—city, town, rural, junior—each having an adult leader, "adviser." Through these "clubs" girls will work on Girl Reserve club organization, objectives and club programming, both as to content and methods of presentation so that they can go back to make their clubs a more vital part of their individual and community lives.

Recreation is keyed to the coast, sailing, dips in the gulf, swimming in the beautiful Gulf Park pool, archery, badminton, tennis, a party, dramatics, beach picnics, campfires at the water's edge and sight-seeing trips to the many American landmarks for which the coast is noted.

The conference is noted for its grand meals. Mrs. T. D. Peets, assistant dietitian for Gulf Park college, will serve as conference dietitian. Mrs. Lovey Hodges Grey will be the nurse again this year and Dr. Emma Gay is always on call.

Mrs. J. B. Thornhill of this city will serve as counselor and will be accompanied to the gulf coast by several members of the Monroe Girl Reserve.

Label League Works For Civic Causes

There are many unsung heroes in Monroe—men and women engaged in important work, year after year, the nature of which the public generally knows little about.

One organization in particular, the Women's International Label league, is composed of a band of earnest hearted women, who meet week after week, winter and summer, working for a grand and glorious cause. Members of this organization, headed by Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, president, work in harmony with the Red Cross and the Community Chest. They donate liberally toward the fund for crippled children and are ever on the alert and stand ready always, to assist in every worthy cause of a charitable nature.

A wonderful program of service has been mapped out by this particular group of women, who are especially interested in the crafts of organized labor.

Mrs. Hamilton, president of the organization, is a constant inspiration to the members, who have interested themselves in the welfare of their less privileged fellow citizens. Working in harmony with the American Federation of Labor, a splendid program of service has been developed. An insight into labor problems has been gained by members of the league who keep in step with their husbands, and do not allow the responsibilities of their homes to rob them of the opportunity to participate in civic affairs.

Monroe needs women of such ilk as those who concern themselves with the various philanthropies and everything possible should be done to encourage them in the splendid work they are engaged in.

Junior League Plans Cotton Style Revue

Outstanding Event To Be Held In Connection With Informal Tea On Virginia Roof June 14

It takes money to keep the wheels of any organization well oiled. No one knows the truth of that truism better than the members of the Junior Charity league, who have to earn the money they need, to keep their free baby clinic operating.

Members of the league are now face to face with facts. They must have funds for their pet philanthropy, or the structure will collapse, and as a result, babies, whose parents are unable to supply them with milk this summer, will be deprived of one of the things most necessary to health. They will also be deprived of free medical attention and medicine supplied through the channels of the Junior Charity league and the Monroe physicians who work in harmony with them.

Members of the league prefer the painless way of raising money for their philanthropies, and that of course, is to give value received. Anyone who has attended one of the league's style revues feels that he has indeed been entertained royally, and never yet has regretted the small sum the entertainment cost.

Realizing how much time women are now spending in selecting their summer wardrobes, members of the league conceived the idea of simplifying the problem by staging a style revue featuring cotton clothes exclusively.

The revue will be given in connection with an informal tea on the roof of the Virginia hotel, June 14. There will be an intermission during which tea will be served by the present and past presidents of the league, Mrs. Robert Kellogg, Mrs. Nathan Gaston, Mrs. King Stubbs, Miss Eleanor Faulk, Mrs. Walter Black, Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. DeWitt Milam and Mrs. Edward Seymour.

Miss Lallage Feazel will serve as announcer, Miss Louise Smelser will be the soloist, Mrs. George Snellings will preside at the piano.

Members of the league extend through this medium, an invitation to every civic spirited woman in the Twin Cities, to attend their tea and style revue, and in this way contribute to a philanthropy without which Monroe would indeed suffer a great loss.

Poetry Society Holds Reception At Y.W.C.A.

Winners In Recent Poetry Contest Honored As Awards Are Made And Poems Read By Their Authors

The Poetry society completed a year of splendid achievement when members entertained with a reception in the spacious rooms of the Y. W. C. A. in observance of National Poetry week and in honor of the contestants in the recent poetry contest sponsored by the society.

Beautiful gift flowers banked the reception rooms where the officers, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Neil [illegible] and Mrs. George W. Smith, [illegible] evening [illegible] stood to greet the guests. From a table overlaid with handsome lace cloth and sweet peas in pastel shades effectively used in decorative arrangement, fruit frappe and delicious confections were served by three lovely young girls in summery floor-length frocks, Mary Jane Pickard, Helen Fernandez and Rosa Grant Dunmore.

Mrs. Fernandez, president, welcomed the guests and spoke of the pleasure the club had derived from its first annual poetry contest. She praised the many splendid contributions entered and remarked upon the surprising amount of talent in Monroe and vicinity. She mentioned with regret the absence of several out-of-town contributors who were unable to be present at the time owing to illness in their families.

Mrs. Fernandez said that many types of poems were included in the 48 offerings of the contest, and that Anne Hamilton, nationally known critic who selected the winners, praised the very fine material sent her to judge.

For first place in the contest, Paul Hodnett, Monroe, was winner for his "In a Southern Garden"; the second place was won by Mrs. C. B. Atkinson, Monroe, for her "Sonnet On Contentment", and in third place, Johnnie Curry, Ruston, for her "Love and War."

Honorable mention was given Thetis Funderburk, West Monroe, for "Louisiana." Other contributors from Monroe receiving honorable mention were: Mrs. Margerite Black, "Morning Prayer", Mrs. E. E. Lawson, "Bayou Refrain", Mrs. Clarke Faulk, "I Heard a Voice From the Faraway", Mrs. V. S. Garnett, "Poems", and Mrs. Parker McComb, "A New Born Poet Dares To Wish."

At this time, the winning poems were read by their authors, as were many others. Interest was manifested by those present in forming an auxiliary poetry club, and in the future compilation of an anthology to include the many splendid poems sent in to the contest.

Permission was obtained by Mrs. Fernandez from the authors, to read their poems over the local radio station during National Poetry week—May 27 through May 31—and each day during the past week, poems written by contestants in the first annual contest of the poetry society have been heard during the Reverie hour.

At the conclusion of the program, awards of books by outstanding poets and a painting by a well known Monroe artist were presented the winners.

Patrons of the Monroe Public library are now assured a cool reading room during the summer months as a ventilating fan has just been installed through the courtesy of the city of Monroe.

Although the reading rooms are delightfully cool a few patrons prefer the gardens in the rear of the library where benches have been placed in the shade of the trees. The gardens are exceptionally beautiful just now with flowers blooming in every section and the giant trees creating shady spots where comfortable chairs have been placed for those who desire to spend a restful hour with a good book.

At the library can now be found books on geology and refining, of exceptional interest to men patrons. These volumes have been sent out by the Louisiana Library commisison.

The librarian at the Monroe Public Library reported at the last meeting of the board that during the month of May 8,338 new books were added to the shelves and 92 new patrons had been listed.

Mrs. Griffis Honored By Miss Alice Baur

Miss Alice Baur, assisted by Miss Tracy Baur and Miss Josie Henderson, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Baur home complimentary to Mrs. W. J. Griffis, who before her recent marriage was Miss Rosalin Blackman.

Beautiful flowers formed a decorative background for the guests who were entertained during the evening with a clever flower contest. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert and Miss Maibel Hood.

Alice O'Kelly and Barbara Ann Kelley, to the strains of Lohengrin, rolled in a wagon full of gifts consisting of linens and the bride's pattern of Sterling silver, china and crystal.

Refreshments were served in the dining room where the table was florally adorned with a crystal bowl overflowing with pink roses and Shasta daisies. Trays of delicious confections, including canapes and mints, were passed among the guests. The handsome silver services at either end of the table were presided over by Miss Maibel Hood and Mrs. Walter Rhodes.

Out-of-town guests present were, Mrs. W. E. Motley, Mrs. T. C. Hart and Mrs. C. C. Kornmann of Eudora, Ark.

Poetry Society Holds Reception At Y.W.C.A.

Winners In Recent Poetry Contest Honored As Awards Are Made And Poems Read By Their Authors

The Poetry society completed a year of splendid achievement when members entertained with a reception in the spacious rooms of the Y. W. C. A. in observance of National Poetry week and in honor of the contestants in the recent poetry contest sponsored by the society.

Beautiful gift flowers banked the reception suite where the officers, Mrs. H. J. Fernandez, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Nell Grigsby, and Mrs. George W. Smith, in lovely evening models, stood to greet their guests. From a table overlaid with handsome lace cloth, and sweet peas in pastel shades effectively used in decorative arrangement, fruit frappe and delicious confections were served by three lovely young girls in summery floor-length frocks, Mary Jane Dickard, Helen Fernandez and Irina Grant Ensminger.

Mrs. Fernandez, president, welcomed the guests and spoke of the pleasure the club had derived from its first annual poetry contest. She praised the many splendid contributions entered, and remarked upon the surprising amount of talent in Monroe and vicinity. She mentioned with regret, the absence of several out-of-town contributors who were unable to be present at the time owing to illness in their families.

Mrs. Fernandez said that many types of poems were included in the 48 offerings of the contest, and that Anne Hamilton, nationally known critic who selected the winners, praised the very fine material sent her to judge.

For first place in the contest, Paul Hodnett, Monroe, was winner for his "In a Southern Garden"; the second place was won by Mrs. C. B. Atkinson, Monroe, for her "Sonnet On Contentment"; and in third place, Johnile Curry, Ruston, for her "Love and War."

Honorable mention was given Therlo Funderburk, West Monroe, for "Louisiana." Other contributors from Monroe receiving honorable mention were: Mrs. Margerite Black, "Morning Prayer"; Mrs. E. E. Lawson, "Bayou Refrain"; Mrs. Clarke Faulk, "I Heard a Voice From the Faraway"; Mrs. V. S. Garnett, "Poems"; and Mrs. Parker McComb, "A New Born Poet Dares To Wish."

At this time, the winning poems were read by their authors, as were many others. Interest was manifested by those present in forming an auxiliary poetry club, and in the future compilation of an anthology to include the many splendid poems sent in to the contest.

Permission was obtained by Mrs. Fernandez from the authors, to read their poems over the local radio station during National Poetry week—May 27 through May 31—and each day during the past week, poems written by contestants in the first annual contest of the poetry society have been heard during the Reverie hour.

At the conclusion of the program, awards of books by outstanding poets and a painting by a well known Monroe artist were presented the winners.

During the reception hour Mrs. C. W. Oseland, guest artist, presided at the piano, and entertained with vocal and instrumental selections.

Patrons of the Monroe Public library are now assured a cool reading room during the summer months as a ventilating fan has just been installed through the courtesy of the city of Monroe.

Although the reading rooms are delightfully cool a few patrons prefer the gardens in the rear of the library where benches have been placed in the shade of the trees. The gardens are exceptionally beautfiul just now with flowers blooming in every section and the giant trees creating shady spots where confortable chairs have been placed for those who desire to spend a restful hour with a good book.

At the library can now be found books on geology and refining, of exceptional interest to men patrons. These volumes have been sent out by the Louisiana Library commisison.

The librarian at the Monroe Public Library reported at the last meeting of the board that during the month of May 8,338 new books were added to the shelves and 92 new patrons had been listed.

Mrs. Griffis Honored By Miss Alice Baur

Miss Alice Baur, assisted by Miss Tracy Baur and Mrs. Josie Henderson, entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the Baur home complimentary to Mrs. W. J. Griffis, who before her recent marriage was Miss Rosyln Blackman.

Beautiful flowers formed a decorative background for the guests who were entertained during the evening with a clever flower contest. The prizes were awarded to Mrs. Johnnie Smith Elbert and Miss Maibel Hood.

Alice O'Kelly and Barbara Ann Kelso, to the strains of Lohengrin, rolled in a wagon full of gifts consisting of linens and the bride's pattern of Sterling silver, china and crystal.

Refreshments were served in the dining room where the table was florally adorned with a crystal bowl overflowing with pink roses and Shasta daisies. Trays of delicious confections, including canapes and mints, were passed among the guests. The handsome silver services at either end of the table were presided over by Miss Maibel Hood and Mrs. Walter Rhodes.

Out-of-town guests present were: Mrs. W. K. Mottley, Mrs. T. C. Hart and Mrs. C. C. Kornmann of Eudora, Ark.

The Camp Fire girls are now planning for their summer camping period which will be held in July. The program will be arranged according to the ages of children. Horseback riding will be a distinct feature of the daily program.

Luther Burbank, who is one of the strongest advocates for summer camps for children once said: A child who has not made friends with frogs, mud turtles, grasshoppers, woodchucks, butterflies, bees and is not familiar with acorns, hayfields, pine cones, rocks, running brooks, wild strawberries, has been deprived of his natural heritage."

Registrations for camp will begin Monday, June 24.

Ferriday

Miss Gladys Laule of Shreveport, Mrs. Gus Lemle of New Orleans and Miss Sophie Lemle of Natchez were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goudchaux.

Dance Revues Delight Large Audiences Here

Programs Of Pupils Of Misses Roan And Armadine Renaud Are Outstanding Events Of Past Week

Two dance revues were presented last week featuring Monroe's most beautiful and most talented children. Clarice and Goldah Roan presented their pupils in revue Tuesday night at the Ouachita Parish school auditorium and Armandine Renaud presented her pupils in revue Thursday night at the Neville auditorium.

Beauty, artistic talent and beautiful costuming were the outstanding feature of the Roan revue, presented before an enthusiastic audience that filled to capacity the generous proportions of the auditorium.

The most spectacular setting of the evening was "Hawaiian Reminiscence." The costumes were most fantastic. Hula skirts fashioned of strips of black cellophane with yellow satin bodices and bright red hibiscus worn in the hair. The highlight of this skit was the "Waikiki Swing" featuring Evelyn Tatum in white Hawaiian costume.

The grand finale brought the entire class together in a night club scene with J. N. Chapman in formal evening attire acting as master of ceremonies.

The scenes were exceptionally elaborate, climaxing in the "Fantasy of the Fans" featuring a Japanese fan dance, figurines of the fan, acrobatic fan dance, Milady's Fan and Chorus of the Fans. Miss Louise Smelser's singing of "Beautiful Lady" added a triumphant note to this particular scene.

Every form of dancing was introduced by pupils appearing in the revue. The acrobatic form of dancing, taught by Irene Quinn Renaud, was skillfully portrayed by Miss Renaud and Martha Hopson in one of the most ambitious numbers on the evening's program.

Armandine Renaud, who excells in the ballet, gave a wonderful exhibition of her skill in a specialty number enjoyed to the fullest by the audience.

Talented danseuses are appreciated by audiences and enthusiastically applauded but the babies who appear in recitals are a joy to behold. They tap their feet, swing on their toes and strut before the footlights oblivious of the vast audience.

Parents who provide costumes for their children appearing in these annual revues are to be congratulated for the beauty of material selected and for so closely following the designs provided by Miss Renaud. The costuming this year was worthy of the professional stage.

Dance Revues Delight Large Audiences Here

Programs Of Pupils Of Misses Roan And Armadine Renaud Are Outstanding Events Of Past Week

Two dance revues were presented last week featuring Monroe's most beautiful and most talented children. Clarice and Goldah Roan presented their pupils in revue Tuesday night at the Ouachita Parish school auditorium and Armandine Renaud presented her pupils in revue Thursday night at the Neville auditorium.

Beauty, artistry, talent and beautiful costuming were the outstanding feature of the Roan revue, presented before an enthusiastic audience that filled to capacity the generous proportions of the auditorium.

The most spectacular setting of the evening was "Hawaiian Reminiscences." The costumes were most fantastic—"hula" skirts fashioned of strips of black cellephane with yellow satin bodices and bright red hibiscus worn in the hair. The highlight of this skit was the "Waikiki Swing" featuring Evelyn Tatum in white Hawaiian costume.

The grand finale brought the entire class together in a night club scene with J. N. Chapman in formal evening attire, acting as master of ceremonies.

All the forms of dancing as taught in the Roan school of dancing were featured in this scene with tap, ballet and acrobatic outstanding.

This year's revue was presented in professional manner, with beauty of costuming a distinct feature.

Pupils of the Renaud school of dance were presented in one of the most ambitious dance revues in the history of the school.

The scenes were exceptionally elaborate, climaxing in the "Fantasy of the Fans" featuring a Japanese fan dance, figurines of the fan, acrobatic fan dance, Milady's Fan and Chorus of the Fans. Miss Louise Smelser's singing of "Beautiful Lady" added a triumphant note to this particular scene.

Every form of dancing was introduced by pupils appearing in the revue. The acrobatic form of dancing, taught by Irene Quinn Renaud, was skilfully portrayed by Miss Renaud and Martha Hopson in one of the most ambitious numbers on the evening's program.

Armandine Renaud, who excells in the ballet, gave a wonderful exhibition of her skill in a specialty number enjoyed to the fullest by the audience.

Talented danseuses are appreciated by audiences and enthusiastically applauded but the babies who appear in recitals are a joy to behold. They tap their feet, swing on their toes and strut before the footlights oblivious of the vast audience.

Parents who provide costumes for their children appearing in these annual revues are to be congratulated for the beauty of material selected and for so closely following the designs provided by Miss Renaud. The costuming this year was worthy of the professional stage.

And when that Gail Patrick grasps husband Cary Grant to restrain him from following Irene Dunne (his other wife! Yes, that' the situation and basis of this sparkling martial comedy, "My Favorite Wife," in which Irene, presumably lost in an African exploration, returns after a seven-year absence on the day that Cary weds Gail. Randolph Scott is also merrily involved as a scientist with who Irene spent that period on a desert island. It opens Thursday for a three day run at the Paramount

Eddie Cantor and Baby Quintanilla [illegible] of "Forty Little Mothers" plays Wednesday only at the Paramount theater. On the stage at 8:30 p.m. the Paramount will present a bathing beach revue.

TECH ENROLLMENT SURPASSES MARK

RUSTON, La., June 8.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech passed the 1,000 mark in summer session student enrollment for the first time, with 1,007 being enrolled at the close of the registration period Saturday, the registrar's office reported.

Last summer the Tech enrollment was 981. The current number is almost half the enrollment of the college in the regular semesters the past year.

TECH PILOT TRAINING ATTRACTING STUDENTS

RUSTON, La., June 8.—(Special)—Students will be accepted in the pilot training classes at Louisiana Tech until June 15, it was announced by Roy T. Sessums, engineering instructor, who is director of the aviation instruction at the college here.

Sessums said the registrations for the course had gained since announcement that the Civil Aeronautics authority had relieved the students of paying the $40 fee, which is now being paid by the government. The only cost to Tech students is $5.25, the regular summer session enrollment assessment.

Jack Benny Heads Fine Cast In Hit

Phil Harris, Rochester And All The Radio Gang Are In Film

YOU want to take certain precautions when you go to see Jack Benny in his newest comedy, "Buck Benny Rides Again," now playing at the Paramount theater. We recommend an extra strong belt or girdle, to guard against side-splitting; and your oldest dress or suit of clothes, against rolling in the aisles. For Benny's newest picture for Paramount is also undoubtedly his funniest, and if you can contain your mirth when Jack mounts a horse and rides the herd, then you are a tougher audience than this reviewer.

We further defy you not to howl with laughter when Rochester does his inimitable imitation of Fred Astaire. And you'll be dancing the Shuffle Off to Rochester-er-Buffalo in the aisles, unless you have iron-bound will power.

All of which is by way of saying that Jack Benny and his radio troupe against a horse-opera background have the time of their lives, and so will you. This picture is absolutely tops in production and value, with plenty of good music and dancing.

We are tempted to say that it is worth the price of admission to watch Jack Benny on his first attempt to ride a horse or twirl a lariat, since no one can register frustration quite as well as Jack.

The story of "Buck Benny Rides Again" starts with Jack and his colleagues at a broadcasting station. The shift to the wild west begins when Jack tries to impress his girl friend in the picture (played by Ellen Drew) with the notion that he owns a ranch in Nevada. Ellen takes him up on it, with the result that Jack has to be extricated from his difficulty by Andy Devine, who actually owns a ranch.

Thereafter, the scene is the range, where Jack goes through the motion of twirling a lasso, branding steers, and riding the herd—for none of which his past as a Waukegan cowboy had fitted him. By bribing the hands to let him maul them about, he builds up a reputation before his girl as a tough hombre, but complications ensue, as the fellow says, when he runs up against a gang of real bandits. How he extricates himself, with the critical assistance of Rochester, Phil Harris, Andy Devine, and other loyal members of his company, forms the denouement or something. Anyway, it all is swell fun.

The song hits, left to the expert hands of the Frank Loesser-James McHugh team of songwriters, are tuneful and easy to remember. You'll be whistling "My, My" and "It's My Kind o' Country" for a long time to come.

We take off our hats, in fact, to anyone who had a hand in the picture. Ellen Drew is elegant as the feminine lead; with Virginia Dale and Lillian Cornell lending added enchantment. And a bouquet to Mark Sandrich who directed.

Richard Dix, Gale Patrick in a scene from "Reno," a drama of a man's heart caught in the "divorce mill" he constructed for others, playing Wednesday only at the Capitol theater.

Her personal grants for construction of playgrounds have been estimated at more than $100,000.

'Cisco Kid And Lady' At Capitol

Cesar Romero Plays Lead In Another Story Of Western Bad Lands

O. HENRY'S smiling desperado of the old southwest, the Cisco Kid, finds new adventure in Arizona and deadly danger in a beautiful senorita's eyes, as he returns to the screen in "The Cisco Kid and the Lady." This 20th Century-Fox picture opens today at the Capitol theater, with plenty of excitment, thrills, laughter and romance making it a rare screen treat.

Handsome Cesar Romero is the new Cisco and a more daring, romantic figure never roamed the western bad lands. Featured in the cast are Marjorie Weaver, Chris-Pin Martin, Robert Barrat, George Montgomery, Virginia Field and Harry Green. Herbert I. Leeds directed.

In the screen play by Frances Hyland, based on the original story by Stanley Rauh, the Arizona stagecoach is robbed, a gold mine is plundered and bad men die right and left of pistol poisoning—all of which puts the Cisco Kid in the mood for love!

The success of Cisco's romantic escapades is indicated in his boast: "She almost get me shot, she turn me over to the sheriff, she try to get me hang! Caramba, how the lady love me!"

Cisco's desire to bestow heaven and earth upon the current light of his life plunges him into the series of exciting adventures that make "The Cisco Kid and the Lady" a highlight of Blacktown's coming film fare. He meets Marjorie Weaver quite by accident in a stagecoach he holds up and never can forget her—until a short time later when he meets Virginia Field, an entertainer in a western tavern. Having two loves is a situation that doesn't faze him a bit. As Cisco himself might say, "To rob a bank or hold up a stagecoach is play for a child. But to make love to two senoritas—that is work for a man."

Previewers have hailed Romero's performance as the lovable outlaw as his best to date and one perfectly in keeping with the tradition surrounding the character.

Tarzan
by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
BITTER REWARD
BUT THE COWARDLY PRINCE CALLED TO TARZAN: "SAVE HER! SAVE HER--- AND WIN YOUR FREEDOM."
WHEN LEECIA FELL INTO THE SEA, JAGURT TREMBLED. AS HER BETROTHED IT WAS HIS DUTY TO ATTEMPT HER RESCUE.
TARZAN NEEDED NO PROMISE OF REWARD. LEECIA WAS HIS FRIEND. ALREADY HE WAS DIVING INTO THE STORM-LASHED WATERS.
Copr. 1940, Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc.—Tm. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Produced by Famous Books and Plays; Distributed by UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE, Inc.
A MONSTROUS DEMON-FISH WAS CHARGING THE STRUGGLING GIRL.
THE APE-MAN HAD TIME ONLY TO CLUTCH HER AND JERK HER FROM THE PATH OF THE BARBED SPEAR.
AS THE MOMENTUM OF THE MONSTER CARRIED IT PAST, TARZAN TOOK THE EXHAUSTED GIRL IN TOW.
AGAIN THE SEA-BEAST CHARGED. "HOLD YOUR BREATH!" TARZAN SHOUTED, THEN DIVED DEEP TO OUTMANEUVER THE FISH.
AT LAST HE BROUGHT LEECIA SAFELY TO THE BARGE. IN HER SHINING EYES WAS SOMETHING MORE THAN GRATITUDE. JAGURT SCOWLED.
THE STORM ABATED, THE BARGE RESUMED ITS VOYAGE AND CAME TO A STRANGE AND MAGNIFICENT CITY BY THE SEA.
IN THE DISTANCE A MIGHTY VOLCANO, GRIM AND FOREBODING, CAST A FROWN OF SMOKE ACROSS THE HEAVENS.
HOGARTH—
LEECIA SMILED UP AT TARZAN. "I'M GLAD YOU'VE WON YOUR FREEDOM," SHE SAID WARMLY.

EGAD, MY FRIEND, THE FISHING REALLY IS VERY DULL HERE!—I WISH YOU COULD HAVE DROPPED A LINE WITH ME IN BUSTLATCH BAY—AH! THERE WAS REAL FISHING!
NEVER HEARD OF IT!
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
WHAT A THRILL IT WAS TO REEL IN THE RARE PIE-EYED PERCH!—WE USED BOTTLE BEER FOR BAIT!
I CAUGHT A FISH SO LARGE IT COULD NOT BE MOVED, SO A NATIVE BUILT A FISH-MARKET AROUND IT, PROSPERED AND EVENTUALLY RETIRED!
ONCE I CAPTURED A CLIPPER-CARP, A GIANT OF A FELLOW WHO TOWED OUR BOAT ALONG 120 MILES AN HOUR THROUGH TREACHEROUS RAPIDS EVER CATCH A BALONEY BASS? A VERY ODD FISH, PAL—THE MORE YOU SLICE IT THE BIGGER IT GETS!
WHY— SPUTT-TT! PREPOSTEROUS!
WELL, I HEARD SOME OLD GAFFER NAMED HOOPLE WHO HANGS AROUND THESE DOCKS CAUGHT ONE ONCE!

HEY, UP THERE! COME ON DOWN... THE WATER'S FINE -- IT'S ONLY HIP-DEEP!
HOORAY! WE SURE MUST BE LIVIN' RIGHT, DOC, BECAUSE OUR LUCK STILL HOLDS!
DOGGONE IT! WITH FREEDOM IN SIGHT, COMES DAWN!
OUR ONLY HOPE IS TO FIND COVER BEFORE THOSE HARD-BOILED DAMES SPOT US!
WELL, WE'VE MADE IT INTO THE HILLS-- QUESTION IS, WERE WE SEEN?
THEY'LL GO OVER THIS TERRITORY WITH A FINE-TOOTHED COMB!
WE'D BETTER SPLIT UP TO MAKE IT TOUGH ON 'EM ... AND THEN, IF ALL GOES WELL, WE'LL MEET HERE AFTER SUNDOWN FOLLOWED A NERVE-WRACKING DAY....
WELL, HERE I AM AT THE MEETING-PLACE... BUT NOW WHERE ARE ALLEY OOP AND DR. BRONSON?
DOCTOR BRONSON! OH, THANK HEAVENS YOU MADE IT ALL RIGHT!
YES, BUT IT WAS NIP AND TUCK FOR A WHILE... SEVERAL PARTIES OF AMAZONS PASSED WITHIN INCHES OF MY HIDING PLACE
UT WHERE'S OOP? D YOU SUPPOSE EY GOT HIM?
I DON'T KNOW... I HEARD SOME SORT OF A COMMOTION JUST ABOUT SUNSET... BUT I COULDN'T SEE WHAT IT WAS ALL ABOUT
STILL, IF HE HASN'T BEEN RE-CAPTURED HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN HERE BEFORE NOW
THAT'S RIGHT, BUT SOMEHOW I CAN'T BELIEVE OOP HAS BEEN CAUGHT...
PSSST!! HEY, YOU! C'MON, LET'S GIT GOIN'!
WHY, ALLEY... WHAT ON EARTH....?
HORSES! WELL, BLESS YOUR SOUL, OOP-- HOW ON EARTH DID YOU PROMOTE THEM?

OUR BOARDING HOUSE MAJOR HOOPLE

EGAD, MY FRIEND, THE FISHING REALLY IS VERY DULL HERE! — I WISH YOU COULD HAVE DROPPED A LINE WITH ME IN BUSTLATCH BAY — AH! THERE WAS REAL FISHING!
NEVER HEARD OF IT!
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
WHAT A THRILL IT WAS TO REEL IN THE RARE PIE-EYED PERCH! — WE USED BOTTLE BEER FOR BAIT!
I AM THE ONLY MAN WHO EVER CAPTURED THE BALD TROPICAL BASS! I DEVISED A SPECIAL TACKLE WHICH TICKLED HIM UNDER THE CHIN!
I CAUGHT A FISH SO LARGE IT COULD NOT BE MOVED, SO A NATIVE BUILT A FISH-MARKET AROUND T, PROSPERED AND EVENTUALLY RETIRED!
ONCE I CAPTURED A CLIPPER-CARP, A GIANT OF A FELLOW, WHO TOWED OUR BOAT ALONG 250 MILES AN HOUR THROUGH TREACHEROUS RAPIDS!
EVER CATCH A BALONEY BASS? A VERY ODD FISH, PA — THE MORE YOU SLICE IT THE BIGGER IT GETS!
WHY — SPUTT-TT!! PREPOSTEROUS!

EARLY MORNING
I'LL BAIT YOUR HOOK, SWEE'PEA — REMEMBER, YOU USE ANGLE-WORMS AND I USE MINNOWS. EVERYBODY IS RACING TO SEE WHO HAS THE BEST LUCK
GLOP
I YAM BAITIN' WIT' SPINACH, A FISH THAT EATS SPINACH OUGHTA PUT UP A SWELL FIGHT
WHAT YA USIN', WIMPY?
I COME FROM A LONG LINE OF FISHERFOLK, POPEYE. IN DUE TIME YOU SHALL LEARN ABOUT MY BAIT
HEAVENS! SWEE'PEA HAS ONE ALREADY! HE'S AHEAD
ERF ERF
OH, GOODY! NOW I HAVE ONE. I'M EVEN WITH SWEE'PEA. THE ANGLE-WORM AND MINNOW BAITS ARE WINNING!
DON'T BE TOO SURE OF 'AT, OLIVE. SUMPIN'S GOT AHOLT OF ME SPINACH BAIT
ONE FOR YOU, ONE FOR ME AND ONE FOR SWEE'PEA. WE'LL CATCH A TUBFUL IF THIS KEEPS UP
IT LOOKS LIKE WIMPY'S LUCK IS EXTER BAD. HE AIN'T CAUGHT ANY YET
NOON
YER LOSIN', WIMPY, THE FISHES BITES MINNERS, WORMS AN' SPINACH AS FAS' AS THEY KIN — WHAT YA USIN', HAMBURGER MEAT?
PLEASE, LET US REFRAIN FROM DISCUSSING THE MATTER AT THE MOMENT
WIMPY, EVERYBODY IS CATCHING FISH EXCEPT YOU, THERE'S SOMETHING WRONG WITH YOUR BAIT
THAT IS ENTIRELY A MATTER OF OPINION
LATE AFTERNOON
POPEYE, MY ARMS ARE TIRED FROM YANKING OUT FISH, YOU AND SWEE'PEA AND I CAUGHT EXACTLY THE SAME, LET'S CALL IT OFF AND GO HOME
OKAY, WE'RE ALL TIRED ESCEPTIN' WIMPY. HE AIN'T CATCHED ENNYTHIN, B'CAUSE OF HIS NO-GOOD BAIT, BUT WE'LL GIVE HIM SOME OF OUR FISH, ACCOUNT'A HE DID HIS BEST
AHOY, WIMPY, YA KIN HAVE THIS STRING OF FISH IF YA'LL TELL ME WHATCHA BEEN USIN' FOR BAIT
VERY WELL, MY FRIEND, I HAVE USED NO BAIT
WHAT! YA BEEN SITTIN' HERE ALL DAY WIT'OUT BAIT ON YER HOOK?
